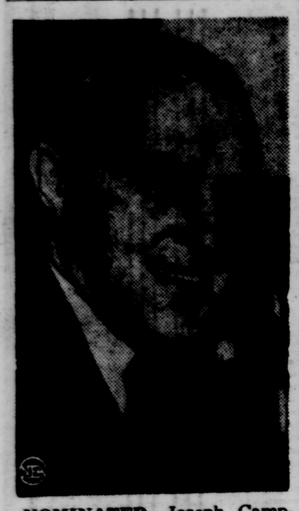
Veterans Day To Honor All U.S. Warriors

Change Is Made From Armistice Day, Covering Nine Conflicts of Nation

In tribute to its living and dead of nine wars, the United States pauses Thursday to observe its first Veterans Day, and Kingston is among the nation's communities with dedicatory programs.

More than anything else, the change in name from Armistice Day is a sign of the times, broadening the emphasis to include veterans of all of the conflicts instead of those who fought or died in the cause of peace during this generation.



NOMINATED—Joseph Campbell smiles in Washington, D.C., after the White House announcement that President Eisenhower had nominated him for the post of Comptroller-General of the United States. (NEA Telephoto).

Armistice Day originated to observe the ceasing of hostilities on November 11, 1918, ending World War 1.

REP. REES (R.-Kan.) is the father of Veterans Day as a legal holiday, having pushed legislation through Congress, signed by President Eisenhower June 1, for which he is to receive a medal tomorrow from the Birmingham, Ala., Veterans Day committee.

All Federal, and county offices will close tomorrow, also city schools, post offices and banks.

Veterans Day will be ushered in Kingston Post 150, American Legion with memorial services at its 36th annual ball in the municipal auditorium tonight, and Joyce-Schirick Post 1386, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will hold ceremonies on lawn of its post home, 552 Delaware avenue tomorrow at 11 a. m. with taps by H. Phillips Eighmey, a den chief of Cub Pack 19 sponsored by the VFW.

OBSERVANCE of first Veterans Day here calls attention to two agencies which have worked to assist the living veteran assume his place in civilian life, and to ease the burden on the widows and children of those who gave their lives for their country in war.

One of the agencies is a federal creation, the United States Veterans Agency, with its contact office at 286 Fair street. The other is a county agency, created under state law and operating with state aid. This is the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency with its main office at 32 Main street, Kingston, and branches at Ellenville, Saugerties and Highland.

TOGETHER, these agencies have performed a multitude of

Flag Display Asked in City

Post 150, American Legion, has asked for a display of flags tomorrow in honor of Veterans Day, it was announced today by Sherwood Davis, chairman of the Americanism committee of the local post.

"The national holiday has been justifiably changed from Armistice Day to Veterans Day as now the veterans of our wars are honored for their service and duty under the flag of freedom and the democratic way of life," Davis said.

"Let us, the citizens of Kingston, show our pride in our glorious past and heritage and the confidence in the future of our great principles by proudly displaying our flag in front of our home and business."

President Says Reds Are Calmer

Refuses Criticism Of Ambassador

Washington, Nov. 10 (AP)—President Eisenhower said today that there are cloudy features about the shooting down of an American RB29 photo plane in the area of northern Japan last Sunday.

The President said the American plane had a right to be where it was, and this country is aggrieved.

BUT HE DISCUSSED the affair in much softer words than Secretary of State Dulles had used yesterday. The President said that the Soviets have taken an attitude in the matter which seems to be more conciliatory than in past instances of attack on U. S. aircraft.

Dulles yesterday had accused the Soviet government of "falsehood" in claiming the American plane had violated Russian airspace and in contending that the U. S. craft opened fire on Soviet fighters.

Asked at his news conference about Dulles' report that American officials are considering orders for fighter protection for U. S. aircraft flying close to the Russians, the President said it is his feeling that when planes go into risky areas they ought to be craft fitted for that purpose and shouldn't be just sitting ducks.

THE PRESIDENT gave a measure of support to U. S. Ambassador Charles Bohlen, who has been under fire from some members of Congress for attending an official dinner in Moscaw after word of the plane attack came out.

He said he is not going to sit this far away from Moscow and conclude that Bohlen was wrong.

He said this country has a good group of foreign officers and that they always try to act with good judgment.

Eisenhower said the latest air attack case, in which one American airman lost his life, was not clear cut.

Asked to explain that, he said it occurred over a group of islands near the Kuriles, and that Russia claims those islands.

HE ADDED that the United States does not recognize that claim. He said he supposes the Russians are going on the theory

Alfred Bruns Gets County Position

Alfred Bruns of 49 Josephine avenue was appointed supervisor of the machine tabulation department of the county at a meeting of the board of supervisors held Tuesday evening. Bruns has been employed by IBM and will have charge of the new IBM machine department of the county. The salary is $5,200 per year.

New IBM machines will be installed in the basement of the court house and will be used for various operations in county departments, including the making out of tax bill etc., which have been made out under contract with IBM for two years. The machines will also be used for various other county accounting operations.

THE NAME OF BRUNS was presented by Supervisor McHugh. The name of William Stevens of Lloyd was presented by Supervisor Gaffney who moved to make the selection of Bruns unanimous when Stevens polled but two votes on the roll calls.

The sum of $45,000 was made available for furnishing the County Infirmary on Flatbush avenue which will open about November 21. On motion of Supervisor McHugh that sum was authorized to be secured through borrowing on notes, the notes to be paid off in two years in equal amounts.

Attention of the board was called to the lack of filing space at the surrogate's office. Surrogate Sterley in a communication reported inadequate filing space and need for action in providing additional space in that office as well as in the county clerk's office. The matter was referred to the committee on county clerk and surrogate.

A REPORT on mortgage tax was received and the sum of $90,938.08 will be apportioned among the towns, villages and city.

The sum of $398.28 in unpaid sewer tax in the town of Lloyd district was authorized assessed against the properties in the district on which the unpaid tax was due.

Supervisor Joseph J. Turck of the fourth ward presented a resolution calling for the issuance of a card to grand and trial jurors which would allow them to park free in the parking grounds at the court house. Turck said these persons were performing a public duty and should be extended the use of the parking grounds without being molested by parking tickets while serving on jury duty. Supervisor Gaffney seconded the motion.

Supervisor Martin of the 12th ward offered an amendment to the resolution of Turck on the grounds the Turck resolution had not been presented in writing for consideration at the caucus and members of the board had not had an opportunity to discuss the matter and "intelligently" vote on it. He said the rule was for presenting resolutions prior to the session so that they might be discussed. Martin moved to table the resolution until the next meeting and Su-

City Has Long-Range Plan for Lighting

CHANCE FOR KINGSTONIANS TO HELP SANTA—General Mark W. Clark, USA, retired, national chairman of CARE-Armed Forces matching program, is appealing to Kingstonians for $145 to help the Army play Santa Claus in Korea at Christmas. This scene of a greeting last year demonstrates that the return of St. Nick is eagerly awaited. Donations may be sent to Gen. Clark in care of CARE, Inc., 660 First avenue, New York 16, New York.

Council Is Told About New 'Guide'

Election Training Also Is Discussed

Common Council action last night bid for election board support of a proposal to compel training for election inspectors, and discussion by the aldermen revealed that a plan to raise salaries of city employes is under discussion.

Discussion also revealed that the city's long-range street lighting plan prepared through cooperation of the General Electric Co., and hte Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp., has been mapped.

Edwin T. Strong, district manager of Central Hudson said today that the plan is intended to serve as "a guide" for an overall development plan of the city's street lighting system. It is aimed at ending previous "hit-and-miss" development and opens the way for the making of lighting changes along modern lines.

THE CITY MAY develop the lighting plan gradually as it sees fit, Strong said.

Alderman - at - Large Joseph Kelly reminded the aldermen of the plan, after the reading of resolutions asking for new lights or light changes. City Clerk Bernhardt S. Kramer noted that a report and maps had been submitted to the mayor on the plan, and First Ward Alderman Benjamin Storms described the plan as "really all right."

Storms said the light plan followed a trip of Mayor Frederick H. Stang and other city officials several months ago to inspect a similar lighting plan at Lynn, Mass. Copies of the local plan, he said, will be available to all aldermen.

The council voted to seek election board approval of compulsory training for election inspectors, after Third Ward Alderman Edwin Radel had submitted a resolution with the proposal, and asked for a vote.

City Clerk Kramer noted that such election workers are now asked to attend a course of instruction held by the custodian under the election law but Radel suggested that the council consider requesting the election board to make it compulsory for inspectors to attend so that all may be familiar with operations of the machines.

THE ALDERMAN likened some efforts, after the closing of polls, to "football huddles." He also referred to the need for knowing all regulations governing elections and recalled that in the last election, in several places, returns were "surrendered" to policemen out of uniform. This, he held, should not have been done until after final verification. Even the governor, he said, without a court order, is not supposed to touch the returns.

It was revealed after the reading of a letter from the Ulster County Chapter, Civil Service Employes Association asking a general pay boost of $300 a year, that the mayor has already been considering salary increases so that a decision may be reached before the 1955 budget is made.

THE CIVIL SERVICE group's letter, signed by the association's president, Leon Studt, noted that "we, the employes of the Board of Public Works, are requesting that you give consideration for an increase of $300 a year. This request would include all other departments coming within your jurisdiction. As you know, living costs have been constantly raising, and the bonus of $50 which we are receiving is not sufficient to cope with the rising costs."

The letter said: "We also ask that you give consideration to a longevity program in regards to vacations, which would give employes an extra day, for anyone employed after 10 years, for each year thereafter with a maximum of 15 days."

A resolution by Alderman

Houk Says He 'Urged' Confession

Mayor Relates Sheppard Refused

Cleveland, Nov. 10 (AP)—The mayor of Bay Village disclosed today he once urged Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, his close friend, to confess he murdered his wife "if by any chance" he did it.

Sheppard refused, he said, declaring he "couldn't have done it."

Mayor J. Spencer Houk made this statement on the witness stand before a jury trying the osteopath for the bludgeon murder of his wife, Marilyn. Sheppard claims a bushy haired burglar killed Marilyn.

Houk was recounting how the handsome osteopath dropped in to his city hall office on July 21, the day before an inquest into Marilyn's death started.

THE MAYOR testified:

"Sam came into the office and sat down. Actually, I started the conversation. I asked him if he had ever had a better friend than I was," said Houk. "He said, 'no, did anybody ever question it?' and I said no.

"I appealed to him, 'Sam, if by any chance you did this, come out and say so. I figured if it was done by you, it was done in bitter rage.' I appealed to him on the basis his entire family and all his friends were being involved.

"Sam replied he couldn't have done it, and he hadn't done it, and shortly thereafter got up to leave."

HOUK ALSO TOLD of another visit to his city hall office by Sheppard and his osteopath brother, Dr. Stephen Sheppard, just 10 days after Marilyn was found murdered in her bed July 4.

This time, he said, Steve and Sam discussed with him a psychiatrist's theory that a crazy man—a schizophrenic — may have killed Marilyn.

This theory was that the demented person had put her "on a pedestal as a goddess" and

Police Seize Man In Auto Case; Is Held Grand Jury

An attempted escape by a young man in an alleged stolen car drew police gunfire before they caught up with him early today on TenBroeck avenue.

The chase had started from Downs street near Broadway and continued to a point near the TenBroeck avenue railroad crossing before William David Raible, 21, of 83 TenBroeck avenue, was stopped and arrested on a grand larceny charge.

Raible waived examination and was held for the grand jury when he appeared before Justice of the Peace Francis E. Palen, Jr., of Port Ewen.

Course May Be Used as Cemetery

A bid of $88,100 for a parcel of 100 acres of the old Wiltwyck golf course on Route 209 has been submitted by a group of seven local business and professional men, The Freeman learned today.

It was reported unofficially that the plot, the second part of the course to be offered for sale, might be developed as a cemetery.

Public Hearing Set on Pollution

A report of studies of water pollution in the Lower Esopus creek drainage basin between 1949 and 1951 has been issued by the water pollution control board of the New York State Department of Health.

A public hearing at the city hall will be held December 16 to consider the proposals for official classification and assignment of standards of quality and purity to the waters of the basin.

Copies of the report, which forms the basis for the hearing, have been distributed to the chairmen of the boards of supervisors of Greene and Ulster counties, supervisors of the towns of Catskill, Hunter, Hurley, Kingston, Marbletown, Olive, Saugerties, Ulster and Woodstock, the mayor of Kingston and the mayor of Saugerties. The waters included in the survey either border upon or flow through these counties, towns, city of Kingston and village of Saugerties.

THE STUDY, which covers approximately 177 square miles in Ulster and Greene counties between the Hudson river and Ashokan Reservoir, indicates a low coliform density just below the reservoir and a "very high coliform density count" at Saugerties.

The report attributed the density at Saugerties to "wastes from a paper coating plant, a tissue paper plant and sewage plant effluent." These factors resulted also in an increase in BOD (biochemical oxygen demand) and a marked reduction of DO (dissolved oxygen) to 4.2 ppm (parts per million) or 50 per cent of saturation."

THE CREEK, described as "mainly a slow-flowing stream," had low coliform density just below the reservoir and a low BOD value and its DO content was 90 per cent of saturation.

Downstream in the vicinity of Kingston, "pollution from various private discharges and sanitary sewage from the storm sewer of the City of Kingston caused an increase in both coliform density and BOD with a slight drop in the DO content."

The stream continued along its downstream path with approximately the same water quality until the Cantine dam, Saugerties. A slight recovery was found at the mouth of Esopus creek with DO content 63 per cent of saturation.

"A high coliform count in the Plattekill Creek was found in the vicinity of the hamlet of Fish Creek. This was attributed to the septic tank or raw sewage discharges from individual homes. These waters were of

Seizure Kills Capt. Geary

Captain William J. Geary, 62, of 30 Staples street, a 40-year-old veteran of service with the Kingston Paid Fire Department, was fatally stricken with a heart attack about 10:45 a. m. today shortly after entering his car on upper Broadway.

Coroner Francis J. McCardle, who was summoned, issued a verdict of coronary occlusion.

McCardle said Captain Geary had previously made a purchase at the H. F. King Corp., 721 Broadway, and had reached his car when he was stricken.

Also summoned to the scene were Dr. Jack Lehner and a Kingston Hospital ambulance.

CAPTAIN GEARY, who had been a member of the paid fire department since 1914, was born in Kingston March 19, 1892, the son of the late Patrick and Johanna Regan Geary. He had resided in this city his entire life.

He formerly attended Public School 4 and Union Free Academy.

THE VETERAN firemanic official is survived by three sisters, Miss Mary A. Geary, Mrs. Julia E. Kane and Mrs. John Garavan; two nieces, Miss Cornelia Kane and Miss Margaret Garavan, all of Kingston and a nephew, Quartermaster Second Class William Garavan, stationed at Norfolk, Va., with the navy. Captain Geary also was a brother of the late Dennis J. Geary.

Clark Asks Residents Match Gift

Seeks CARE Aid In Sum of $145

General Mark W. Clark, national chairman of CARE-Armed Forces Matching Program, has made an appeal to the citizens of Kingston and Ulster county through The Freeman to help our servicemen in Korea with their Christmas projectes.

"On the basis of past experience," General Clark said, American servicemen now in Korea from your area will contribute in the next two months, chiefly for orphanages and other children's institutions, about $145.

"Will your community match this?

"WILL YOU HELP CARE raise this sum? Will you help us fulfill our pledge to your sons in Korea to double their Christmas giving, and add your donations to theirs as a joint gift to orphanages and other war victims?"

The Freeman in reprinting this appeal from the famous general, asks that contributions be

Boy, 16, Dies Of Wound

Monroe, Nov. 10 (AP) — Richard Walter, 16, was fatally injured by the discharge of a .22 calibre rifle last night while he and a friend were trying to eject a stuck cartridge from it.

Walter was with Roger Miller, also 16, in the cellar of the Miller home in this Orange county town.

The bullet struck the Walter boy in the abdomen. He died while being taken to Tuxedo Hospital.

Recanvass Boosts Harriman's Lead To 12,062 Votes; 37 Counties Left

New York, Nov. 10 (AP)—Recanvassing has raised Democrat-Liberal Averell Harriman's unofficial lead for governor to 12,062 votes—his widest margin since right after the Nov. 2 election.

A net gain of 259 votes yesterday gave Harriman the new plurality over Republican Sen. Irving M. Ives.

With 37 of the state's 62 counties still to be recanvassed, the statewide totals today stood at 2,558,149 for Harriman and 2,546,087 for Ives.

These totals were based on official figures in the recanvassed counties and on election inspectors' reports in the others.

Immediately after the election, Harriman had an unofficial lead of 9,657 and at one point during the recanvassing it dropped to a low of 8,405.

Recanvass figures from nine upstate counties yesterday gave Harriman 764 votes and Ives 505 more.

Recanvassing in New York city, where Harriman got most of his votes, started yesterday. The recanvass of the city's five counties is expected to take a week or 10 days.

Lawyers for the Democratic and Republican parties in the city and state argued for two hours yesterday before state Supreme Court Justice Irving L. Levey on the issue of who is entitled to possession of original registration and voting records.

Levey attempted to work out an amicable settlement, but the argument got so hot at one point that he asked: "Is this a private fight or can any one get in?"

Despite the wrangling, each side kept saying it did not challenge the integrity or good intentions of the other.

The upshot—only tentative—was that Levey ordered that the status quo be maintained until today on the transfer of any more records from the Board of Elections to State Atty. Gen. Nathaniel L. Goldstein, a Republican.

Levey said arrangements

Mahoney Charge Brings Statement by Harriman

New York, Nov. 10 (AP)—Governor-elect Averell Harriman says he wants to "make it perfectly plain that I'm not playing politics with the issues that affect the state."

He won't go to Albany with a chip on his shoulder, he adds, and he intends to keep partisan politics out of the new administration "insofar as possible."

The "chip on the shoulder" issue regarding Harriman was raised Monday by Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney, of Buffalo. Mahoney said Harriman might go to Albany with that attitude. The GOP senator quoted the governor-elect as saying in a television interview Sunday that he was prepared to "go over the heads" of Republican legislators, if necessary to put through his program.

Harriman, who held a news conference yesterday after talking with Democratic legislative and party leaders, said:

"We are quite satisfied we will get the cooperation of all men of good will — Republican or Democratic. We are not going to play politics with our program."

The Democratic-Liberal party winner of the Nov. 2 election told the newsmen that he will "make no deals" with the Republican-controlled Legislature.

Saying the Democratic program is "for all the people of

Democrats See No Tax Cuts Likely to Be Given in '55

Washington, Nov. 10 (AP)—Key Democrats who led a futile fight earlier this year for a big individual income tax cut held out little hope today for any substantial taxpayer relief in 1955, even though the Democratic party will control Congress.

They indicated a less favorable budget situation may postpone a new individual income tax cut until 1956, or at best permit a smaller cut than they advocated in the past congressional session.

All 10 holdover Democrats on the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee were polled for their views on a possible income tax cut next year.

Of the nine who replied, five voiced doubts about the prospects for such a cut, three declined to make any forecast and only Rep. Dingell (D.-Mich) said the outlook was bright. Dingell on Monday announced he will introduce a bill early in the new Congress to boost individual exemptions for each taxpayer and dependent by $100. The present exemption is $600.

When the Democrats tried unsuccessfully to tack a similar provision to a big tax revision bill earlier this year, all 10 Ways and Means Committee Democrats supported the move. If enacted, it would have slashed government revenue about $2,300,000,000 a year. It also would have relieved about seven

City Clerk Kramer noted that such election workers are now asked to attend a course of instruction held by the custodian under the election law but Radel suggested that the council consider requesting the election board to make it compulsory for inspectors to attend so that all may be familiar with operations of the machines.

THE ALDERMAN likened some efforts, after the closing of polls, to "football huddles." He also referred to the need for knowing all regulations governing elections and recalled that in the last election, in several places, returns were "surrendered" to policemen out of uniform. This, he held, should not have been done until after final verification. Even the governor, he said, without a court order, is not supposed to touch the returns.

It was revealed after the reading of a letter from the Ulster County Chapter, Civil Service Employes Association asking a general pay boost of $300 a year, that the mayor has already been considering salary increases so that a decision may be reached before the 1955 budget is made.

THE CIVIL SERVICE group's letter, signed by the association's president, Leon Studt, noted that "we, the employes of the Board of Public Works, are requesting that you give consideration for an increase of $300 a year. This request would include all other departments coming within your jurisdiction. As you know, living costs have been constantly raising, and the bonus of $50 which we are receiving is not sufficient to cope with the rising costs."

The letter said: "We also ask that you give consideration to a longevity program in regards to vacations, which would give employes an extra day, for anyone employed after 10 years, for each year thereafter with a maximum of 15 days."

Houk Says He 'Urged' Confession

Mayor Relates Sheppard Refused

Cleveland, Nov. 10 (AP)—The mayor of Bay Village disclosed today he once urged Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, his close friend, to confess he murdered his wife "if by any chance" he did it.

Sheppard refused, he said, declaring he "couldn't have done it."

Mayor J. Spencer Houk made this statement on the witness stand before a jury trying the osteopath for the bludgeon murder of his wife, Marilyn. Sheppard claims a bushy haired burglar killed Marilyn.

Houk was recounting how the handsome osteopath dropped in to his city hall office on July 21, the day before an inquest into Marilyn's death started.

THE MAYOR testified:

"Sam came into the office and sat down. Actually, I started the conversation. I asked him if he had ever had a better friend than I was," said Houk. "He said, 'no, did anybody ever question it?' and I said no.

"I appealed to him, 'Sam, if by any chance you did this, come out and say so. I figured if it was done by you, it was done in bitter rage.' I appealed to him on the basis his entire family and all his friends were being involved.

"Sam replied he couldn't have done it, and he hadn't done it, and shortly thereafter got up to leave."

HOUK ALSO TOLD of another visit to his city hall office by Sheppard and his osteopath brother, Dr. Stephen Sheppard, just 10 days after Marilyn was found murdered in her bed July 4.

This time, he said, Steve and Sam discussed with him a psychiatrist's theory that a crazy man—a schizophrenic — may have killed Marilyn.

This theory was that the demented person had put her "on a pedestal as a goddess" and

Police Seize Man In Auto Case; Is Held Grand Jury

An attempted escape by a young man in an alleged stolen car drew police gunfire before they caught up with him early today on TenBroeck avenue.

The chase had started from Downs street near Broadway and continued to a point near the TenBroeck avenue railroad crossing before William David Raible, 21, of 83 TenBroeck avenue, was stopped and arrested on a grand larceny charge.

Raible waived examination and was held for the grand jury when he appeared before Justice of the Peace Francis E. Palen, Jr., of Port Ewen.

Course May Be Used as Cemetery

A bid of $88,100 for a parcel of 100 acres of the old Wiltwyck golf course on Route 209 has been submitted by a group of seven local business and professional men, The Freeman learned today.

It was reported unofficially that the plot, the second part of the course to be offered for sale, might be developed as a cemetery.

Public Hearing Set on Pollution

A report of studies of water pollution in the Lower Esopus creek drainage basin between 1949 and 1951 has been issued by the water pollution control board of the New York State Department of Health.

A public hearing at the city hall will be held December 16 to consider the proposals for official classification and assignment of standards of quality and purity to the waters of the basin.

Copies of the report, which forms the basis for the hearing, have been distributed to the chairmen of the boards of supervisors of Greene and Ulster counties, supervisors of the towns of Catskill, Hunter, Hurley, Kingston, Marbletown, Olive, Saugerties, Ulster and Woodstock, the mayor of Kingston and the mayor of Saugerties. The waters included in the survey either border upon or flow through these counties, towns, city of Kingston and village of Saugerties.

THE STUDY, which covers approximately 177 square miles in Ulster and Greene counties between the Hudson river and Ashokan Reservoir, indicates a low coliform density just below the reservoir and a "very high coliform density count" at Saugerties.

The report attributed the density at Saugerties to "wastes from a paper coating plant, a tissue paper plant and sewage plant effluent." These factors resulted also in an increase in BOD (biochemical oxygen demand) and a marked reduction of DO (dissolved oxygen) to 4.2 ppm (parts per million) or 50 per cent of saturation."

THE CREEK, described as "mainly a slow-flowing stream," had low coliform density just below the reservoir and a low BOD value and its DO content was 90 per cent of saturation.

Downstream in the vicinity of Kingston, "pollution from various private discharges and sanitary sewage from the storm sewer of the City of Kingston caused an increase in both coliform density and BOD with a slight drop in the DO content."

The stream continued along its downstream path with approximately the same water quality until the Cantine dam, Saugerties. A slight recovery was found at the mouth of Esopus creek with DO content 63 per cent of saturation.

"A high coliform count in the Plattekill Creek was found in the vicinity of the hamlet of Fish Creek. This was attributed to the septic tank or raw sewage discharges from individual homes. These waters were of

Seizure Kills Capt. Geary

Captain William J. Geary, 62, of 30 Staples street, a 40-year-old veteran of service with the Kingston Paid Fire Department, was fatally stricken with a heart attack about 10:45 a. m. today shortly after entering his car on upper Broadway.

Coroner Francis J. McCardle, who was summoned, issued a verdict of coronary occlusion.

McCardle said Captain Geary had previously made a purchase at the H. F. King Corp., 721 Broadway, and had reached his car when he was stricken.

Also summoned to the scene were Dr. Jack Lehner and a Kingston Hospital ambulance.

CAPTAIN GEARY, who had been a member of the paid fire department since 1914, was born in Kingston March 19, 1892, the son of the late Patrick and Johanna Regan Geary. He had resided in this city his entire life.

He formerly attended Public School 4 and Union Free Academy.

THE VETERAN firemanic official is survived by three sisters, Miss Mary A. Geary, Mrs. Julia E. Kane and Mrs. John Garavan; two nieces, Miss Cornelia Kane and Miss Margaret Garavan, all of Kingston and a nephew, Quartermaster Second Class William Garavan, stationed at Norfolk, Va., with the navy. Captain Geary also was a brother of the late Dennis J. Geary.

Captain Geary, who had

Seeks CARE Aid In Sum of $145

General Mark W. Clark, national chairman of CARE-Armed Forces Matching Program, has made an appeal to the citizens of Kingston and Ulster county through The Freeman to help our servicemen in Korea with their Christmas projectes.

"On the basis of past experience," General Clark said, American servicemen now in Korea from your area will contribute in the next two months, chiefly for orphanages and other children's institutions, about $145.

"Will your community match this?

"WILL YOU HELP CARE raise this sum? Will you help us fulfill our pledge to your sons in Korea to double their Christmas giving, and add your donations to theirs as a joint gift to orphanages and other war victims?"

The Freeman in reprinting this appeal from the famous general, asks that contributions be

Boy, 16, Dies Of Wound

Monroe, Nov. 10 (AP) — Richard Walter, 16, was fatally injured by the discharge of a .22 calibre rifle last night while he and a friend were trying to eject a stuck cartridge from it.

Walter was with Roger Miller, also 16, in the cellar of the Miller home in this Orange county town.

The bullet struck the Walter boy in the abdomen. He died while being taken to Tuxedo Hospital.

Recanvass Boosts Harriman's Lead To 12,062 Votes; 37 Counties Left

New York, Nov. 10 (AP)—Recanvassing has raised Democrat-Liberal Averell Harriman's unofficial lead for governor to 12,062 votes—his widest margin since right after the Nov. 2 election.

A net gain of 259 votes yesterday gave Harriman the new plurality over Republican Sen. Irving M. Ives.

With 37 of the state's 62 counties still to be recanvassed, the statewide totals today stood at 2,558,149 for Harriman and 2,546,087 for Ives.

These totals were based on official figures in the recanvassed counties and on election inspectors' reports in the others.

Immediately after the election, Harriman had an unofficial lead of 9,657 and at one point during the recanvassing it dropped to a low of 8,405.

Recanvass figures from nine upstate counties yesterday gave Harriman 764 votes and Ives 505 more.

Recanvassing in New York city, where Harriman got most of his votes, started yesterday. The recanvass of the city's five counties is expected to take a week or 10 days.

Lawyers for the Democratic and Republican parties in the city and state argued for two hours yesterday before state Supreme Court Justice Irving L. Levey on the issue of who is entitled to possession of original registration and voting records.

Levey attempted to work out an amicable settlement, but the argument got so hot at one point that he asked: "Is this a private fight or can any one get in?"

Despite the wrangling, each side kept saying it did not challenge the integrity or good intentions of the other.

The upshot—only tentative—was that Levey ordered that the status quo be maintained until today on the transfer of any more records from the Board of Elections to State Atty. Gen. Nathaniel L. Goldstein, a Republican.

Levey said arrangements

Mahoney Charge Brings Statement by Harriman

New York, Nov. 10 (AP)—Governor-elect Averell Harriman says he wants to "make it perfectly plain that I'm no playing politics with the issues that affect the state."

He won't go to Albany with a chip on his shoulder, he adds, and he intends to keep partisan politics out of the new administration "insofar as possible."

The "chip on the shoulder" issue regarding Harriman was raised Monday by Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney, of Buffalo. Mahoney said Harriman might go to Albany with that attitude. The GOP senator quoted the governor-elect as saying in a television interview Sunday that he was prepared to "go over the heads" of Republican legislators, if necessary to put through his program.

Harriman, who held a news conference yesterday after talking with Democratic legislative and party leaders, said:

"We are quite satisfied we will get the cooperation of all men of good will — Republican or Democratic. We are not going to play politics with our program."

The Democratic-Liberal party winner of the Nov. 2 election told the newsmen that he will "make no deals" with the Republican-controlled Legislature.

Saying the Democratic program is "for all the people of

Democrats See No Tax Cuts Likely to Be Given in '55

Washington, Nov. 10 (AP)—Key Democrats who led a futile fight earlier this year for a big individual income tax cut held out little hope today for any substantial taxpayer relief in 1955, even though the Democratic party will control Congress.

They indicated a less favorable budget situation may postpone a new individual income tax cut until 1956, or at best permit a smaller cut than they advocated in the past congressional session.

All 10 holdover Democrats on the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee were polled for their views on a possible income tax cut next year.

Of the nine who replied, five voiced doubts about the prospects for such a cut, three declined to make any forecast and only Rep. Dingell (D.-Mich) said the outlook was bright. Dingell on Monday announced he will introduce a bill early in the new Congress to boost individual exemptions for each taxpayer and dependent by $100. The present exemption is $600.

When the Democrats tried unsuccessfully to tack a similar provision to a big tax revision bill earlier this year, all 10 Ways and Means Committee Democrats supported the move. If enacted, it would have slashed government revenue about $2,300,000,000 a year. It also would have relieved about seven

Philippines Land Reform

Manila (AP)—The Filipino tenant farmer has been handed what proponents call the most progressive land reform to be passed anywhere in Asia to meet the age-old hunger for land. The new law grants increased management rights to tenants and a better security of tenure. A tenant now can be evicted only by court action. All doubts are to be resolved in favor of the tenant. Land tenure reform supplements the land for the landless program. Resettlement projects have been undertaken for landless on the big southern island of Mindanao. But many tenants on populous Luzon do not want to move south.

News in Color: See Vivid Turquoise, Pepper Red, Watercress Green, Violet, Paprika Coral, Ginger Brown.

WHAT IS LAMORA?
Catalina's own blend of 80% finest Australian zephyr wool and 20% imported wool from the Angora goat. These sweaters are knitted on fine gauge machines and have the softest downy texture. See these beauties!

WHAT IS WOOL ZEPHYR?
It's the softest quality wool of the sheep because it's the long staple, extra soft! The finest quality zephyr comes from Australia because of the ideal climatic conditions. Very soft feel to the hand. Come see them.

WHAT IS JACQUARD?
A jacquard is a knitted-in pattern usually in contrast color. Jacquard machines are not plentiful and Catalina's are second to none in the world! Come see them. Polka dots, tyrolean and flower designs.

MORE ABOUT C-O-L-O-R!
A sub-headline near the top of this advertisement tells you about the new brilliant colors but we have all the great favorites—pastels of pink, light blue, canary, navy, charcoal, black, white and white with color.

FASHION IN N-E-C-K-L-I-N-E-S
Catalina has 14 different types of necklines! Will they stretch out of shape? NO—the round necklines are shaped with a folded ribbon band inlaid with lastex to prevent stretching. Catalina means fashion quality!

BELGIMERE
by Catalina

Belgimere is the amazing new sweater that has everything—full fashioning... luxuriously soft finish... gorgeous colors... beautiful fit. Belgimere launders like a dream, holds its shape and is permanently mothproofed.

You'd think Belgimere would be fantastically expensive. But no! Catalina has produced near-cashmere (with 100% pure imported lamb's wool) for an amazingly low price. Come in and see.

ILLUSTRATED:
Belgimere classic short-sleeve slip-on $7.95
Belgimere classic long-sleeve cardigan $10.95
SIZES: 34-40

WHAT IS ORLON?
Catalina uses only the super quality of this most wanted miracle yarn. Made of coal, limestone, petroleum, water, air and natural gases. More porous than nylon, has warmer feel in the hand. Luxurious texture of cashmere.

WHAT IS BELGIMERE?
It's baby Merino lamb's wool, the softest and silkiest of all wools. Grown in Australia, spun and dyed with old world craftsmanship in Belgium. Has cashmere-like finish, luxurious to the touch. They're beautiful!

ARE THEY WASHABLE?
Most Catalina sweaters are washable if extreme care is used. The label in the sweater tells you when the sweater must be dry cleaned only. Prolong the life of your Catalina! Use luke warm water, never hot water.

Small Details Are Important
All Catalina knit fabrics are pre-washed before cutting! Ribbon facings and buttons on cardigans are perfectly matched to color of sweater. Vat-dyed thread is used for sewing the sweater. Inside of sweaters are cleanly finished, all seams are covered in matching thread.

TRUE SIZE IN CATALINA
They conform perfectly with every measurement of the U. S. government. In most cases the size worn in a blouse determines the correct sweater size. Catalina's reputation comes from 40 years in making sweaters!

MATCH OUR MEN

Wherever he is sent, the American serviceman abroad shows a sympathy and generosity that do America proud. He digs into his rations and his pocket to help the needy around him, especially the children whose pinched faces tug at his heart.

In Korea this outpouring of kindness reached a peak last Christmas when men of the U. S. Eighth Army alone contributed half a million dollars out of their own paychecks to help Korean orphans and destitute families.

This year, in appreciation of the goodwill our servicemen are thus creating for America, CARE has pledged itself—and the American public—to match, dollar for dollar, the holiday donations of all U. S. military units in Korea. General Mark Clark is chairman of the "matching appeal." General Maxwell D. Taylor, Eighth Army Commanding General, has endorsed the plan. But the real "brass" of this program are our GIs and other men in uniform who are passing the hat, from Seoul to Pusan, for their gifts to the Korean people.

Will you match them? Your dollars will provide CARE packages of food, clothing, plows and other rehabilitation supplies for the same Korean institutions and families the servicemen are helping, as joint gifts from the American public and the American Armed Forces. Let's make our uniformed men as proud of the folks at home as we are of them—Send your contribution today to: "Matching Program," CARE, 660 First Avenue, New York 16, N. Y., or any local CARE office.

RED FOR YELLOW

The yellow stop sign may be on its way out. The National Joint Committee on Uniform Traffic recommends its replacement by a red sign with reflected white lettering.

Red is traditionally the danger signal, and on the highways hardly any risk can be greater than failure to stop at a busy intersection. Yellow is a less compelling color, which traffic lights often use to indicate caution, not a halt. Yellow and orange can be seen farther away, however, which is doubtless the reason for their use as stop signals.

Further improvements can be made in traffic signals and signs. A motorist who stays out of the country for the next 20 years will probably, on his return to circulation, have considerable to learn about road warnings.

Sooner or later, people always borrowing from their friends may find them broke, too.

CHANGE IN GERMANY

The Berlin City Council has just dismissed Deputy Mayor Walter Conrad for refusing a store license to a Jewish chemist and then lying about it. Less than 10 years ago this would never have happened.

A decade ago Germany was still in the grip of Hitler and the Nazis, whose warcry was "Down With the Jews!" Everyone is familiar with the horrible cruelty with which they carried out this policy and the ruthlessness with which they exterminated millions of Jews.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and his government have publicly denounced these atrocities, and admitted that they left a black mark on the German record which cannot easily be erased.

CREATOR OF JIGGS

Not many comic strip characters have become universal bywords. Two who have acquired this fame are Jiggs and Maggie, whose creator, George McManus, has just died.

Maggie's rollingpin and her domination of her husband; Jiggs' love of corned beef and cabbage; his predilection for Dinty's restaurant; and the ingenuity with which he sneaks out when his wife has commanded him to stay in, have all become as familiar as the actions of our nextdoor neighbors. Everybody has read "Bringing Up Father." Lowell Thomas says that he found a character nicknamed Jiggs in Tibet.

A strip like "Bringing Up Father" stands out among its fellows. Presumably a successor will be found to carry it on. He will have his work cut out for him to equal George McManus.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE CENTER OF THE WORLD

Usually when Westerners think of Asia, their minds dwell on the periphery of the Pacific and Indian Oceans, upon those areas which lie on the seacoast or which are close enough to have engaged in foreign trade—that is, trade with the Western countries.

Such a province of China as Sinkiang is too distant, too unknown to attract much attention. Yet in it lie such historically important cities as as Kashgar, Khotan, Turfan, Hami, Yarkand, cities famous in the trade routes when goods mover overland from Antioch in Syria, even before Rome was an Empire, eastward until they reached the palaces of the Chinese emperors.

Sinkiang is bounded on the South by Tibet, on the East by other Chinese provinces, on the North by Mongolia, the Kazakh Republic of Soviet Russia and by Siberia, on the West by the Kazakh Republic, Kashmir, and Afghanistan. Pakistan and India are not far away. The Russian Turk-Sib Railroad, with its terminus at Alma-Ata, runs along the Western border of Sinkiang, connecting with the Trans-Siberian Railroad at Novo-Sibirsk, while another railroad line runs to Omsk, and a new one is being built into Sinkiang.

In this general area lie many of the new industries of Soviet Russia, particularly the war industries. The Russians have been at work in this area for centuries, actually seizing and holding Ili in 1871. Since the Republic of China, during the wars of the Tuchuns (warlords) in the 1920's, the Russians made tremendous progress in Sinkiang, particularly among the anti-Chinese Moslems and Tungans. It needs to be pointed out that few Chinese live in this area—by Chinese is meant sons of Han — the population being composed largely of various Turkoman tribes and other central Asian peoples. As the same kinds of races live on both sides of the Sino-Russian border, accustomed to trade with each other and to commune on joint affairs, the Russians had no difficulties.

As early as 1930, when the Turk-Sib Railroad was completed, Russia had established a monopoly of the trade of Sinkiang, which included oil, gold, hides, skins, livestock, etc. By the 1940's, Sinkiang had come completely under the domination of Soviet Russia and was no longer really a part of China. Soviet advisers held key positions in its government, while instructions from the Chinese capital were ignored. Li Chang, writing in "Foreign Affairs," says:

"The right-wing Nationalists in the administration and in the army were purged. Spies and agents supplied a highly organized system of intelligence: liquidations and strange disappearances became the order of the day. Sinkiang became a police state on the Soviet model. The postmaster at Urumchi gave the following advice to Sven Hedin: 'Never talk to anybody; let the others talk, listen, but appear indifferent; believe nobody —they are all liars, spies, informers and traitors. Any one may disappear at any time, and it is best not to ask where he has gone.'"

Today we know little of what goes on in Sinkiang, except that the Russian and Chinese world is now one and interchangeable. It is possible to guess, however, more from the course of events than from any available facts, that Sinkiang, with its great mineral wealth, is being integrated into the Soviet defensive system in this interior and almost inaccessible region.

Those who speak of the independence—current or probable—of Red China from Soviet Russia rarely look at the map. Siberia, Mongolia and Sinkiang (Chinese Turkestan) lie on top of China, from which not only Russia but more importantly what would seem to the rest of the world as Chinese troops could march upon Mao Tze-tung and slaughter him. It could be called a liberation movement, although those who would appear to be Chinese seeking liberation are not Chinese at all. They might be Mongols or Tungans or Moslems or Kazakhi or members of a hundred tribes and races.

It was out of this area that the Seljuk Turks, the Hsiung-Nu (Huns), the Ephthalies, the Magyars (Hungarians) and possibly the Scythians invaded and conquered parts of Europe. But the vestigial peoples all look like Chinese. At my own first marriage in Shanghai, one of the witnesses was a so-called Chinese Jew from Khotan, bearded after a Chinese fashion and looking, to Western eyes, like a Chinese. The Russians take advantage of such appearances in their various liberation movements.

THE CAMPAIGN AGAINST RHEUMATISM

It is well known that once its interest is aroused, the public gives generous support to help provide treatment for such diseases as infantile paralysis and tuberculosis. For example, more than $15,000,000 is collected annually for each of these two diseases but for the one ailment which outranks all others as a cause of chronic illness—rheumatism—there is very little support. I have no doubt that once the general population realizes how great is the need, there will be more response.

In every country surveyed the same findings have been made:

(a) Rheumatic diseases outranked all others as a cause of chronic illness, (b) rheumatic diseases annually involve each country in great expense, and (c) adequate facilities for the care of most rheumatic patients are nonexistent.

In the United States, as elsewhere, the total army of rheumatic victims is relatively neglected. Compare their prospects with that of others, for example, the tuberculous: for our 680,000 tuberculosus patients there are available about 100,000 free beds and $100,000,000 for care and research. But for our 6,850,000 rheumatic patients there are available only about 200 free beds and $200,000 for care and research. Thus the tuberculous patient, happily thereby a "vanishing race," receives far more attention than the nonvanishing rheumatic. Physicians concerned with rheumatic diseases only want more financial support for these patients, no less for others.

The same situation prevails elsewhere. In England and Wales before the last war there were 30,000 beds for tuberculous patients, only 1,000 for rheumatics. Yet "rheumatism" costs the people of England and Wales over 25,000,000 pounds sterling annually and constitutes "the greatest single enemy of social well being and economic efficiency in Great Britain."

From Scotland the Medical Advisory Committee reported that rheumatism, especially the muscular type, constituted a "major health problem in Scottish industrial life" and caused more days of incapacity than any other group of diseases. In Sweden where most workers are insured, rheumatic cripples become pensionable and are doing so at the rate of 5,000 each year.

It is encouraging that more physicians are devoting much or all their time of "rheumatology" but for full success in the campaign against rheumatism, the public must support these physicians.

That's When the Honeymoon Will Be Over

Edson's Washington News Notebook

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA)—A new, concerted effort on the part of the Eisenhower administration to take the federal government out of competition with private industry in as many fields as possible is now being put together in the Bureau of the Budget.

Within a week or two a new Budget Bureau bulletin on this subject will issued to all government departments and agencies. It will probably have full cabinet approval. It will direct all government officials to make a new survey of private-business-type operations now being conducted under their supervision. Even those activities which are now authorized by public law and supported by congressionally approved appropriations will be included.

The bulletin will further order all government heads to submit recommendations on how their private-business-type operations may be eliminated. Such recommendations may include sale of government facilities to private industry, substituion of private contract for the services now performed by the government business operations which cannot be proved essential.

COMPARATIVE COSTS OF having these operations continued by the government or having them performed under private contract will be asked for. On the basis of these comparisons, the fate of many existing government activities will then be decided.

If carried to extremes, this new crackdown could mean the end of many government programs and the abolition of many government jobs. Whether it would lead to any appreciable cuts in government expenses is not known. For today there is no complete inventory of government business-type operations, their cost and what it would cost to have the same services performed under private contract for a profit.

In a sense, practically everything the government does could be done by private business on contract. This includes heating, air conditioning and performing janitor services in government buildings. It includes carrying the mail, printing money and stamps, collecting taxes, running the FBI with private detectives or hiring private law firms to write the laws or try the government's cases in court.

Some place there has to be a dividing line to separate essential government services like fighting its wars from those services which could be done just as well or better by private enterprise. This line has never been drawn. That's why, in the past, there has been so much loose talk and uninformed criticism of government competition with private enterprise.

EXTREMISTS BELIEVE that every government service should be performed by a private business, even if it costs the taxpayers more to do it that way. To have the government perform any services for itself or for the people is criticized as leading to socialism.

The Eisenhower administration's determination to rid the government of as many business activities as possible stems from several separate movements.

Decentralization of the federal government and its removal from competition with private industry were stated as principles of the Republican platform.

FOUR BILLS WERE INTRODUCED in the last Congress to survey and control government business and industrial-type operations. One passed the House but died in the Senate.

The last Congress passed a law to liquidate Reconstruction Finance Corporation. Inland Waterways Corporation was sold and the government's synthetic rubber plants in the process of being sold. But there are still 75 government corporations in business, some of which compete with or do business private industry won't do. Once there were 101 such government corporations.

In his report to the nation on the accomplishments of the 83rd Congress, President Eisenhower stuck in a paragraph about getting the government out of competition with private business. He also referred to it in his Hollywood Bowl and McNary Dam speeches. This has been the tip-off that the administration will go all-out to make extensive changes in government business operations during the coming year.

Disorderly Procedure as Regards Rules Noted in Watkins Committee Activity

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Nov. 10—Maybe the Senate of the United States is interested in orderly procedure and maybe it is not—but when a committee which has nothing to do with a subject, such as changes in the Senate rules, undertakes to report out directly to the Senate a resolution that belongs in another committee in the first instance, it may be asked whether this isn't disorderly procedure.

For many months now the Senate Rules Committee has been holding hearings and listening to testimony on the subject of Congressional investigations and how witnesses shall be handled. Now, in the middle of that task, the Watkins Committee handling the McCarthy case has come forth with a resolution to change in certain respects the rules on committee work, but no hearings have been held on that particular proposal. This disregards entirely the work of the Rules Committee itself thus far —before it has made its own report.

The same Watkins Committee, moreover, has come forth with a separate resolution charging Senator McCarthy with refusal to cooperate with a Senate Committee whose invitation to testify in 1952—before his present term began—he did not accept. The exact phrasing of the resolution is that the Wisconsin Senator was engaged thereby in "obstructing the constitutional process of the Senate.

If it's a subject for censure when a senator refuses to accept an invitation of a Senate Committee, then at least one other senator has been guilty of the same conduct at the present session of Congress, but no proposal to censure him has been offered.

Also, if "obstructing the constitutional process of the Senate" is really to be a basis for censure hereafter—it never has been before —then obviously the Senate must re-examine the filibuster which engaged the attention of the Senate and obstructed the "legislative process for nearly three weeks last summer. It will be surprising if any Senators will allow themselves to be placed in the embarrassing position of being willing to censure only a senator who fights communism and refusing to censure any other senators guilty of a similar offense in declining to testify and in other alleged obstructions during a session of this very same Congress.

Many of the southerners who believe in the filibuster as a device to protect them may find, if the vote to approve "obstruction of the constitutional process of the Senate" as a censurable offense, that they may have lost the one means which they have always relied upon to prevent the passage of legislation thought to be hostile to the interests of the south. Everybody knows that a filibuster is not really debate on a pending issue but a deliberate means of preventing the majority from acting.

Another portion of the new resolution proposed by the Watkins committee seeks to place the Senate on record as saying that it "disavows the denunciation of General Zwicker by Senator McCarthy as chairman of a Senate subcommittee and censures him for that action."

This language is so broad that it could bring weeks and weeks of debate in the present session, because it will be necessary to try the whole Zwicker case over again. Senator McCarthy and his supporters in the Senate have been insisting that the Department of the Army gagged certain officers who were willing to tell the McCarthy committee the inside story of the Zwicker episode. There is no way now of keeping that story from being told on the floor of the Senate.

One version is that General Lawton, who was forbidden to testify, did tell some of the staff of the McCarthy committee of conversations he had had with General Zwicker at Camp Kilmer, New Jersey, to the effect that he (General Lawton) couldn't get the Pentagon to act expeditiously in getting rid of the Communist menace at Fort Monmouth, N. J., until Senator McCarthy came into the picture. Radar secrets of importance in the interception of enemy planes were handled there. General Zwicker is alleged to have expressed disdain for and a prejudice against the Wisconsin senator, which is believed to have had a bearing on the Zwicker attitude at the hearing.

It is difficult to see also how the incident involving the promotion of Major Peress, alleged to be a Communist, can fail to be aired, too, on the floor of the Senate. Also the Watkins resolution doesn't say what particular "denunciation" is condemned. It implies that the Senate intends to accept as its own the entire Zwicker testimony and conduct as approved when it is obvious that the general was at fault in several particulars. This correspondent has always stated that the Wisconsin senator was intemperate and, indeed, lost his temper but that the issue is what was the provocation.

The Watkins committee dropped other counts in the censure controversy because it deemed the "provocation" was such as to cause Senator McCarthy to say what he did about other senators. But in the coming debate it will be necessary to try all over again the whole question of what does or does not constitute "provocation." If the censure resolution is adopted, more censure resolutions will be proposed at this session to condemn the conduct of other senators who have said worse things to witnesses than the Wisconsin senator ever did. Such resolutions probably will be tabled. But the point will be made—that only a senator fighting communism is censured.

Several senators, recognizing all the implications, are trying to work out a "compromise" resolution which will call attention to intemperate statements but will praise the Wisconsin senator's objectives in the anti-Communist fight.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

A lady who recently sent me an old circular advertising C. J. Roosevelt's infallible boon for victims of consumption and the liver complaint, has written a sequel to this fragment of history. The relationship of C. J. Roosevelt to my late Leader I have not yet been able to establish. He lived in Albany and there, in a factory three stories high, hard by the lordly Hudson, concocted a brew of buchu and branchwater he claimed was comparable in miraculous powers to Lydia Pinkham's wonderful compound which, in the words of a beautiful song expressed that dear lady's "undying love for the human race." C. J. Roosevelt parceled out closed exclusive agencies around the country and my informant who found the circular, issued in 1854, now relates some interesting circumstances attending her discovery.

Her hobby is to acquire and pore over bundles of old magazines, catalogs and newspapers for quaint antiquities in advertising. One such, for example, in addition to the brochure for C. J. Roosevelt's lungwort, is an ad for Edison's polyform which reveals at this late date that the late Thomas Alva also dabbled in healing and produced a nostrum for certain aches which otherwise defied medical science.

An advertisement in "Puck" for Dec. 22, 1880, states that this wonder drug was "the result of a long series of experiments by the distinguished inventor, upon himself and others, to relieve the terrible suffering of rheumatic pains."

"Under his name and guarantee," the copy said, "it is offered with the assurance that it will relieve the excruciating pains of rheumatism, neuralgia, headaches. No higher testimony could be adduced than the certificate of Prof. Edison, who authorizes publication of the following:

"'Menlo Park, N. J.: I certify that the preparation known as Edison's polyform is made according to formula devised and used by myself. Thomas E. Edison.'"

Despairing sufferers were promised "certian relief" at $1 a bottle. C. J. Roosevelt set no price on his lungwort which was offered on a basis once expressed in the term "or what have you?"

The lady who rescued from oblivion both the Roosevelt and Edison items now suspects that a goodish amount of Roosevelt's lungwort was destroyed by inadvertence as recently as 1952 when an alderly spinster died in an old house in a quiet city in Dutch Pennsylvania. By permission of this ancient maidenlady our informant had inspected the attic of her home and found it "jammed with barrels, ragbags, farm machinery, featherbeds, guns, spinning wheels, old shoes, swords, bales of early newspapers, old bonnets, pots, pans, stoves, books, chests and trunks, which her grandfather had moved in from the farm to the city when he retired just after the Civil War. He never threw anything away and the womenfolk never house-cleaned above the second floor. The dust up there was indescribable."

As she was edging her way precariously through this labyrinth, another antiquarian who accompanied her caught his coat on a large basket and down it crashed, spilling a lot of old bottles.

"I have never in my life smelled such vile stuff," she relates. "So to hide the evidence, we dumped a bag of rags over it and shoved the whole mess under a stove. It smelled like mange cure mixed with German cologne.

"The old maid was deaf and hadn't heard the crash. We escaped downstairs, but the odor had preceded us and a large, brown stain was spreading over the ceiling of her bedroom. She was sniffing away and she said: 'That stuff smells like the tonic uncle doctor used to sell.' She did not see the patch which was spreading on the ceiling. I asked who uncle doctor was and she said he was the good-for-nothing husband of Ma's poor Aunt Kitty who had married Kitty for her money, spent it on the horses and then dragged her all over the east selling a patent medicine.

"Then she added: 'We used to have some of it around here, but I haven't smelled it for years. Grandma was afraid Uncle Doctor might poison us with it so I thought she threw it all away. Funny how I remember that smell. I wonder where it comes from!'"

The maiden lady's housekeeper suspected something dead in the attic and preferred not to inquire. The attic door was padlocked until a year later when the old woman died and agents of the heirs had occasion to explore for treasure.

"My phone rang," my informant continues, "it was the housekeeper: 'You just ought to come over here,' she said. 'Their heads are tied up They wanted me to come and help fetch down but I'm not going up there. They are awful mad about something and they have busted out the back window and are firing everything down in the yard. The neighbors are all out, looking. They must be going to burn Miss Ida's grandfather's old stuff.'

"Within a half hour, I smelled it, from three blocks away. There were feathers clinging to the branches of the trees. The smoke was awful. It was a pyre set off by old Uncle Doctor's medicine which exploded as the bottles hit the earth and set off rags, featherbeds and old boots. Neighbors called firemen. I went over and picked up that brochure about C. J. Roosevelt's wonderful lungwort."

Should I report this to Lt. Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, late head of the CIA, for security censorship? Will this help the cause of communism? These are decisions to try men's souls.

MATCH OUR MEN

Wherever he is sent, the American serviceman abroad shows a sympathy and generosity that do America proud. He digs into his rations and his pocket to help the needy around him, especially the children whose pinched faces tug at his heart.

In Korea this outpouring of kindness reached a peak last Christmas when men of the U. S. Eighth Army alone contributed half a million dollars out of their own paychecks to help Korean orphans and destitute families.

This year, in appreciation of the goodwill our servicemen are thus creating for America, CARE has pledged itself—and the American public—to match, dollar for dollar, the holiday donations of all U. S. military units in Korea. General Mark Clark is chairman of the "matching appeal." General Maxwell D. Taylor, Eighth Army Commanding General, has endorsed the plan. But the real "brass" of this program are our GIs and other men in uniform who are passing the hat, from Seoul to Pusan, for their gifts to the Korean people.

Will you match them? Your dollars will provide CARE packages of food, clothing, plows and other rehabilitation supplies for the same Korean institutions and families the servicemen are helping, as joint gifts from the American public and the American Armed Forces. Let's make our uniformed men as proud of the folks at home as we are of them—Send your contribution today to: "Matching Program," CARE, 660 First Avenue, New York 16, N. Y., or any local CARE office.

RED FOR YELLOW

The yellow stop sign may be on its way out. The National Joint Committee on Uniform Traffic recommends its replacement by a red sign with reflected white lettering.

Red is traditionally the danger signal, and on the highways hardly any risk can be greater than failure to stop at a busy intersection. Yellow is a less compelling color, which traffic lights often use to indicate caution, not a halt. Yellow and orange can be seen farther away, however, which is doubtless the reason for their use as stop signals.

Further improvements can be made in traffic signals and signs. A motorist who stays out of the country for the next 20 years will probably, on his return to circulation, have considerable to learn about road warnings.

Sooner or later, people always borrowing from their friends may find them broke, too.

CHANGE IN GERMANY

The Berlin City Council has just dismissed Deputy Mayor Walter Conrad for refusing a store license to a Jewish chemist and then lying about it. Less than 10 years ago this would never have happened.

A decade ago Germany was still in the grip of Hitler and the Nazis, whose warcry was "Down With the Jews!" Everyone is familiar with the horrible cruelty with which they carried out this policy and the ruthlessness with which they exterminated millions of Jews.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and his government have publicly denounced these atrocities, and admitted that they left a black mark on the German record which cannot easily be erased.

CREATOR OF JIGGS

Not many comic strip characters have become universal bywords. Two who have acquired this fame are Jiggs and Maggie, whose creator, George McManus, has just died.

Maggie's rollingpin and her domination of her husband; Jiggs' love of corned beef and cabbage; his predilection for Dinty's restaurant; and the ingenuity with which he sneaks out when his wife has commanded him to stay in, have all become as familiar as the actions of our nextdoor neighbors. Everybody has read "Bringing Up Father." Lowell Thomas says that he found a character nicknamed Jiggs in Tibet.

A strip like "Bringing Up Father" stands out among its fellows. Presumably a successor will be found to carry it on. He will have his work cut out for him to equal George McManus.

'These Days'

THE CENTER OF THE WORLD

Usually when Westerners think of Asia, their minds dwell on the periphery of the Pacific and Indian Oceans, upon those areas which lie on the seacoast or which are close enough to have engaged in foreign trade—that is, trade with the Western countries.

Such a province of China as Sinkiang is too distant, too unknown to attract much attention. Yet in it lie such historically important cities as as Kashgar, Khotan, Turfan, Hami, Yarkand, cities famous in the trade routes when goods mover overland from Antioch in Syria, even before Rome was an Empire, eastward until they reached the palaces of the Chinese emperors.

Sinkiang is bounded on the South by Tibet, on the East by other Chinese provinces, on the North by Mongolia, the Kazakh Republic of Soviet Russia and by Siberia, on the West by the Kazakh Republic, Kashmir, and Afghanistan. Pakistan and India are not far away. The Russian Turk-Sib Railroad, with its terminus at Alma-Ata, runs along the Western border of Sinkiang, connecting with the Trans-Siberian Railroad at Novo-Sibirsk, while another railroad line runs to Omsk, and a new one is being built into Sinkiang.

In this general area lie many of the new industries of Soviet Russia, particularly the war industries. The Russians have been at work in this area for centuries, actually seizing and holding Ili in 1871. Since the Republic of China, during the wars of the Tuchuns (warlords) in the 1920's, the Russians made tremendous progress in Sinkiang, particularly among the anti-Chinese Moslems and Tungans. It needs to be pointed out that few Chinese live in this area—by Chinese is meant sons of Han — the population being composed largely of various Turkoman tribes and other central Asian peoples. As the same kinds of races live on both sides of the Sino-Russian border, accustomed to trade with each other and to commune on joint affairs, the Russians had no difficulties.

As early as 1930, when the Turk-Sib Railroad was completed, Russia had established a monopoly of the trade of Sinkiang, which included oil, gold, hides, skins, livestock, etc. By the 1940's, Sinkiang had come completely under the domination of Soviet Russia and was no longer really a part of China. Soviet advisers held key positions in its government, while instructions from the Chinese capital were ignored. Li Chang, writing in "Foreign Affairs," says:

"The right-wing Nationalists in the administration and in the army were purged. Spies and agents supplied a highly organized system of intelligence: liquidations and strange disappearances became the order of the day. Sinkiang became a police state on the Soviet model. The postmaster at Urumchi gave the following advice to Sven Hedin: 'Never talk to anybody; let the others talk, listen, but appear indifferent; believe nobody —they are all liars, spies, informers and traitors. Any one may disappear at any time, and it is best not to ask where he has gone.'"

Today we know little of what goes on in Sinkiang, except that the Russian and Chinese world is now one and interchangeable. It is possible to guess, however, more from the course of events than from any available facts, that Sinkiang, with its great mineral wealth, is being integrated into the Soviet defensive system in this interior and almost inaccessible region.

Those who speak of the independence—current or probable—of Red China from Soviet Russia rarely look at the map. Siberia, Mongolia and Sinkiang (Chinese Turkestan) lie on top of China, from which not only Russia but more importantly what would seem to the rest of the world as Chinese troops could march upon Mao Tze-tung and slaughter him. It could be called a liberation movement, although those who would appear to be Chinese seeking liberation are not Chinese at all. They might be Mongols or Tungans or Moslems or Kazakhi or members of a hundred tribes and races.

It was out of this area that the Seljuk Turks, the Hsiung-Nu (Huns), the Ephthalies, the Magyars (Hungarians) and possibly the Scythians invaded and conquered parts of Europe. But the vestigial peoples all look like Chinese. At my own first marriage in Shanghai, one of the witnesses was a so-called Chinese Jew from Khotan, bearded after a Chinese fashion and looking, to Western eyes, like a Chinese. The Russians take advantage of such appearances in their various liberation movements.

THE CAMPAIGN AGAINST RHEUMATISM

It is well known that once its interest is aroused, the public gives generous support to help provide treatment for such diseases as infantile paralysis and tuberculosis. For example, more than $15,000,000 is collected annually for each of these two diseases but for the one ailment which outranks all others as a cause of chronic illness—rheumatism—there is very little support. I have no doubt that once the general population realizes how great is the need, there will be more response.

In every country surveyed the same findings have been made:

(a) Rheumatic diseases outranked all others as a cause of chronic illness, (b) rheumatic diseases annually involve each country in great expense, and (c) adequate facilities for the care of most rheumatic patients are nonexistent.

In the United States, as elsewhere, the total army of rheumatic victims is relatively neglected. Compare their prospects with that of others, for example, the tuberculous: for our 680,000 tuberculosus patients there are available about 100,000 free beds and $100,000,000 for care and research. But for our 6,850,000 rheumatic patients there are available only about 200 free beds and $200,000 for care and research. Thus the tuberculous patient, happily thereby a "vanishing race," receives far more attention than the nonvanishing rheumatic. Physicians concerned with rheumatic diseases only want more financial support for these patients, no less for others.

The same situation prevails elsewhere. In England and Wales before the last war there were 30,000 beds for tuberculous patients, only 1,000 for rheumatics. Yet "rheumatism" costs the people of England and Wales over 25,000,000 pounds sterling annually and constitutes "the greatest single enemy of social well being and economic efficiency in Great Britain."

From Scotland the Medical Advisory Committee reported that rheumatism, especially the muscular type, constituted a "major health problem in Scottish industrial life" and caused more days of incapacity than any other group of diseases. In Sweden where most workers are insured, rheumatic cripples become pensionable and are doing so at the rate of 5,000 each year.

It is encouraging that more physicians are devoting much or all their time of "rheumatology" but for full success in the campaign against rheumatism, the public must support these physicians.

Disorderly Procedure as Regards Rules Noted in Watkins Committee Activity

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Nov. 10—Maybe the Senate of the United States is interested in orderly procedure and maybe it is not—but when a committee which has nothing to do with a subject, such as changes in the Senate rules, undertakes to report out directly to the Senate a resolution that belongs in another committee in the first instance, it may be asked whether this isn't disorderly procedure.

For many months now the Senate Rules Committee has been holding hearings and listening to testimony on the subject of Congressional investigations and how witnesses shall be handled. Now, in the middle of that task, the Watkins Committee handling the McCarthy case has come forth with a resolution to change in certain respects the rules on committee work, but no hearings have been held on that particular proposal. This disregards entirely the work of the Rules Committee itself thus far —before it has made its own report.

The same Watkins Committee, moreover, has come forth with a separate resolution charging Senator McCarthy with refusal to cooperate with a Senate Committee whose invitation to testify in 1952—before his present term began—he did not accept. The exact phrasing of the resolution is that the Wisconsin Senator was engaged thereby in "obstructing the constitutional process of the Senate.

If it's a subject for censure when a senator refuses to accept an invitation of a Senate Committee, then at least one other senator has been guilty of the same conduct at the present session of Congress, but no proposal to censure him has been offered.

Also, if "obstructing the constitutional process of the Senate" is really to be a basis for censure hereafter—it never has been before —then obviously the Senate must re-examine the filibuster which engaged the attention of the Senate and obstructed the "legislative process for nearly three weeks last summer. It will be surprising if any Senators will allow themselves to be placed in the embarrassing position of being willing to censure only a senator who fights communism and refusing to censure any other senators guilty of a similar offense in declining to testify and in other alleged obstructions during a session of this very same Congress.

Many of the southerners who believe in the filibuster as a device to protect them may find, if the vote to approve "obstruction of the constitutional process of the Senate" as a censurable offense, that they may have lost the one means which they have always relied upon to prevent the passage of legislation thought to be hostile to the interests of the south. Everybody knows that a filibuster is not really debate on a pending issue but a deliberate means of preventing the majority from acting.

Another portion of the new resolution proposed by the Watkins committee seeks to place the Senate on record as saying that it "disavows the denunciation of General Zwicker by Senator McCarthy as chairman of a Senate subcommittee and censures him for that action."

This language is so broad that it could bring weeks and weeks of debate in the present session, because it will be necessary to try the whole Zwicker case over again. Senator McCarthy and his supporters in the Senate have been insisting that the Department of the Army gagged certain officers who were willing to tell the McCarthy committee the inside story of the Zwicker episode. There is no way now of keeping that story from being told on the floor of the Senate.

One version is that General Lawton, who was forbidden to testify, did tell some of the staff of the McCarthy committee of conversations he had had with General Zwicker at Camp Kilmer, New Jersey, to the effect that he (General Lawton) couldn't get the Pentagon to act expeditiously in getting rid of the Communist menace at Fort Monmouth, N. J., until Senator McCarthy came into the picture. Radar secrets of importance in the interception of enemy planes were handled there. General Zwicker is alleged to have expressed disdain for and a prejudice against the Wisconsin senator, which is believed to have had a bearing on the Zwicker attitude at the hearing.

It is difficult to see also how the incident involving the promotion of Major Peress, alleged to be a Communist, can fail to be aired, too, on the floor of the Senate. Also the Watkins resolution doesn't say what particular "denunciation" is condemned. It implies that the Senate intends to accept as its own the entire Zwicker testimony and conduct as approved when it is obvious that the general was at fault in several particulars. This correspondent has always stated that the Wisconsin senator was intemperate and, indeed, lost his temper but that the issue is what was the provocation.

The Watkins committee dropped other counts in the censure controversy because it deemed the "provocation" was such as to cause Senator McCarthy to say what he did about other senators. But in the coming debate it will be necessary to try all over again the whole question of what does or does not constitute "provocation." If the censure resolution is adopted, more censure resolutions will be proposed at this session to condemn the conduct of other senators who have said worse things to witnesses than the Wisconsin senator ever did. Such resolutions probably will be tabled. But the point will be made—that only a senator fighting communism is censured.

Several senators, recognizing all the implications, are trying to work out a "compromise" resolution which will call attention to intemperate statements but will praise the Wisconsin senator's objectives in the anti-Communist fight.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

A lady who recently sent me an old circular advertising C. J. Roosevelt's infallible boon for victims of consumption and the liver complaint, has written a sequel to this fragment of history. The relationship of C. J. Roosevelt to my late Leader I have not yet been able to establish. He lived in Albany and there, in a factory three stories high, hard by the lordly Hudson, concocted a brew of buchu and branchwater he claimed was comparable in miraculous powers to Lydia Pinkham's wonderful compound which, in the words of a beautiful song expressed that dear lady's "undying love for the human race." C. J. Roosevelt parceled out closed exclusive agencies around the country and my informant who found the circular, issued in 1854, now relates some interesting circumstances attending her discovery.

Her hobby is to acquire and pore over bundles of old magazines, catalogs and newspapers for quaint antiquities in advertising. One such, for example, in addition to the brochure for C. J. Roosevelt's lungwort, is an ad for Edison's polyform which reveals at this late date that the late Thomas Alva also dabbled in healing and produced a nostrum for certain aches which otherwise defied medical science.

An advertisement in "Puck" for Dec. 22, 1880, states that this wonder drug was "the result of a long series of experiments by the distinguished inventor, upon himself and others, to relieve the terrible suffering of rheumatic pains."

"Under his name and guarantee," the copy said, "it is offered with the assurance that it will relieve the excruciating pains of rheumatism, neuralgia, headaches. No higher testimony could be adduced than the certificate of Prof. Edison, who authorizes publication of the following:

"'Menlo Park, N. J.: I certify that the preparation known as Edison's polyform is made according to formula devised and used by myself. Thomas E. Edison.'"

Despairing sufferers were promised "certian relief" at $1 a bottle. C. J. Roosevelt set no price on his lungwort which was offered on a basis once expressed in the term "or what have you?"

The lady who rescued from oblivion both the Roosevelt and Edison items now suspects that a goodish amount of Roosevelt's lungwort was destroyed by inadvertence as recently as 1952 when an alderly spinster died in an old house in a quiet city in Dutch Pennsylvania. By permission of this ancient maidenlady our informant had inspected the attic of her home and found it "jammed with barrels, ragbags, farm machinery, featherbeds, guns, spinning wheels, old shoes, swords, bales of early newspapers, old bonnets, pots, pans, stoves, books, chests and trunks, which her grandfather had moved in from the farm to the city when he retired just after the Civil War. He never threw anything away and the womenfolk never house-cleaned above the second floor. The dust up there was indescribable."

As she was edging her way precariously through this labyrinth, another antiquarian who accompanied her caught his coat on a large basket and down it crashed, spilling a lot of old bottles.

"I have never in my life smelled such vile stuff," she relates. "So to hide the evidence, we dumped a bag of rags over it and shoved the whole mess under a stove. It smelled like mange cure mixed with German cologne.

"The old maid was deaf and hadn't heard the crash. We escaped downstairs, but the odor had preceded us and a large, brown stain was spreading over the ceiling of her bedroom. She was sniffing away and she said: 'That stuff smells like the tonic uncle doctor used to sell.' She did not see the patch which was spreading on the ceiling. I asked who uncle doctor was and she said he was the good-for-nothing husband of Ma's poor Aunt Kitty who had married Kitty for her money, spent it on the horses and then dragged her all over the east selling a patent medicine.

"Then she added: 'We used to have some of it around here, but I haven't smelled it for years. Grandma was afraid Uncle Doctor might poison us with it so I thought she threw it all away. Funny how I remember that smell. I wonder where it comes from!'"

The maiden lady's housekeeper suspected something dead in the attic and preferred not to inquire. The attic door was padlocked until a year later when the old woman died and agents of the heirs had occasion to explore for treasure.

"My phone rang," my informant continues, "it was the housekeeper: 'You just ought to come over here,' she said. 'Their heads are tied up They wanted me to come and help fetch down but I'm not going up there. They are awful mad about something and they have busted out the back window and are firing everything down in the yard. The neighbors are all out, looking. They must be going to burn Miss Ida's grandfather's old stuff.'

"Within a half hour, I smelled it, from three blocks away. There were feathers clinging to the branches of the trees. The smoke was awful. It was a pyre set off by old Uncle Doctor's medicine which exploded as the bottles hit the earth and set off rags, featherbeds and old boots. Neighbors called firemen. I went over and picked up that brochure about C. J. Roosevelt's wonderful lungwort."

Should I report this to Lt. Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, late head of the CIA, for security censorship? Will this help the cause of communism? These are decisions to try men's souls.

Gave Up, Are Sorry

Buffalo, Nov. 10 (AP)—Two policemen who leaped out of their radio car to chase two youngsters reported tampering with a parked automobile gave up when the boys vanished in an alley. The policemen returned to the radio car—to find it stolen. The car was recovered a few hours later—long before the officers recovered their composure. They said they believed the two suspects had darted out of the alley and driven the prowl car away.

Two men Sentenced To Hang in Slaying

Simcoe, Ont., Nov. 10 (AP)—Two U. S. men were sentenced to death last night for the axe murder of Bruce Beatty, 69-year-old filling station operator at nearby Renton.

Jerry Simmons, 47, of Syracuse, N. Y., and Joseph Glen Lotharp, 23, of Detroit, were condemned to be hanged Feb. 2, 1955, after a jury found them guilty of the slaying. Beatty's wife also died of injuries suffered in the attack last February.

A statement admitted as evidence Monday quoted Simmons as saying a fight broke out in the service station when he held up Beatty with a toy pistol. Simmons did not take the stand during his trial, nor were any witnesses called on his behalf.

Lotharp told the court yesterday he did not harm Beatty. No other witnesses were called in his defense.

In its verdict the jury made a strong recommendation of mercy for Lotharp. The judge said he would forward the recommenation to the proper authorities.

Drum Corps to Meet

All members of the Port Ewen Drum Corps are urged to attend a special meeting at the Town of Esopus Auditorium Thursday at 7:30 p. m.

Plan Announced For Service Men Christmas Time

A special program designed to provide Christmas gifts for servicemen who will be en route overseas on Christmas Day is now being developed by the local Red Cross chapter with the assistance of other community organizations, Mrs. William Merrill, chapter service groups chairman announced today.

The program, called Christmas on the High Seas, has been an annual Red Cross project for many years, Mrs. Merrill said. Through this project, appropriate gifts are placed aboard troop transports and other military conveyances for distribution on Christmas morning. After receiving a Christmas on the High Seas gift last year, one grateful serviceman wrote:

"Today was Christmas Day and it was a pretty lonely day for more than 3,000 of us soldiers on our way to Japan and points further west. The most important part about today was the receiving of Christmas packages from yourself and many other Red Cross chapters across the United States. We were overjoyed to receive them, as for myself, I cried. The games, cigarettes, tobacco, stationery and many other items too numerous to mention, are still being raved about. The ship is just one madhouse of rejoicing.

"We will always be eternally thankful for what you have done and we want you to know the kindness is greatly appreciated.

"God Bless You

"A Grateful Soldier"

Donations may be brought to the chapter house at 300 Clinton avenue. While several organizations and business firms have donated many gifts, more are needed to fill the Ulster County Red Cross Chapter's quota of 100.

Mrs. William Merrill said that all articles donated must be new, and must be selected from the following list of approved items: pencil with clip, photo folder, billfold, pocket flashlight (pencil type), bottle opener (pocket size), key ring, cigarette case (pocket size), novels, comic books, playing cards, oilskin pouch, ballpoint pen, gum, hard candy or Life Savers in airtight cellophane bags, plastic identification insert for billfolds, chapter-made kit bags, dark solid color materials.

Red Cross volunteers will wrap the gifts in Christmas decorated paper, and they will be sent then to a selected part of embarkation to be placed on ships which will be enroute overseas on Christmas Day. The packages will be given to troops in transit and members of ships' crews.

The Arctic tern flies about 22,000 miles each year between the arctic and antarctic.

Capital Distances

Roanoke, Va. (AP)—Ben Sutherland, assistant U. S. attorney for Western Virginia commutes about 400 miles each weekend to his home in Clintwood, out near the Kentucky border. "We are a little bit out of the way," he said. "There are eight state capitals closer to Clintwood than Virginia's—Raleigh, N. C., Columbia, S. C., Atlanta, Ga., Nashville, Tenn., Frankfort, Ky., Indianapolis, Ind., Columbus, Ohio, and Charleston, W. Va."

Plan Announced For Service Men Christmas Time

A special program designed to provide Christmas gifts for servicemen who will be en route overseas on Christmas Day is now being developed by the local Red Cross chapter with the assistance of other community organizations, Mrs. William Merrill, chapter service groups chairman announced today.

The program, called Christmas on the High Seas, has been an annual Red Cross project for many years, Mrs. Merrill said. Through this project, appropriate gifts are placed aboard troop transports and other military conveyances for distribution on Christmas morning. After receiving a Christmas on the High Seas gift last year, one grateful serviceman wrote:

"Today was Christmas Day and it was a pretty lonely day for more than 3,000 of us soldiers on our way to Japan and points further west. The most important part about today was the receiving of Christmas packages from yourself and many other Red Cross chapters across the United States. We were overjoyed to receive them, as for myself, I cried. The games, cigarettes, tobacco, stationery and many other items too numerous to mention, are still being raved about. The ship is just one madhouse of rejoicing.

"We will always be eternally thankful for what you have done and we want you to know the kindness is greatly appreciated.

"God Bless You

"A Grateful Soldier"

Donations may be brought to the chapter house at 308 Clinton avenue. While several organizations and business firms have donated many gifts, more are needed to fill the Ulster County Red Cross Chapter's quota of 100.

Mrs. William Merrill said that all articles donated must be new, and must be selected from the following list of approved items: pencil with clip, photo folder, billfold, pocket flashlight (pencil type), bottle opener (pocket size), key ring, cigarette case (pocket size), novels, comic books, playing cards, oilskin pouch, ballpoint pen, gum, hard candy or Life Savers in airtight cellophane bags, plastic identification insert for billfolds, chapter-made kit bags, dark solid color materials.

Red Cross volunteers will wrap the gifts in Christmas decorated paper, and they will be sent then to a selected part of embarkation to be placed on ships which will be enroute overseas on Christmas Day. The packages will be given to troops in transit and members of ships' crews.

The Arctic tern flies about 22,000 miles each year between the arctic and antarctic.

Capital Distances

Roanoke, Va. (AP)—Ben Sutherland, assistant U. S. attorney for Western Virginia commutes about 400 miles each weekend to his home in Clintwood, out near the Kentucky border. "We are a little bit out of the way," he said. "There are eight state capitals closer to Clintwood than Virginia's—Raleigh, N. C., Columbia, S. C., Atlanta, Ga., Nashville, Tenn., Frankfort, Ky., Indianapolis, Ind., Columbus, Ohio, and Charleston, W. Va."

Duluth, Minn. (AP) — George Frederick Proctor, 30, Toronto, Can., won't be crossing the border for the next two years. An old hand at illegal entry, the Canadian was sentenced to a two-year term, the maximum, on his latest conviction. On five previous occasions, Proctor was arrested on similar charges and deported. His last previous court appearance was in St. Paul, Minn., in August of 1953. At that time he got a six-month sentence.

Neutrality Not Possible in Case, Watkins Declares

Washington, Nov. 10 (AP)—Sen. Watkins told Sen. McCarthy today the only way to get a completely neutral person on the censure issue would be to pick "a deaf, dumb and blind person and a moron."

Watkins, head of the special committee which recommended censure of McCarthy, loosed that thrust when McCarthy suggested there was prejudice on the committee.

THE TWO SENATORS quickly slipped into a dueling exchange of words after the Senate got down to formal debate on rebuking McCarthy, Wisconsin Republican.

Watkins, Utah Republican, laid his committee's conclusions on the case for censure before the Senate and McCarthy promptly challenged that "you are not giving the facts as they are."

From there, they swung into a long exchange which revolved chiefly about McCarthy's conduct in relation to a Senate elections subcommittee which looked into his financial affairs in 1951 and 1952.

ONE GROUND on which the Watkins Committee recommended censure was that McCarthy took a contemptuous attitude toward the Elections subcommittee.

McCarthy contended the subcommittee's activities were improper and "dishonest."

Watkins said his committee had not gone into the charges before the elections group—that the only question for the Watkins group was McCarthy's attitude toward a regularly constituted Senate body.

"We thought that you should have cooperated with that committee, and that you could not fulfill your oath to defend the Constitution by damning the committee from the very first day," Watkins told McCarthy.

"I have a strong feeling that, under the Constitution, the duty of a senator of the United States is to respect committees and to cooperate to the limit, particularly when his own honor, the honor of his state, and the honor of the Senate are at stake."

Blank Paper Mailed to Area

Area postal officials have received inquiries this week concerning the mailing of blank pieces of paper in envelopes.

Such envelopes have been received in rural areas near the city, and one report today indicated that at least some of the envelopes bear the return address of G. Kay, 30 Court street, Brooklyn.

The Brooklyn telephone directory contains no such listing.

The blank "letters" or papers, one source said, appear as though they had been torn from large sheets of ruled paper, are folded and sent in the envelopes.

Some, who have received them, suspect a promotional or advertising follow-up.

Storms Are Forecast

Lancaster, Pa., Nov. 10 (AP)—Storms will feature the start of 1955 over most of the country but March will come and go like a lamb. And it'll be a pleasant summer with temperatures near normal and precipitation below. So says the new edition of "Agricultural Almanac," or "Lancaster Almanac," a little book many persons have sworn by since John Quincy Adams was President. In its 130 year history, the almanac has covered practically every subject from farming to higher esthetics.

Reports Back Injury

Gloria Paulucci, 34, of 304 Fair street, passenger in a local bus, reported a back injury after a collision involving the bus and two cars at Clinton and Albany avenues last night. A police report at 8:55 p. m., indicated that all vehicles were headed west on Albany avenue at the time. The bus, owned by the Kingston City Transportation Corp., was driven by Kenneth Van Etten, of 115 Wrentham street. One of the cars was driven by Roscoe Bishop, of 43 Abruyn street, and the other by John Ciepiela, of High Falls. The report said the woman complained of a back injury, and was treated by a doctor.

Late Bulletin

Washington, Nov. 10 (AP)—The Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee today defeated a Democratic attempt to block immediate signing of the Dixon-Yates contract.

The committee acted shortly after President Eisenhower said at his news conference he still favored the controversial proposal.

The vote was 10-8 along strict party lines. The 10 Republicans on the committee voted to table a resolution by Sen. Pastore (D.-R. I.). Pastore's resolution would have called on the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) not to sign the contract to feed private power into Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) lines.

Wallkill Case Continues Today

Continued in county court today was the trial of an incest indictment which charges Delbert V. Brown of Wallkill with improper relations with his 14-year-old daughter last June. The jury was completed Tuesday and the morning session today was taken up wtih testimony of the complaining witness.

District Attorney Howard C. St. John and Assistant John Schick appear for The People and Michael Nardone of Highland for the defendant, who denies the charge.

Morris Graham entered a plea of guilty to violation of Section 483 of the penal law and was sentenced to three months in the county jail. Indicted for rape, second degree, Graham entered a plea to the lesser charge. He was represented by William D. Brinnier.

Sentence in the Kenneth Baker case, violation of Probation, the case was put over to Friday at 10 o'clock. Baker, a former Rosendale resident, is charged with having violated an order to provide for his family. John Larkin appears for defendant.

John Orlando Baker, Kingston, who entered a plea of guilty to unlawful entry, was sentenced to six months in jail and execution of sentence suspended and he was placed on probation. Charles Saccoman appeared for Baker.

Local Death Record

Mrs. Ida E. Riel

Private funeral services for Mrs. Ida E. Riel, 80, widow of William H. Riel, who died Nov. 5, were held Tuesday afternoon from the parlors of A. Carr & Son, 1 Pearl street. The Rev. Dr. Clyde H. Snell, pastor of Clinton Avenue Methodist Church, officiated. Burial was in Wiltwyck Cemetery.

Mrs. Rozalia T. Kocsis

The funeral of Mrs. Rozalia (Rosa) Kocsis, 82, of 139 Mary's avenue was held Tuesday at 9 a. m. from the Henry J. Bruck Funeral Home, 27 Smith avenue, thence to St. Peter's Church where a high Mass of requiem was offered for the repose of her soul by the Rev. Paul E. Hirschauer at 9:30 a. m. Responses to the Mass were sung by the children's choir assisted at the organ by Miss Nan Goldrick. While the body reposed in the funeral home many relatives and friends called and many floral pieces and spiritual bouquets in the form of Mass cards were received. The Rev. Joseph A. Geis and the Rev. Edwin Kelsch, CSsR of Mt. St. Alphonsus called and said the prayers for the dead and on Monday night Father Hirschauer called and led those assembled in the recitation of the Rosary. Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery where Father Geis gave the final blessing. Bearers were Peter Nagy, Joseph Nagy, Joseph Kaman, John Kaman, Frank Nagy and John Wisneski.

served in that capacity for the paid fire department since 1944, was widely known throughout the Hudson Valley area for his interest in firemanic affairs.

HE WAS A MEMBER of the New York State Permanent Firemen's Association, the Mid-Hudson-Harlem Valley Fire Chiefs' Association, the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association, Union Hose Company 4 and the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association.

Besides his firemanic affiliations, Captain Geary was a member of Kingston Council, 275, Knights of Columbus; Kingston Assembly, 4th Degree, K of C, St. Mary's Holy Name Society, St. Ann De Beaupre of Canada and BPO Elks, Kingston Lodge, 550.

Funeral arrangements, which are in charge of the F. Daniel Halloran Funeral Home, will be announced.

Deed Is Filed For First Home On Krause Farm

The first step in the development of a housing project on the Krause farm property in the town of Ulster just north of the Kingston city line was disclosed today when a deed was filed in the county clerk's office for a lot in a subdivision of the farm for the purpose of erecting a model home.

Title to the property was taken in the name of Bryan Construction Company, Inc., a Long Island corporation which it was reported intends ultimately to develope the area. It is reported options have been taken on other lots in the Krause subdivision as well as on portions of the Krause farm lying in the Yarmouth and Plainfield street area. It was reported the frontage on Albany avenue extension is not included in the options.

Arthur B. Ewig of Cashin and Ewig represents Mrs. Anna Krause, owner of the farm. He reported the purchaser of the lot conveyed by deed to Bryan Construction Company, Inc., intended to erect a model home thereon and it is expected ultimately, if the options are taken up, the development will involve about 35 acres of the Krause property which lies some 400 to 500 feet west of the Albany avenue frontage. It was stated the Albany avenue frontage is not involved in the present deal.

The development company is expected to extend present streets in the area and construct new streets. It was reported none of the Krause "lower farm" property is involved in the present deal.

Ticket-Fixing Racket Reported

New York, Nov. 10 (AP) — Authorities today disclosed existence of a traffic ticket racket involving possibly 100 policemen in New York city and in Westchester, Nassau and Suffolk counties.

Dist. Atty. Edward S. Silver of Brooklyn made the announcement of the ticket "fixing" scheme at a press conference attended by New York City Police Commissioner Francis W. H. Adams.

Silver said the racket operated in Brooklyn, Queens and Manhattan and on parkways in the three counties outside the city.

He declined to estimate the financial scope of the operation.

Silver said the racket involved the carrying of a business card with the name of a motorcycle policeman written on the back. He said it worked this way:

"Mr. John Q. Beat-the-Law Citizen gets or buys a card with a motorcycle cop's name on it.

"If he gets picked up for speeding, or other traffic violation, he gives the magic card to the cop charged with enforcing the law. He gets a knowing smile and the go-ahead and rides off . . .

"Mr. Crooked Cop sends the magic card to Mr. Organizer Cop who collects money from Mr. John Q. Beat-the-Law Citizen and splits with the cycle cop who picked up the card.

"And so the merry-go-round goes round and round."

Gannett Buys Niagara Paper

Niagara Falls, Nov. 10 (AP)—The sale of the Niagara Falls Gazette to Frank E. Gannett, a purchase long rumored in newspaper circles, was announced formally here today.

The purchase price was not disclosed. But the figure most often mentioned in connection with earlier reports of the sale has been 2½ million dollars.

The sale of the century-old Gazette, according to today's announcement, was based on an agreement between Gannett and the late Alanson C. Deuel, president of the Niagara Falls Gazette Publishing Co., prior to the latter's death Oct. 19. Technicalities held up closing of the transaction until today.

The Gazette becomes the 23rd newspaper of the Gannett group. Gannett also operates five radio stations and three television stations.

The announcement said that Gazette executives, headed by Robert T. Harrold, general manager, and Thomas J. Berrigan, editor, would be retained.

You can use condensed cream of asparagus soup with drief beef for a supper dish. Serve over crisp toast, steamed rice or hot biscuits.

Clark Asks

sent directly to General Mark W. Clark, c/o CARE, Inc., 660 First avenue, New York 16, N. Y.

Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Eighth Army commanding general, and AFAK (Armed Forces Assistance to Korea, which coordinates the troops' voluntary relief) has endorsed the plan. The real "brass", though, are the GIs who will distribute the joint gifts from the American Armed Forces and the American public.

A COMPLETE FILE of the "what" and "where" would fill a floor at the Pentagon, but there is ample illustration in reports from the Eighth Army, whose men sponsored 481 parties for 181,296 Korean children last Christmas. Each party had a tree and a Santa, who arrived by helicopter or jeep decorated to look like a sleigh. Each child received toys and candy. And from the half million dollar gift sack there also poured every imaginable item of lasting benefit. To cite a few examples:

When the 40th Division Artillery's party was over, 127 boys and girls at the Belgian Red Cross Orphanage and Hospital in Seoul had new cots and blankets, and the building had $5,000 worth of needed repairs and heating equipment.

Part of the $50,000 donated by the 45th Thunderbird Division provided 652 waifs at the Orphans' Home of Korea, on Cheju Island, with rice, flour, shoes and 100 of CARE's $10 knitting wool packages to make warm sweaters and mittens.

THE 25TH DIVISION Artillery held parties for children at three Seoul hospitals, left behind $10,000 worth of medical equipment to help the young patients regain their health. Over 1,000 needy Korean families shared $12,500 worth of CARE food and clothing packages from the 160th and 223rd Infantry Regiments. The 38th Infantry entertained 1,800 children in its three adopted villages, turned over $2,500 worth of supplies and equipment for the local schools.

From Seoul to Pusan, U. S. military units are already passing the hat for similar parties and gifts this year. The public's share, through CARE, will work this way:

INDIVIDUALS, organizations and other groups are asked to send contributions in any amount to "Korean Matching Program," CARE, 660 First avenue, New York 16, N. Y., or any local CARE office or outlet. CARE's Mission in Korea will then allocate to U. S. Armed Force units various relief and rehabilitation packages to match, dollar for dollar, their own Christmas contributions. The servicemen will give the matching gifts to the same recipients they are helping, and will choose the supplies according to need.

Thus, a unit may ask for CARE's $10 children's shoe packages to match the food it is giving to an orphanage. A regiment that is giving books to schools may ask for equal value in CARE's $46 playground equipment packages. A squadron that is clothing the children of a farming village may ask for a match in $10 plows or $7 hand tool packages to help the farmers support their families.

FULL INFORMATION on CARE packages and prices may be obtained by writing to any CARE office. All donations will be acknowledged. Those who contribute the cost of one or more complete packages will receive CARE's customary signed delivery receipt from overseas, and their name will accompany their gifts.

It is hoped the matched servicemen-civilian gifts will total a million and a half dollars worth of CARE packages. On barracks walls in Korea, our khaki-clad Santas are posting signs: "If we can't be home for Christmas, let's make this a merry Christmas for the Koreans." They're counting on the CARE assist from their folks at home to make their plans come true.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Nov. 10 (AP)—The cash position of the treasury Nov. 5: Balance $6,268,883,188.37; deposits fiscal year July 1 $17,053,660,225.86; withdrawals fiscal year $24,520,309,024.23; total debt $278,734,129,051.08x; gold assets $21,759,086,093.57. x—Includes $530,572,777.62 debt not subject to statutory limit.

Boards Are Charred

A chimney fire at the former Mansion House, Broadway and East Strand, today charred some boards around it on the fourth floor of the building. Firemen were called at 12:51 p. m., after someone reported seeing smoke coming from the roof. Deputy Fire Chief Harold Sanford indicated that the damaged boards were near sides of the chimney as it extended to the roof.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Nov. 10 (AP)—Railroads were strong today in an otherwise mixed stock market.

Prices in the early afternoon were spread over a range of around 2 points either way.

Business was brisk at a pace around three million shares for the day. It was, however, well below the 3,240,000 shares traded yesterday in a slightly higher market.

Railroads were far out in front of the market with some chemicals strong.

Public Hearing

good physical quality at the time of sampling.

"INDIVIDUAL private outlets discharging into the Sawkill below the hamlet of Woodstock caused an increase in coliform density. With this exception, the waters were low in coliform count and DO values were above 90 per cent of saturation.

"This survey failed to show the presence of any condition in the streams inimical to fish life."

The laboratory results reported in the survey indicate the condition of the streams only at the time the samples were collected and do not indicate the more severe pollutional condition which would be expected to occur during periods of low flows.

THE REPORT points out that the principal use of lands bordering the creek and its two main tributaries, Plattekill creek and the Saw Kill, is recreational. In addition, there is considerable agricultural use and residential and summer-cottage sites are scattered throughout the basin. The industrial development in this drainage basin is mainly centered in Saugerties and Woodstock, with development in progress north of Kingston.

The city of Kingston and the village of Saugerties use surface waters as sources of municipal water supplies, the report states.

Waters from the upper reaches of the Beaverkill, with some tributaries, are diverted from their natural watershed to Cooper Lake to supplement the Kingston supply.

SAUGERTIES village uses an impoundment on Plattekill creek as its storage reservoir and the streams above as its source of water supply. The water is chlorinated. Individuals throughout the watershed make use of surface waters as the source of their water supply.

There are four public bathing beaches operating on the drainage basin, namely, Saugerties Beach and Glenerie Park, located on Esopus creek, and Spring Lake and Woodstock Country Club on the Saw Kill. In addition, many camps and resorts operate bathing facilities in conjunction with other recreational activities for campers and guests. As may be expected, the report points out, unsupervised bathing in the various streams and swimming holes is prevalent throughout the drainage basin.

"In the village of Saugerties, primary treatment plant effluent is discharged to the Esopus creek through outfalls at Dublin, Ripley and East Bridge streets.

"The overflow from the combined sewer in the city of Kingston discharges into Esopus creek behind St. John's Episcopal Church on Albany avenue.

"IN THE HAMLET of Woodstock, septic tank effluents are discharged into the Sawkill. Undoubtedly, sewage discharges may be found entering the streams at various other locations in the drainage basin.

"Dyeing and finishing wastes are discharged into Esopus creek in Saugerties by Martin Cantine Paper Coating Company and Ulster County Tissue Mill. Also, in this area wastes from the Ferroxcube Company discharge into a ditch and then to Esopus creek.

"Laundry waste is discharged into the Sawkill by the Woodstock Self-Service Laundry."

The report points out that the general land uses for agriculture and recreation are expected to remain unchanged. Future highway improvements or construction may cause minor changes to the streams.

"THE TOWN OF ULSTER is contemplating the formation of a water district and is exploring the feasibility of using ground waters from the alluvial plain of the Esopus as a source of water supply.

"The hamlet of Stone Ridge has no public water supply, but has a potential source from the New York City Catskill aqueduct. The hamlet of Hurley is served for water supply purposes by a small water company utilizing springs as a source. Future sources may be from the alluvial deposits in the Esopus flood plain.

"There is a possibility that the City of Kingston may further develop the watershed above the hamlet of Shady, should the need arise.

"A tract of land north of Kingston has been purchased by the International Business Machines Corporation for a future plant site. Domestic and industrial water will be obtained from the City of Kingston. Sanitary sewage and industrial waste, after treatment, probably will be discharged into Esopus Creek."

Houk Says

had murdered her because she was pregnant.

The psychiatrist's name was not given.

The psychiatrist told them that such a demented person normally would leave alone the woman he secretly loved, Houk related. But the pregnancy could have impelled him to a murderous rage, according to this theory.

In such a person's mind the pregnancy would be an indication that his heroine had been violated, and as a shattered idol would have to be destroyed.

As the story went, the psychiatrist said that he believed that because Dr. Sheppard was a tall and husky person and had been overpowered by the killer, the man responsible for the crime also must be tall.

HOUK SAID he suggested that the brothers might take a look at a man who worked in the general area of the Sheppard home and more or less fitted the original description of the killer as supplied by Dr. Sheppard.

Assistant Prosecutor John J. Mahon, who had been questioning Houk, then went ahead with interrogation on other matters

Houk was in the middle of this story about the psychiatrist yesterday afternoon when the trial recessed.

Houk, a meat dealer, is a neighbor of Sheppard's and the first person he summoned the morning his wife was murdered.

On cross-examination by Fred W. Garmone, this developed:

Garmone: "You have been in the Sheppard home many times, have you not?"

Houk: "Yes."

Garmone: "Have you ever seen Dr. Sheppard mistreat his wife?"

Houk: "No."

Garmone: "Have you ever seen him mistreat his son, Chip?"

Houk: "No."

The mayor said that Dr. Sheppard was active in boys' work and in civil defense work in Bay Village, was a member of the Bay Village men's club and was Bay Village police surgeon.

Salamanca Has Fire

Salamanca, Nov. 10 (AP)—Fire ripped through a three story brick building in the heart of the business district here today, causing an estimated $100,000 damage. Acting Fire Chief H. E. Gardner of Salamanca, who estimated the damage, said the fire apparently started in a short-circuited fuse box in the cellar of the building. The building was owned by the Ash Hat Company of Youngstown, Ohio. Gardner said, and was occupied by a hardware store and offices.

Favors Proposal

Washington, Nov. 10 (AP)—President Eisenhower said today he still favors the controversial Dixon-Yates power proposal. He said no better way has been offered to provide power for areas needing it.

Neutrality Not Possible in Case, Watkins Declares

Washington, Nov. 10 (AP)—Sen. Watkins told Sen. McCarthy today the only way to get a completely neutral person on the censure issue would be to pick "a deaf, dumb and blind person and a moron."

Watkins, head of the special committee which recommended censure of McCarthy, loosed that thrust when McCarthy suggested there was prejudice on the committee.

THE TWO SENATORS quickly slipped into a dueling exchange of words after the Senate got down to formal debate on rebuking McCarthy, Wisconsin Republican.

Watkins, Utah Republican, laid his committee's conclusions on the case for censure before the Senate and McCarthy promptly challenged that "you are not giving the facts as they are."

From there, they swung into a long exchange which revolved chiefly about McCarthy's conduct in relation to a Senate elections subcommittee which looked into his financial affairs in 1951 and 1952.

ONE GROUND on which the Watkins Committee recommended censure was that McCarthy took a contemptuous attitude toward the Elections subcommittee.

McCarthy contended the subcommittee's activities were improper and "dishonest."

Watkins said his committee had not gone into the charges before the elections group—that the only question for the Watkins group was McCarthy's attitude toward a regularly constituted Senate body.

"We thought that you should have cooperated with that committee, and that you could not fulfill your oath to defend the Constitution by damning the committee from the very first day," Watkins told McCarthy.

"I have a strong feeling that, under the Constitution, the duty of a senator of the United States is to respect committees and to cooperate to the limit, particularly when his own honor, the honor of his state, and the honor of the Senate are at stake."

Such envelopes have been received in rural areas near the city, and one report today indicated that at least some of the envelopes bear the return address of G. Kay, 30 Court street, Brooklyn.

The Brooklyn telephone directory contains no such listing.

The blank "letters" or papers, one source said, appear as though they had been torn from large sheets of ruled paper, are folded and sent in the envelopes.

Some, who have received them, suspect a promotional or advertising follow-up.

Reports Back Injury

Gloria Paulucci, 34, of 304 Fair street, passenger in a local bus, reported a back injury after a collision involving the bus and two cars at Clinton and Albany avenues last night. A police report at 8:55 p. m., indicated that all vehicles were headed west on Albany avenue at the time. The bus, owned by the Kingston City Transportation Corp., was driven by Kenneth Van Etten, of 115 Wrentham street. One of the cars was driven by Roscoe Bishop, of 43 Abruyn street, and the other by John Ciepiela, of High Falls. The report said the woman complained of a back injury, and was treated by a doctor.

Late Bulletin

Washington, Nov. 10 (AP)—The Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee today defeated a Democratic attempt to block immediate signing of the Dixon-Yates contract.

The committee acted shortly after President Eisenhower said at his news conference he still favored the controversial proposal.

The vote was 10-8 along strict party lines. The 10 Republicans on the committee voted to table a resolution by Sen. Pastore (D.-R. I.). Pastore's resolution would have called on the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) not to sign the contract to feed private power into Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) lines.

Wallkill Case Continues Today

Continued in county court today was the trial of an incest indictment which charges Delbert V. Brown of Wallkill with improper relations with his 14-year-old daughter last June. The jury was completed Tuesday and the morning session today was taken up wtih testimony of the complaining witness.

District Attorney Howard C. St. John and Assistant John Schick appear for The People and Michael Nardone of Highland for the defendant, who denies the charge.

Morris Graham entered a plea of guilty to violation of Section 483 of the penal law and was sentenced to three months in the county jail. Indicted for rape, second degree, Graham entered a plea to the lesser charge. He was represented by William D. Brinnier.

Sentence in the Kenneth Baker case, violation of Probation, the case was put over to Friday at 10 o'clock. Baker, a former Rosendale resident, is charged with having violated an order to provide for his family. John Larkin appears for defendant.

John Orlando Baker, Kingston, who entered a plea of guilty to unlawful entry, was sentenced to six months in jail and execution of sentence suspended and he was placed on probation. Charles Saccoman appeared for Baker.

Local Death Record

Mrs. Ida E. Riel

Private funeral services for Mrs. Ida E. Riel, 80, widow of William H. Riel, who died Nov. 5, were held Tuesday afternoon from the parlors of A. Carr & Son, 1 Pearl street. The Rev. Dr. Clyde H. Snell, pastor of Clinton Avenue Methodist Church, officiated. Burial was in Wiltwyck Cemetery.

Mrs. Rozalia T. Kocsis

The funeral of Mrs. Rozalia (Rosa) Kocsis, 82, of 139 Mary's avenue was held Tuesday at 9 a. m. from the Henry J. Bruck Funeral Home, 27 Smith avenue, thence to St. Peter's Church where a high Mass of requiem was offered for the repose of her soul by the Rev. Paul E. Hirschauer at 9:30 a. m. Responses to the Mass were sung by the children's choir assisted at the organ by Miss Nan Goldrick. While the body reposed in the funeral home many relatives and friends called and many floral pieces and spiritual bouquets in the form of Mass cards were received. The Rev. Joseph A. Geis and the Rev. Edwin Kelsch, CSsR of Mt. St. Alphonsus called and said the prayers for the dead and on Monday night Father Hirschauer called and led those assembled in the recitation of the Rosary. Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery where Father Geis gave the final blessing. Bearers were Peter Nagy, Joseph Nagy, Joseph Kaman, John Kaman, Frank Nagy and John Wisneski.

Deed Is Filed For First Home On Krause Farm

The first step in the development of a housing project on the Krause farm property in the town of Ulster just north of the Kingston city line was disclosed today when a deed was filed in the county clerk's office for a lot in a subdivision of the farm for the purpose of erecting a model home.

Title to the property was taken in the name of Bryan Construction Company, Inc., a Long Island corporation which it was reported intends ultimately to develope the area. It is reported options have been taken on other lots in the Krause subdivision as well as on portions of the Krause farm lying in the Yarmouth and Plainfield street area. It was reported the frontage on Albany avenue extension is not included in the options.

Arthur B. Ewig of Cashin and Ewig represents Mrs. Anna Krause, owner of the farm. He reported the purchaser of the lot conveyed by deed to Bryan Construction Company, Inc., intended to erect a model home thereon and it is expected ultimately, if the options are taken up, the development will involve about 35 acres of the Krause property which lies some 400 to 500 feet west of the Albany avenue frontage. It was stated the Albany avenue frontage is not involved in the present deal.

The development company is expected to extend present streets in the area and construct new streets. It was reported none of the Krause "lower farm" property is involved in the present deal.

Ticket-Fixing Racket Reported

New York, Nov. 10 (AP)—Authorities today disclosed existence of a traffic ticket racket involving possibly 100 policemen in New York city and in Westchester, Nassau and Suffolk counties.

Dist. Atty. Edward S. Silver of Brooklyn made the announcement of the ticket "fixing" scheme at a press conference attended by New York City Police Commissioner Francis W. H. Adams.

Silver said the racket operated in Brooklyn, Queens and Manhattan and on parkways in the three counties outside the city.

He declined to estimate the financial scope of the operation.

Silver said the racket involved the carrying of a business card with the name of a motorcycle policeman written on the back. He said it worked this way:

"Mr. John Q. Beat-the-Law Citizen gets or buys a card with a motorcycle cop's name on it.

"If he gets picked up for speeding, or other traffic violation, he gives the magic card to the cop charged with enforcing the law. He gets a knowing smile and the go-ahead and rides off.

"Mr. Crooked Cop sends the magic card to Mr. Organizer Cop who collects money from Mr. John Q. Beat-the-Law Citizen and splits with the cycle cop who picked up the card.

"And so the merry-go-round goes round and round."

Gannett Buys Niagara Paper

Niagara Falls, Nov. 10 (AP)—The sale of the Niagara Falls Gazette to Frank E. Gannett, a purchase long rumored in newspaper circles, was announced formally here today.

The purchase price was not disclosed. But the figure most often mentioned in connection with earlier reports of the sale has been 2½ million dollars.

The sale of the century-old Gazette, according to today's announcement, was based on an agreement between Gannett and the late Alanson C. Deuel, president of the Niagara Falls Gazette Publishing Co., prior to the latter's death Oct. 19. Technicalities held up closing of the transaction until today.

The Gazette becomes the 23rd newspaper of the Gannett group. Gannett also operates five radio stations and three television stations.

The announcement said that Gazette executives, headed by Robert T. Harrold, general manager, and Thomas J. Berrigan, editor, would be retained.

Clark Asks

sent directly to General Mark W. Clark, c/o CARE, Inc., 660 First avenue, New York 16, N. Y.

Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Eighth Army commanding general, and AFAK (Armed Forces Assistance to Korea, which coordinates the troops' voluntary relief) has endorsed the plan. The real "brass", though, are the GIs who will distribute the joint gifts from the American Armed Forces and the American public.

A COMPLETE FILE of the "what" and "where" would fill a floor at the Pentagon, but there is ample illustration in reports from the Eighth Army, whose men sponsored 481 parties for 181,296 Korean children last Christmas. Each party had a tree and a Santa, who arrived by helicopter or jeep decorated to look like a sleigh. Each child received toys and candy. And from the half million dollar gift sack there also poured every imaginable item of lasting benefit. To cite a few examples:

When the 40th Division Artillery's party was over, 127 boys and girls at the Belgian Red Cross Orphanage and Hospital in Seoul had new cots and blankets, and the building had $5,000 worth of needed repairs and heating equipment.

Part of the $50,000 donated by the 45th Thunderbird Division provided 652 waifs at the Orphans' Home of Korea, on Cheju Island, with rice, flour, shoes and 100 of CARE's $10 knitting wool packages to make warm sweaters and mittens.

THE 25TH DIVISION Artillery held parties for children at three Seoul hospitals, left behind $10,000 worth of medical equipment to help the young patients regain their health. Over 1,000 needy Korean families shared $12,500 worth of CARE food and clothing packages from the 160th and 223rd Infantry Regiments. The 38th Infantry entertained 1,800 children in its three adopted villages, turned over $2,500 worth of supplies and equipment for the local schools.

From Seoul to Pusan, U. S. military units are already passing the hat for similar parties and gifts this year. The public's share, through CARE, will work this way:

INDIVIDUALS, organizations and other groups are asked to send contributions in any amount to "Korean Matching Program," CARE, 660 First avenue, New York 16, N. Y., or any local CARE office or outlet. CARE's Mission in Korea will then allocate to U. S. Armed Force units various relief and rehabilitation packages to match, dollar for dollar, their own Christmas contributions. The servicemen will give the matching gifts to the same recipients they are helping, and will choose the supplies according to need.

Thus, a unit may ask for CARE's $10 children's shoe packages to match the food it is giving to an orphanage. A regiment that is giving books to schools may ask for equal value in CARE's $46 playground equipment packages. A squadron that is clothing the children of a farming village may ask for a match in $10 plows or $7 hand tool packages to help the farmers support their families.

FULL INFORMATION on CARE packages and prices may be obtained by writing to any CARE office. All donations will be acknowledged. Those who contribute the cost of one or more complete packages will receive CARE's customary signed delivery receipt from overseas, and their name will accompany their gifts.

It is hoped the matched servicemen-civilian gifts will total a million and a half dollars worth of CARE packages. On barracks walls in Korea, our khaki-clad Santas are posting signs: "If we can't be home for Christmas, let's make this a merry Christmas for the Koreans." They're counting on the CARE assist from their folks at home to make their plans come true.

Boards Are Charred

A chimney fire at the former Mansion House, Broadway and East Strand, today charred some boards around it on the fourth floor of the building. Firemen were called at 12:51 p. m., after someone reported seeing smoke coming from the roof. Deputy Fire Chief Harold Sanford indicated that the damaged boards were near sides of the chimney as it extended to the roof.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Nov. 10 (AP)—Railroads were strong today in an otherwise mixed stock market.

Prices in the early afternoon were spread over a range of around 2 points either way.

Business was brisk at a pace around three million shares for the day. It was, however, well below the 3,240,000 shares traded yesterday in a slightly higher market.

Railroads were far out in front of the market with some chemicals strong.

Public Hearing

good physical quality at the time of sampling.

"INDIVIDUAL private outlets discharging into the Sawkill below the hamlet of Woodstock caused an increase in coliform density. With this exception, the waters were low in coliform count and DO values were above 90 per cent of saturation.

"This survey failed to show the presence of any condition in the streams inimical to fish life."

The laboratory results reported in the survey indicate the condition of the streams only at the time the samples were collected and do not indicate the more severe pollutional condition which would be expected to occur during periods of low flows.

THE REPORT points out that the principal use of lands bordering the creek and its two main tributaries, Plattekill creek and the Saw Kill, is recreational. In addition, there is considerable agricultural use and residential and summer-cottage sites are scattered throughout the basin. The industrial development in this drainage basin is mainly centered in Saugerties and Woodstock, with development in progress north of Kingston.

The city of Kingston and the village of Saugerties use surface waters as sources of municipal water supplies, the report states.

Waters from the upper reaches of the Beaverkill, with some tributaries, are diverted from their natural watershed to Cooper Lake to supplement the Kingston supply.

SAUGERTIES village uses an impoundment on Plattekill creek as its storage reservoir and the streams above as its source of water supply. The water is chlorinated. Individuals throughout the watershed make use of surface waters as the source of their water supply.

There are four public bathing beaches operating on the drainage basin, namely, Saugerties Beach and Glenerie Park, located on Esopus creek, and Spring Lake and Woodstock Country Club on the Saw Kill. In addition, many camps and resorts operate bathing facilities in conjunction with other recreational activities for campers and guests. As may be expected, the report points out, unsupervised bathing in the various streams and swimming holes is prevalent throughout the drainage basin.

"In the village of Saugerties, primary treatment plant effluent is discharged to the Esopus creek through outfalls at Dublin, Ripley and East Bridge streets.

"The overflow from the combined sewer in the city of Kingston discharges into Esopus creek behind St. John's Episcopal Church on Albany avenue.

"IN THE HAMLET of Woodstock, septic tank effluents are discharged into the Sawkill. Undoubtedly, sewage discharges may be found entering the streams at various other locations in the drainage basin.

"Dyeing and finishing wastes are discharged into Esopus creek in Saugerties by Martin Cantine Paper Coating Company and Ulster County Tissue Mill. Also, in this area wastes from the Ferroxcube Company discharge into a ditch and then to Esopus creek.

"Laundry waste is discharged into the Sawkill by the Woodstock Self-Service Laundry."

The report points out that the general land uses for agriculture and recreation are expected to remain unchanged. Future highway improvements or construction may cause minor changes to the streams.

"THE TOWN OF ULSTER is contemplating the formation of a water district and is exploring the feasibility of using ground waters from the alluvial plain of the Esopus as a source of water supply.

"The hamlet of Stone Ridge has no public water supply, but has a potential source from the New York City Catskill aqueduct. The hamlet of Hurley is served for water supply purposes by a small water company utilizing springs as a source. Future sources may be from the alluvial deposits in the Esopus flood plain.

"There is a possibility that the City of Kingston may further develop the watershed above the hamlet of Shady, should the need arise.

"A tract of land north of Kingston has been purchased by the International Business Machines Corporation for a future plant site. Domestic and industrial water will be obtained from the City of Kingston. Sanitary sewage and industrial waste, after treatment, probably will be discharged into Esopus Creek."

Houk Says

had murdered her because she was pregnant.

The psychiatrist's name was not given.

The psychiatrist told them that such a demented person normally would leave alone the woman he secretly loved, Houk related. But the pregnancy could have impelled him to a murderous rage, according to this theory.

In such a person's mind the pregnancy would be an indication that his heroine had been violated, and as a shattered idol would have to be destroyed.

As the story went, the psychiatrist said that he believed that because Dr. Sheppard was a tall and husky person and had been overpowered by the killer, the man responsible for the crime also must be tall.

HOUK SAID he suggested that the brothers might take a look at a man who worked in the general area of the Sheppard home and more or less fitted the original description of the killer as supplied by Dr. Sheppard.

Assistant Prosecutor John J. Mahon, who had been questioning Houk, then went ahead with interrogation on other matters.

Houk was in the middle of this story about the psychiatrist yesterday afternoon when the trial recessed.

Houk, a meat dealer, is a neighbor of Sheppard's and the first person he summoned the morning his wife was murdered.

On cross-examination by Fred W. Garmone, this developed:

Garmone: "You have been in the Sheppard home many times, have you not?"

Houk: "Yes."

Garmone: "Have you ever seen Dr. Sheppard mistreat his wife?"

Houk: "No."

Garmone: "Have you ever seen him mistreat his son, Chip?"

Houk: "No."

The mayor said that Dr. Sheppard was active in boys' work and in civil defense work in Bay Village, was a member of the Bay Village men's club and was Bay Village police surgeon.

Salamanca Has Fire

Salamanca, Nov. 10 (AP)—Fire ripped through a three story brick building in the heart of the business district here today, causing an estimated $100,000 damage. Acting Fire Chief H. E. Gardner of Salamanca, who estimated the damage, said the fire apparently started in a short-circuited fuse box in the cellar of the building. The building was owned by the Ash Hat Company of Youngstown, Ohio, Gardner said, and was occupied by a hardware store and offices.

Cigarette Controversy

2. The Evidence

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

New York, Nov. 10 (AP)—Cigarettes seem to be on trial. You are the jury.

The charge: Cigarettes are harmful, contributing to cancer and heart disease.

The defense: That isn't proven yet; others call cigarettes innocent pleasure.

The bits of evidence for your verdict are coming from scientists, physicians, statisticians. This is expert testimony from both sides.

There also are declarations from zealots on both sides, people who attack or defend smoking on emotional grounds.

The trial came to full public attention only within the last two years. Here are some main reasons:

Statisticians found an "alarming" increase in lung cancer, particularly in men over 45. They said the increase was worrisome even after allowance is made for the fact more Americans are reaching the older ages at which cancer becomes more common and that cancer nowadays is diagnosed more accurately than in the past.

THESE TWO THINGS—increasing average age and better diagnosis — could account for some or much of the increase from 3,900 reported lung cancer deaths in 1939 to about 27,000 in 1953. A few physicians and statisticians say these two factors could account for most or all of it.

But the majority by far see a real increase in lung cancer deaths. Some find the rate doubling every 10 years, and predict 60,000 American lung cancer victims annually by 1960.

If there really is an increase, what is causing it?

From their own observations some physicians blamed cigarettes because most of their patients were smokers. Statistical studies of hospital patients added much weight to this view.

Cigarette sales increased sharply during the years when lung cancer was rising. This, to their view, was a pretty suspicious association.

Others, doubting, pointed to an increase at the same time in sales of nylon stockings and automobiles, and in taxes.

THEN CAME MORE than statistical evidence against cigarettes. One was the skin-painting experiments by Drs. Evarts Graham and Ernest Wynder. Concentrated tars from cigarettes smoked by machines was applied to the shaved skin of mice. After a year of treatment, many mice developed skin cancers—evidence of a cancer-causing chemical or chemicals in the smoke.

Similar experiments had been performed before. This one caught the public eye fairly well. It was pretty convincing evidence to some doctors and scientists.

Others still doubted. They said skin cancer in mice is not the same as lung cancer in humans. The tars concentrated from smoking machines might not be the same, anyhow, as tars collected by a human smoker. The speed and heat of burning cigarettes in the machines might yield different chemicals or distillation products than those the human smoker is exposed to.

THE DOUBTERS could point to at least one experiment in which mice were exposed to daily, measured amounts to cigarette smoke, from adolescence until they died and were compared with other "non- smoked" mice. There was just one case of lung cancer in 132 "smoked" mice—not significant statistically.

But cigarette-accusers could point to a similar experiment in which 19 of 32 mice exposed to smoke got tumors after a year's time. None of the tumors was cancer of the type occurring in humans, but this could be evidence of how smoke can alter living tissues.

Some scientists asked: Was the discrepancy due to some difference in the genetic strains of the mice used? Just what did it mean in regard to human smoking? How well can mice be compared with men?

BENZPYRENE a chemical which induces cancer in mice, has been identified by one scientific team in smoke and tars from the burning of enough cigarette paper to make 80,000 cigarettes—an 11-year supply for a pack-a-day smoker.

There is still some question, though, as to whether a human smoker might get enough of this to cause human lung cancer.

Benzpyrene also has been found in the polluted air of cities.

Some researchers suspect polluted air as a cause of lung cancer. Some say the rise in lung cancer might be coming from a combination of things, including cigarette smoking and polluted air.

Some studies find lung cancer more frequent in cities than rural areas. One explanation is that the city people smake more. Another is that city air is less clean or pure.

SOME SCIENTISTS question whether people who smoke may be constitutionally different from non-smokers, more tense perhaps, with a different production of hormones. Hormones can influence cancers. But there's no evidence that really answers this question.

Sex and jobs are elements in the evidence.

Many women smoke, have smoked for years. But lung cancer is at least four to five times more common among men than women. Why?

Several explanations are advanced. One: Not so many women smoke. Another: Most women have not smoked as long as men have, and it is argued that it takes 10 to 20 years of smoking to induce lung cancer. Yet another: There is a sex difference—men may naturally be more susceptible to lung cancer than women.

As for air-pollution as a cause of lung cancer, it is argued that women breathe the same air as men. But it's also argued that men, commuting from suuburbs into cities daily, get more city air than stay-at-home wives.

MEN MAY BE SUBJECTED to more cancer-causing chemicals or agents in their jobs than women. There is no doubt that a large number of chemicals to which some workers are exposed can produce cancer in animals.

A leading expert on occupational hazards in cancer, Dr. W. C. Hueper of the National Cancer Institute, Bethesda, Md., reports substantial direct and indirect evidence that certain kinds of industrial fumes and other agents can cause human cancers.

Men almost exclusively are exposed to these hazards, he says. But in at least one case when men and women workers were exposed equally, they both tended to become liable to lung cancer.

DR. HUEPER feels the total evidence indicates that not one but several "atmospheric pollutants are responsible for the causation of lung cancer." His studies lead him to conclude that "while it is possible cigarette smoking has played a contributory role, the total evidence available, if critically evaluated, does not favor the concept that cigarette smoking represents a major factor."

In scientific and medical circles, there have long been questioning, evidences and counter-evidences about the role of cigarettes in health. To the public, which could not be aware of all of the findings being made, some of the reports had to come with bombshell effects.

(Tomorrow: Reports of heart disease hazard, and "how to quit smoking.")

Cigarette Controversy

2. The Evidence

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

New York, Nov. 10 (AP)—Cigarettes seem to be on trial. You are the jury.

The charge: Cigarettes are harmful, contributing to cancer and heart disease.

The defense: That isn't proven yet; others call cigarettes innocent pleasure.

The bits of evidence for your verdict are coming from scientists, physicians, statisticians. This is expert testimony from both sides.

There also are declarations from zealots on both sides, people who attack or defend smoking on emotional grounds.

The trial came to full public attention only within the last two years. Here are some main reasons:

Statisticians found an "alarming" increase in lung cancer, particularly in men over 45. They said the increase was worrisome even after allowance is made for the fact more Americans are reaching the older ages at which cancer becomes more common and that cancer nowadays is diagnosed more accurately than in the past.

THESE TWO THINGS—increasing average age and better diagnosis — could account for some or much of the increase from 3,900 reported lung cancer deaths in 1939 to about 27,000 in 1953. A few physicians and statisticians say these two factors could account for most or all of it.

But the majority by far see a real increase in lung cancer deaths. Some find the rate doubling every 10 years, and predict 60,000 American lung cancer victims annually by 1960.

If there really is an increase, what is causing it?

From their own observations some physicians blamed cigarettes because most of their patients were smokers. Statistical studies of hospital patients added much weight to this view.

Cigarette sales increased sharply during the years when lung cancer was rising. This, to their view, was a pretty suspicious association.

Others, doubting, pointed to an increase at the same time in sales of nylon stockings and automobiles, and in taxes.

THEN CAME MORE than statistical evidence against cigarettes. One was the skin-painting experiments by Drs. Evarts Graham and Ernest Wynder. Concentrated tars from cigarettes smoked by machines was applied to the shaved skin of mice. After a year of treatment, many mice developed skin cancers—evidence of a cancer-causing chemical or chemicals in the smoke.

Similar experiments had been performed before. This one caught the public eye fairly well. It was pretty convincing evidence to some doctors and scientists.

Others still doubted. They said skin cancer in mice is not the same as lung cancer in humans. The tars concentrated from smoking machines might not be the same, anyhow, as tars collected by a human smoker. The speed and heat of burning cigarettes in the machines might yield different chemicals or distillation products than those the human smoker is exposed to.

THE DOUBTERS could point to at least one experiment in which mice were exposed to daily, measured amounts to cigarette smoke, from adolescence until they died and were compared with other "non- smoked" mice. There was just one case of lung cancer in 132 "smoked" mice—not significant statistically.

But cigarette-accusers could point to a similar experiment in which 19 of 32 mice exposed to smoke got tumors after a year's time. None of the tumors was cancer of the type occurring in humans, but this could be evidence of how smoke can alter living tissues.

Some scientists asked: Was the discrepancy due to some difference in the genetic strains of the mice used? Just what did it mean in regard to human smoking? How well can mice be compared with men?

BENZPYRENE a chemical which induces cancer in mice, has been identified by one scientific team in smoke and tars from the burning of enough cigarette paper to make 80,000 cigarettes—an 11-year supply for a pack-a-day smoker.

There is still some question, though, as to whether a human smoker might get enough of this to cause human lung cancer.

Benzpyrene also has been found in the polluted air of cities.

Some researchers suspect polluted air as a cause of lung cancer. Some say the rise in lung cancer might be coming from a combination of things, including cigarette smoking and polluted air.

Some studies find lung cancer more frequent in cities than rural areas. One explanation is that the city people smake more. Another is that city air is less clean or pure.

SOME SCIENTISTS question whether people who smoke may be constitutionally different from non-smokers, more tense perhaps, with a different production of hormones. Hormones can influence cancers. But there's no evidence that really answers this question.

Sex and jobs are elements in the evidence.

Many women smoke, have smoked for years. But lung cancer is at least four to five times more common among men than women. Why?

Several explanations are advanced. One: Not so many women smoke. Another: Most women have not smoked as long as men have, and it is argued that it takes 10 to 20 years of smoking to induce lung cancer. Yet another: There is a sex difference—men may naturally be more susceptible to lung cancer than women.

As for air-pollution as a cause of lung cancer, it is argued that women breathe the same air as men. But it's also argued that men, commuting from suuburbs into cities daily, get more city air than stay-at-home wives.

MEN MAY BE SUBJECTED to more cancer-causing chemicals or agents in their jobs than women. There is no doubt that a large number of chemicals to which some workers are exposed can produce cancer in animals.

A leading expert on occupational hazards in cancer, Dr. W. C. Hueper of the National Cancer Institute, Bethesda, Md., reports substantial direct and indirect evidence that certain kinds of industrial fumes and other agents can cause human cancers.

Men almost exclusively are exposed to these hazards, he says. But in at least one case when men and women workers were exposed equally, they both tended to become liable to lung cancer.

DR. HUEPER feels the total evidence indicates that not one but several "atmospheric pollutants are responsible for the causation of lung cancer." His studies lead him to conclude that "while it is possible cigarette smoking has played a contributory role, the total evidence available, if critically evaluated, does not favor the concept that cigarette smoking represents a major factor."

In scientific and medical circles, there have long been questioning, evidences and counter-evidences about the role of cigarettes in health. To the public, which could not be aware of all of the findings being made, some of the reports had to come with bombshell effects.

(Tomorrow: Reports of heart disease hazard, and "how to quit smoking.")

Policeman Has a Heart

Raleigh, N. C. (AP)—North Carolina Budget Bureau Engineer Frank Turner says there's at least one soft-hearted policeman. Turner saw the officer approach a car parked overtime in a meter zone. The driver, apparently fagged out, was asleep. The policeman started to write a ticket, paused and then took another look at the driver. He reached into his pocket, took out a nickel, inserted it in the meter and continued on while the driver snoozed.

The Mature Parent

Child Senses Uncertainty In an 'Explaining' Parent

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Mrs. Y. grew up under the authority of a "Do-it-because-I-say-so" father. So somewhere between childhood and her own parenthood she resolved to always tell her children "why" they had to obey.

Practically, this policy hasn't worked too well. Amy, her 14-year-old daughter, is an inveterate arguer.

Just the other day, for example, Mrs. Y. came to a decision against blue Jeans for school wear. As usual, she gave Amy all the thinking that had led her to it. And as usual, Amy behaved as though she hadn't heard. The moment her mother had concluded her case against blue jeans, her child said, "But mother, you don't understand. You . . ."

Perhaps Mrs. Y. might try saying. "Blue jeans for school are out, period. I like my reasons for saying so. If you want to hear them, let me know."

To put decisions so directly without their "why's" may be a little difficult for Mrs. Y.

If so, let's take it easy. The influence of a "Do-it-because-I-say-so" rearing is not overcome in one day. Living our tender years under authority that makes a point of squashing our point of view develops some suspicion of that authority, too.

So we aren't likely to realize that our policy of "explaining" every decision we make for our own children is really our appeal for their approval or endorsement.

We don't fool them, of course. They sense our uncertainty—and easily develop the arguing habit toward the parent whose mind is not really made up.

So I want to suggest to parents who may be having trouble with our fashionable "explaining" policy that making good decisions for children is hard work.

If we make them in sincerity and love, it is a little self-contemptuous to feel we must parade all the private thinking that has led us to the decision. If we have proper respect for this thinking, we do not lavish it upon our bored daughter, but wait for her to ask for it herself.

It is, of course, unfair of us to expect Amys and Jimmys to always agree with grownup thinking on blue jeans for school, home chores, late parties, etc. They don't possess our experience. So they simply can't share all our conclusions.

Only too often, teen-age impatience with "explaining" parents is anger with our unspoken pressure for agreement with our point of view.

If readers don't believe me, let them discuss the question with their children. They may be most helpfully illuminated.

Best Known City

Rio de Janeiro is the Brazilian city best known in the United States, but Sao Paulo has as many people, is growing rapidly and may soon surpass the capital in population.

H. L. Fisher, Native of City, To Be Honored by Columbia

Harry Linn Fisher, 69, a native of Kingston, president of the American Chemical Society, will be awarded the Chandler Medal tonight by Columbia University for "his outstanding contributions to the chemistry of synthetic rubber."

This will be the second Chandler Medal awarded this year, an unprecedented action intended to honor Columbia's Bicentennial. The first award was made last February to Willard Frank Libbby for discovering a way to determine the age of ancient organic matter by measuring its carbon content. Dr. Libby, then a professor at the University of Chicago, was recently appointed to the Atomic Energy Commission by President Eisenhower.

President Grayson Kirk of Columbia will present the Chandler Medal to Dr. Fisher at 8:15 p. m. in Room 309, Havemeyer Hall on the campus. Immediately thereafter, Prof. Fisher will deliver the 25th Chandler Lecture, titled: "Synthetic Rubber: Now and Then."

In addition to being president of the 72,000-member American Chemical Society, Dr. Fisher is visiting professor of Chemical Engineering in Rubber Technology at the University of Southern California. He is also director of a rubber technology foundation in Los Angeles.

PROFESSOR FISHER, received an A. B. degree from Williams College in 1909, and a Ph.D. from Columbia in 1912. An instructor in chemistry at Cornell University Medical College during 1911-12, Dr. Fisher was instructor in organic chemistry at Columbia from 1912 until 1919.

Dr. Fisher then left the university campus for a series of positions with industrial firms. He was a research chemist at the B. F. Goodrich Company from 1919 until 1926, leaving then to become research chemist at the United States Rubber Co. until 1936. From 1936 until 1945 Dr. Fisher was director of organic chemical research for the combined laboratories of the Air Reduction and U. S. Industrial Chemicals companies. In 1945 he became director of the U. S. Industrial Chemicals laboratories only, retiring in January, 1950.

Dr. Fisher has held several important government posts as a result of his pre-eminence in synthetic rubber research. From 1943 until 1951 he was consultant to the Office of Rubber Director in Washington, later called the Office of Rubber Reserve. Later he was a member of the Research and Development Advisory Committee.

During his long professional career, Dr. Fisher has been granted some 50 patents in the field of organic chemistry—chiefly in rubber technology. In 1940 he received the Modern Pioneer Award and in 1949 the Charles Goodyear Medal of the American Chemical Society, to mention a few of his many honors.

THE FIRST MEDAL was presented to Prof. Charles Frederick Chandler on April 2, 1910, by his former students and colleagues on the occasion of his retirement after 46 years at Columbia. The Charles Frederick Chandler Foundation was established by contributions from this group and in 1914 the second medal was awarded. It went to Dr. Leo H. Baekeland, inventor of Bakelite, the first synthetic plastic, and Velox photographic paper. The custom of delivering Chandler Lectures began with Dr. Baekeland and has continued to the present.

An interesting sidelight on the award is that among the previous twenty-four Chandler Lecturers no less than five were awarded Nobel Prizes after receiving the Chandler Medal. These Nobel Laureates are Sir Frederick G. Hopkins, 1929; Irving Langmuir, 1932; John H. Northrop, 1946; William F. Giauque, 1949; and Edward C. Kendall, 1950.

Dr. Fisher has held several important government posts as a result of his pre-eminence in synthetic rubber research. From 1943 until 1951 he was consultant to the Office of Rubber Director in Washington, later called the Office of Rubber Reserve. Later he was a member of the Research and Development Advisory Committee.

During his long professional career, Dr. Fisher has been granted some 50 patents in the field of organic chemistry—chiefly in rubber technology. In 1940 he received the Modern Pioneer Award and in 1949 the Charles Goodyear Medal of the American Chemical Society, to mention a few of his many honors.

THE FIRST MEDAL was presented to Prof. Charles Frederick Chandler on April 2, 1910, by his former students and colleagues on the occasion of his retirement after 46 years at Columbia. The Charles Frederick Chandler Foundation was established by contributions from this group and in 1914 the second medal was awarded. It went to Dr. Leo H. Baekeland, inventor of Bakelite, the first synthetic plastic, and Velox photographic paper. The custom of delivering Chandler Lectures began with Dr. Baekeland and has continued to the present.

An interesting sidelight on the award is that among the previous twenty-four Chandler Lecturers no less than five were awarded Nobel Prizes after receiving the Chandler Medal. These Nobel Laureates are Sir Frederick G. Hopkins, 1929; Irving Langmuir, 1932; John H. Northrop, 1946; William F. Giauque, 1949; and Edward C. Kendall, 1950.

Think It Through

By EDWARD F. HUTTON

General Ike's administration has performed one great service. That is stopping inflation and stabilizing the purchasing power of the dollar.

It has not been stressed as it deserves. The reason, probably, is that Republican orators think it is too hard to explain. But let's start with one nest egg which almost everyone owns,—life insurance. When Ike became President 86 million people owned $260 billion of legal reserve insurance protection. The average per family was about $5,500.

Mr. Hutton

For a dozen years before Ike took the oath of office, the dollar lost value at the rate of nearly 5 per cent a year, or 10 per cent in two years.

Applied to legal reserve life insurance alone, the stoppage of the melting away of the dollar (stabilization), has saved the people from losing twenty five billion dollars in the protection life insurance gives.

But Federal old age pension protection totals an even greater sum—$325 billion. Then add $72 billion in savings banks; add industrial pensions, U. S. savings bonds, etc. The total these nest eggs should some time pay is around $700 billion dollars.

The thrifty people of America are at least sixty billion dollars more secure with respect to the purchasing power of their nest eggs than they would have been if Truman's inflationary policies had been continued.

For this, our thanks, neighbor!

Guidance Begins At Early Level

The Freeman in cooperation with the local school officials will publish a series of pictures of school activities this week, which has been designated as "American Education Week." The principals and teachers invite parents to visit the schools this week, the theme for which is "Know Your Schools."

Two major objectives feature the guidance services in the local schools.

The first is obtained through a comprehensive testing program and the second objective is encouraged through group guidance and individual counseling.

Organized guidance services begin in the Kingston public schools on the seventh and eighth grade level.

The seventh and eighth grade program is under the direction of Miss Blanche Kirshenblum who is the counselor at the Myron J. Michael School.

The Guidance Office at the MJM School is open each day until 4:30 p. m., except Friday when it closes at 3:30 p. m. Parents of MJM pupils are encouraged to consult with Miss Kirshenblum concerning the educational program of their children. Parent conferences are arranged at the convenience of the parent.

Mixed Family

Canton, N. C. (AP)—Frank Parker's dog, Cindy, has a strange assortment of adopted "children"—picked up after she lost her puppies. Cindy started mothering a duckling with a broken leg. Then a chicken and a kitten at the Parker home were added to the family circle. The duck and the chicken sleep on Cindy's back and kitty cuddles close to her head, Parker said.

Road to Freedom

Philadelphia (AP) — Municipal Court Judge Adrian Bonnelly sentenced a man to 9 to 23 months in jail. Deciding to reduce the sentence, he had the man brought back and cut his time to 6 to 23 months. But a court officer misunderstood. He let the prisoner go free. A few hours later the defendant went to the detective bureau, saying he realized he'd been improperly released. Judge Bonnelly was so impressed, he cut the man's term to 3 to 23 months.

Leibhardt

Leibhardt, Nov. 10 — Miss Marguerite Kelder and Miss Lillian C. Hyatt of Kelder's Hotel, Rosendale, visited Sunday the former's cousins Mr. and Mrs. Ernest B. Markle.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Ellis of Rochester Center spent Sunday with their son-in-law and daughter Mr. and Mrs. Bradford Kelder and family of Samsonville.

Mrs. Jennie Traver of Ellenville spent last week at the home of her sister Mrs. Harry Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. Long and family of Kehonkson moved Saturday to Rochester Center in the tenant house of Mrs. L. B. Hagen.

Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Quick and Mrs. Margaret Chrisey spent Wednesday evening with Mrs. Lina Crawford of Kerhonkson.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Markle were callers Saturday afternoon on relatives at the Markle home in Mombaccus. They also called on Mrs. Chrisey.

Mrs. Lizzie Shepphert of New York spent the weekend with her sister Miss Clara Frank.

Lloyd Embree is building a new house.

Mrs. M. Chrisey, Mrs. Ross Churchwell, Mrs. Jane Miller and Mrs. Alvah VandeMark visited Mrs. Spencer Quick.

This Hand Was Played Many Ways

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

When today's hand was played in the summer national championships most of the best pairs managed to reach the sound contract of six no-trump on the North-South cards. Some pairs played the slam in hearts, worth an important 10 points less than the no-trump slam; and some misguided souls failed to bid the slam at all.

South should hope for a slam as soon as North opens the bidding. South has 18 points in high cards and should expect a good play for slam if North has more than a minimum in top cards or even a long suit.

South should begin by making a simple response of one spade, since it seldom pays to make a jump bid in a really shabby suit. When North then shows a second suit, South should use the Blackwood Convention to check on aces. North bids five hearts, showing only two aces, and South goes right to a small slam in no-trump, knowing that one ace is held by the enemy.

There would be nothing to the play of this hand at rubber bridge. South has 11 easy tricks outside of spades and can easily establish one spade trick to make sure of his twelfth trick. In a tournament, where overtricks are almost as important as the contract itself, the play wasn't so cut and dried.

Opening lead—♣ 4

The opening lead at most tables was a low club. South won with the king and returned a low spade, separating the sheep from the goats.

At rubber bridge any West player would play a low spade at the second trick, allowing dummy to win with the queen. In tournament play, however, West must play the ace of spades at the second trick. An expert West should see that he will lose his ace if he doesn't take it immediately.

Many West players found this out the hard way. They played low at the second trick, and dummy won with the queen of spades. Declarer then ran all the hearts and diamonds, discarding three spades and a club from his own hand.

West could save only two cards. If he saved the ace of spades, South would win the last two tricks with clubs. If West discarded the ace of spades dummy's nine would win a trick. Either way, declarer would make all 13 tricks.

College Site Sold

Boydton, Va. (AP)—The campus and the original buildings of the first Randolph-Macon College, oldest Methodist college in America, have been sold to Mrs. Zadie Stuart Hundley for $19,273 at public auction. Mrs. Hundley, who held a mortgage on the property, isn't sure what she will do with the 88½ acres and buildings. The site has not been used for college purposes for many years.

Honorary Demotion

Concord, N. H. (AP)—Cornelius A. Brinkman, state director of Civil Defense, has been made an honorary commodore in the Oklahoma Navy — roughly equivalent to a Kentucky colonel. Most people would consider this a promotion. However, Brinkman retired from the U. S. Navy in 1947, after 36 years service, with the flag rank of rear admiral—one notch above commodore.

Tibet Road Pushed

Tokyo (AP)—Communist China says it has finished all but about 95 miles of the highway being built from west China to Tibet. A Peiping broadcast said a 140-mile stretch, cut across precipices and through forests, was opened last month to traffic. This section of the road winds through "the most isolated part on the Sikang-Tibet plateau," Peiping said. The road is being built—reportedly with forced labor of political prisoners—to Lhasa, capital of Tibet, from mountainous Sikang province.

Roche Gets Chair From Male Jury For Killing Girl

New York, Nov. 10 (AP)—John Francis Roche, 27, confessed killer of five persons, has been found guilty of first degree murder—a verdict that grants him his wish to die.

An all-male jury convicted Roche late yesterday without recommending mercy, thereby making a death sentence mandatory. However, an appeal to the state's highest court is required before the sentence can be carried out.

Roche, a plumber's helper, was convicted of the rape murder of Dorothy Westwater, a 14-year-old school girl, last June. Hers was the last of a series of murders which police said Roche confessed.

COURT-APPOINTED defense attorneys got little help from Roche, who refused to testify in his own behalf and told his lawyers he had no desire to live.

Roche, clad in dark slacks and a dark blue sweater, showed no emotion when the jury verdict was announced.

General Sessions Judge Jonah J. Goldstein set Nov. 30 for sentencing.

In finding Roche guilty, the jury rejected a defense claim that he was insane. It deliberated 90 minutes.

"No one is asking you to return this defendant a free man to society," defense attorney Carl Rudino had told the jury. However he asked that a recommendation of mercy be included in the verdict this would have made a life sentence possible.

RUDINO SAID Roche's background and environment so "assaulted and warped" his personality that he was unable to understand the nature and quality of his actions.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Alexander Herman argued against leniency, saying the law does not provide that only persons with normal backgrounds can be convicted of crimes.

Roche was arrested last June 5 on a minor traffic violation. Questioned about a length of stained pipe found in his car, he confessed slaying the Westwater girl as she was leaving for school three days before. She was beaten and raped and died on June 6 without regaining consciousness.

Police said Roche also confessed killing Marion Brown, 17, a waitress; Mrs. Rosa Chronik, 85; Alex Jablonka, 43, a taxicab driver, and Edward Bates, 22 a sailor.

He was indicted for all except the Bates death, for which another man, Paul S. Pfeffer, had been convicted and sentenced to prison. Pfeffer was released after Roche's confession but was later reindicted, this time for manslaughter, in the Bates killing and is awaiting a second trial.

MRS. JASON CARLE shows a large landscape with smaller paintings all by her, in the living room of her home at 157 Henry street. (Freeman photo)

BY MARIANNE DAVIS

An attractive, bright kitchen is the workshop in painting as well as culinary art for Mrs. Jason Carle of 157 Henry street. Recently remodeled to obtain light from a double window with a northern exposure, the kitchen-studio divides the section destined for palate from that drawn from the palette.

"I don't like pastel colors," said Mrs. Carle, a youthful grandmother dressed in well tailored plum slacks and mustard artist's smock, "as you can see by the kitchen."

THE SPATTER LINOLEUM colors were reflected in the wedgewood blue and bright coral of the walls with the white trim for effect. Wood backed chairs which belonged to Mrs. Carle's mother, were painted antique black with hand painted design, two with wedgewood blue cane seats, two with coral.

But the window focuses on Mrs. Carle's favorite spot—a long counter, adjustable up or down, covered with paintings, which is her work table.

At present, her work is preparing raised oil paintings on velvet, and many flower miniatures for an exhibit in Woodstock. An entire wall in the living room is covered with others of the more than 200 landscapes and nature paintings completed by Mrs. Carle in the course of many years.

As this talented housewife explains, an invalid mother required constant attention for 23 years, with this confinement leading Mrs. Carle to picking up her girlhood interest in art. Working in oils since she was 14, Mrs. Carle studied china painting with Miss O'Connor here in this city, and taught art courses as well.

DELICATE TONES of bone china in dessert dish sets, the results of Mrs. Carle's experiments in china painting, were evident in the display in her spacious dining room. Also on view were boxes and boxes of hand-painted stationery, in various sizes for note papers.

Her interest in experimenting in all forms of art led to "antiquing" black trays with the popular floral designs, and to the aforementioned plastic on furniture. Artistic touches are in all parts of the Carle home, such as the carved woodpecker saucily perched on the kitchen door.

"He used to peck when you pulled the cord," explained Mrs. Carle, "but the children broke the mechanism." The children are the two sons of her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Jason Connelly Carle of New Jersey, and the two year old son of her daughter and husband, Mrs. Virginiamae Schantz, and Robert Schantz, of this city.

WHEN THE YOUNGSTERS visit their grandparents, they don't have to be coaxed to nap in the nursery. Mrs. Carle's artistic touch has provided a brightly painted room, with cut-down furniture. The crib has animal paintings on it, which must be narrated before naptime. Even the door and an antique chest have amusing figures painted on them for the children's delight.

Her own two children were taught never to disturb the wet paintings or materials, and so far, the grandsons are behaving beautifully, following their parents' examples.

The Carle's garden is also the result of planning by Mrs. Carle, and cooperative work by both of them. A goldfish pond with a sculptured angel by Mrs. Carle perched above the water, a patio, and a larger than life-size frog, made from cement by Mrs. C., are do-it-yourself additions to the garden.

The kitchen, whether for the artful party dishes Mae Carle loves to prepare, or the dainty and unique paintings, is the center of the household.

"I'm afraid my husband has missed some home cooked dinners because of my hobby," she apologized, "when I had to go out of town to get supplies." Bringing up the subject of the artist's starving husband.

MR. CARLE, who is with F. B. Matthews and Co., Inc., is in favor of his wife's hobby. He helped her recently to select the first of the 200 pictures to be framed for the current exhibit at the Woodstock Gift Box.

Their son, who is in partnership in RCH Letter Service Inc., in New York city, and daughter urge Mrs. Carle to "get out more" now that she has the opportunity.

But there's always something to be painted in the house, or some new idea that must be made into a painting, keeping her as busy now as when she held yearly exhibits at her home.

SHE PROVES that a real interest in a worthwhile hobby can grow along with a family for a housewife as talented and efficient as Mae Carle.

OVERSENSITIVE TO COLDS

Today's first letter asks: "When a friend has a cold and comes and sits next to me, would it be considered rude to ask that person please not to come so close, or must I, in order to be polite, say nothing and risk catching her cold? When I get a cold I really am laid low for several days, so I try to avoid coming in close contact with anyone who has a cold."

There's no objection to your saying regretfully, "Please don't get so close; I catch cold so very easily."

Unusual Wedding Plan

Dear Mrs. Post: I am planning a wedding breakfast for about one-hundred guests after a ten o'clock nuptial Mass. The breakfast will be at one o'clock at a hotel. Mother would like the guests to come to our house from eleven-thirty to twelve-thirty for cocktails and also to see the wedding presents before going on to the hotel for the wedding breakfast. My problem is how to word the reception invitations so that guests will know that they are expected to come to the house before going to the hotel for the wedding breakfast. Will you please help me as I must order my wedding invitations soon?

Answer: The only thing I know to suggest is to have the invitations to the reception read as follows:

Breakfast
at one o'clock

and then in the lower left hand corner say:

Immediately following ceremony presents will be on display at 22 Main St.

A Tipping Question

Dear Mrs. Post: The other day I went to the beauty shop to which I always go for a permanent wave. My regular operator was busy when I arrived and so she asked one of the other girls to shampoo my hair while she finished her other customer. I would like to know if I should have given her a separate tip?

Answer: Yes, she should have been given the tip customary for a shampoo to which no other attention is added.

MRS. JASON CARLE shows a large landscape with smaller paintings all by her, in the living room of her home at 157 Henry street. (Freeman photo)

By MARIANNE DAVIS

An attractive, bright kitchen is the workshop in painting as well as culinary art for Mrs. Jason Carle of 157 Henry street. Recently remodeled to obtain light from a double window with a northern exposure, the kitchen-studio divides the section destined for palate from that drawn from the palette.

"I don't like pastel colors," said Mrs. Carle, a youthful grandmother dressed in well tailored plum slacks and mustard artist's smock, "as you can see by the kitchen."

THE SPATTER LINOLEUM colors were reflected in the wedgewood blue and bright coral of the walls with the white trim for effect. Wood backed chairs which belonged to Mrs. Carle's mother, were painted antique black with hand painted design, two with wedgewood blue cane seats, two with coral.

But the window focuses on Mrs. Carle's favorite spot—a long counter, adjustable up or down, covered with paintings, which is her work table.

At present, her work is preparing raised oil paintings on velvet, and many flower miniatures for an exhibit in Woodstock. An entire wall in the living room is covered with others of the more than 200 landscapes and nature paintings completed by Mrs. Carle in the course of many years.

As this talented housewife explains, an invalid mother required constant attention for 23 years, with this confinement leading Mrs. Carle to picking up her girlhood interest in art. Working in oils since she was 14, Mrs. Carle studied china painting with Miss O'Connor here in this city, and taught art courses as well.

DELICATE TONES of bone china in dessert dish sets, the results of Mrs. Carle's experiments in china painting, were evident in the display in her spacious dining room. Also on view were boxes and boxes of hand-painted stationery, in various sizes for note papers.

Her interest in experimenting in all forms of art led to "antiquing" black trays with the popular floral designs, and to the aforementioned plastic on furniture. Artistic touches are in all parts of the Carle home, such as the carved woodpecker saucily perched on the kitchen door.

"He used to peck when you pulled the cord," explained Mrs. Carle, "but the children broke the mechanism." The children are the two sons of her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Jason Connelly Carle of New Jersey, and the two year old son of her daughter and husband, Mrs. Virginiamae Schantz, and Robert Schantz, of this city.

WHEN THE YOUNGSTERS visit their grandparents, they don't have to be coaxed to nap in the nursery. Mrs. Carle's artistic touch has provided a brightly painted room, with cut-down furniture. The crib has animal paintings on it, which must be narrated before naptime. Even the door and an antique chest have amusing figures painted on them for the children's delight.

Her own two children were taught never to disturb the wet paintings or materials, and so far, the grandsons are behaving beautifully, following their parents' examples.

The Carle's garden is also the result of planning by Mrs. Carle, and cooperative work by both of them. A goldfish pond with a sculptured angel by Mrs. Carle perched above the water, a patio, and a larger than life-size frog, made from cement by Mrs. C., are do-it-yourself additions to the garden.

The kitchen, whether for the artful party dishes Mae Carle loves to prepare, or the dainty and unique paintings, is the center of the household.

"I'm afraid my husband has missed some home cooked dinners because of my hobby," she apologized, "when I had to go out of town to get supplies." Bringing up the subject of the artist's starving husband.

MR. CARLE, who is with F. B. Matthews and Co., Inc., is in favor of his wife's hobby. He helped her recently to select the first of the 200 pictures to be framed for the current exhibit at the Woodstock Gift Box.

Their son, who is in partnership in RCH Letter Service Inc., in New York city, and daughter urge Mrs. Carle to "get out more" now that she has the opportunity.

But there's always something to be painted in the house, or some new idea that must be made into a painting, keeping her as busy now as when she held yearly exhibits at her home.

SHE PROVES that a real interest in a worthwhile hobby can grow along with a family for a housewife as talented and efficient as Mae Carle.

Norwegian Girl Scout, County Senior Scouts Are Guests at Woodstock Dinner Meeting

Appearing in the official navy blue Girl Scout uniform of Norway, Kari Storhaug, guest Senior Scout, exchange student now studying at Kingston High School, and a member of her Girl Scout troop of Aalesund, Norway, spoke to the members of the Ulster County Girl Scout Board of Directors at a dinner meeting held at the Dutch Reformed Church in Woodstock, Monday, Nov. 1.

Describing her uniform, Kari displayed a series of white star emblems explaining that "each star represents one year's membership in a troop." Pointing to a green star among the series, she said, "This is a special award given to every Girl Scout who attends troop meetings for four years."

Speaking on organization Kari told the group that the Girl Scout organization in Norway is similar to the movement in the United States. Girls between the ages of 7 and 10 engage in Scout activities as Brownies while girls between the ages of 10 and 17 advance in the program from Intermediates to Senior Scouts. "In my country there are three degrees in Scouting," Kari continued. The first or final degree is taken when a girl bceomes 14 years of age. The third or initial degree centers around the Scout promise, laws, patriotism and general skills and service, she explained.

THE FOLLOWING TWO degrees encompass the knowledge and skills required to obtain proficiency badges. These are sought in many areas of interest such as agriculture, community life, arts and crafts, international friendship, homemaking, literature, drama, music and nature, out-of-doors, sports and games.

"Camping is the general favorite," Kari said. Girl Scouts in Norway engage in primitive camping away from home. Kari recalled camping once with an encampment of 2,000 girls. "It was a big experience for me," she mused.

In 1952, Kari was chosen as one of the Girl Scout representatives from her country to participate in an encampment held in conjunction with the World Conference held at Dombaas, Norway.

"There were 165 Girl Scouts and we met people from many countries of the world," she said. It was during this conference that Kari was awarded the American Friendship pin and had the honor of meeting personally Lady Agnes Baden-Powell, founder of the Girl Guide movement in England.

DEMONSTRATING HER loyalty to the American Field Service who annually sponsor the educational program of numerous students brought from foreign lands to study in the United States, Kari briefly outlined its history. The American Field Service began as a volunteer ambulance corps in 1914, serving throughout the first World War years.

Following the war, the service championed the movement to bring college students to the United States for further study. The underlying purpose of this movement was the desire to foster a lasting peace among nations of the world through education leading to enlightenment and understanding.

In 1948, the American Field Service broadened the scope of the educational program to include teen-agers. During the current year, 444 teen-age students from eighteen different countries are being sponsored by the American Field Service. Six of the 37 Norwegian students participating in the program were selected from the Aalesund school system. "Our head master was so proud," Kari said.

Carolyn Stark, of New Paltz, as guest Senior Scout, gave her impressions of the Hendrik Hudson Regional Conference of the Girl Scouts of U.S.A. held recently at the Hotel Statler, Buffalo. Carolyn was the first Senior Scout selected from Ulster county to represent the Council, as Senior Scout delegate, at a regional conference. The selection was made upon the basis of Carolyn's record in Scouting and her accomplishment in the completion of the requirements for the Senior Five-Point Program.

"One of the highlights of the regional conference for me," Carolyn said "was participation in the Training for Citizenship discussion group because Muriel King was there!" Muriel King was the Senior Scout chosen to go to the Chalet last year, located on the slope of a mountain in Adelboden, Switzerland. At the Chalet, Guides and Scouts from all over the world come together to meet each other and to enjoy excursions, mountain climbing and winter sports. One Senior Scout is selected by the National Girl Scout organization to represent the United States at the Chalet each year.

The Citizenship Training discussion group was directed by Miss Anne Grahn, of the Girl Scout National Staff. Dr. Anne P. Burrell, professor of education of the Buffalo State Teachers College, headed the assisting panel of consultants on which Muriel King, Senior Scout, was a participant.

SENIOR SCOUTS attending the conference were interested in the Senior Round-Up for 1956, which will be the first venture of the National Girl Scout organization in an encampment for Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. on a nation-wide scale, and the largest ever held, with about four to five thousand girls and adults from every state and territory in the United States.

The Round-Up will be held from June 29 to July 11 in 1956, at the Highland State Recreation Area, 40 miles northwest of Detroit, Mich. The theme of the Round-Up will center around Americana; the folklore, folk songs and dances of the United States. In preparation for the encampment, Girl Scout troops all over the nation with either enrolled Senior Scouts or girls nearing Senior Scout age will revise their programs during 1955-56 to include research of their own regional heritage.

Each Girl Scout Council will be entitled to sponsor one Senior Scout for every nine Senior girls registered. The purpose of the Round-Up is to give the Senior Girl Scouts throughout the country and opportunity to know each other and to enjoy and use on a large scale the skills, resourcefulness and techniques of living democracy which they have learned in Girl Scouting.

"TO PREPARE OUR own senior Girl Scouts for their candidacy for the Senior Round-Up, we must have a good camping program in our county," Carolyn concluded.

Senior Girl Scouts of Pleasantville have extended an informal invitation to all Senior Scouts of Ulster county to join with them in a joint camping experience at their camp. Members of the Ulster County Girl Scout Council program committee voiced strong approval of the newly suggested plans of the Senior Scouts for exchange camping. They will endorse like activities for Senior Scouts of the local and neighboring Councils at Camp Wendy, Ulster County Girl Scout camp at Wallkill.

Immediately following, Miss Libbie Lee entertained the Senior Scout guest speakers at her home in Woodstock. Friends in Scouting joined the group informally.

During the board meeting, Mrs. Kenneth Martin, county director, and Mrs. Donovan F. Buehring, council president, sketched briefly and informally other highlights of the Hendrik Hudson Regional Conference.

Nearly 2,000 delegates, composed of adults and Senior Scouts, were in attendance during the three-day session at the Hotel Statler. Representatives from New York, New Jersey, Puerto Rico, Panama Canal Zone and the Virgin Islands, which comprise Region 2, were present.

THE PURPOSES of the conference were three-fold: for informal inspiration and fellowship; for the interpretation of the objectives, projects and planning of the region; and for the interpretation on national emphasis and the region's role in their promotion and development.

"Our children, the future of America and the world, are our greatest concern," was the underlying thought of the discussion groups, and the addresses by National Staff personnel and lay people during the three days.

The tone of the entire conference, centered around a faith in Girl Scouts of the nation, was summarized in the keynote address given by Dr. Harvey M. Roce, president of Buffalo State Teachers College, during the morning of the opening session. He said: "You believe in the perfectability of people and that the world grows better through human efforts and God's grace. You believe that honesty, courage, sympathy, and love are desirable characteristics to be taught and learned. That is why you are at this meeting, and that is why Girl Scouting is a 'Growing Force for Freedom.'"

Parents Day Held At State College

The State University Teachers College at New Paltz was host to 375 parents of entering students at the sixth annual Parents Day, Saturday, Oct. 30. The day is designed to help parents become better acquainted with the college, its staff, and particularly with the faculty counselor of their son or daughter.

Parents were conducted on tours of the college buildings during the morning, and many had luncheon with their children in the college dining rooms. In the late afternoon, President and Mrs. William J. Haggerty were hosts at a tea and reception for all entering students and their parents.

Appearing in the official navy blue Girl Scout uniform of Norway, Kari Storhaug, guest Senior Scout, exchange student now studying at Kingston High School, and a member of her Girl Scout troop of Aalesund, Norway, spoke to the members of the Ulster County Girl Scout Board of Directors at a dinner meeting held at the Dutch Reformed Church in Woodstock, Monday, Nov. 1.

Describing her uniform, Kari displayed a series of white star emblems explaining that "each star represents one year's membership in a troop." Pointing to a green star among the series, she said, "This is a special award given to every Girl Scout who attends troop meetings for four years."

Speaking on organization Kari told the group that the Girl Scout organization in Norway is similar to the movement in the United States. Girls between the ages of 7 and 10 engage in Scout activities as Brownies while girls between the ages of 10 and 17 advance in the program from Intermediates to Senior Scouts. "In my country there are three degrees in Scouting," Kari continued. The first or final degree is taken when a girl bceomes 14 years of age. The third or initial degree centers around the Scout promise, laws, patriotism and general skills and service, she explained.

THE FOLLOWING TWO degrees encompass the knowledge and skills required to obtain proficiency badges. These are sought in many areas of interest such as agriculture, community life, arts and crafts, international friendship, homemaking, literature, drama, music and nature, out-of-doors, sports and games.

"Camping is the general favorite," Kari said. Girl Scouts in Norway engage in primitive camping away from home. Kari recalled camping once with an encampment of 2,000 girls. "It was a big experience for me," she mused.

In 1952, Kari was chosen as one of the Girl Scout representatives from her country to participate in an encampment held in conjunction with the World Conference held at Dombaas, Norway.

"There were 165 Girl Scouts and we met people from many countries of the world," she said. It was during this conference that Kari was awarded the American Friendship pin and had the honor of meeting personally Lady Agnes Baden-Powell, founder of the Girl Guide movement in England.

DEMONSTRATING HER loyalty to the American Field Service who annually sponsor the educational program of numerous students brought from foreign lands to study in the United States, Kari briefly outlined its history. The American Field Service began as a volunteer ambulance corps in 1914, serving throughout the first World War years.

Following the war, the service championed the movement to bring college students to the United States for further study. The underlying purpose of this movement was the desire to foster a lasting peace among nations of the world through education leading to enlightenment and understanding.

In 1948, the American Field Service broadened the scope of the educational program to include teen-agers. During the current year, 444 teen-age students from eighteen different countries are being sponsored by the American Field Service. Six of the 37 Norwegian students participating in the program were selected from the Aalesund school system. "Our head master was so proud," Kari said.

Carolyn Stark, of New Paltz, as guest Senior Scout, gave her impressions of the Hendrik Hudson Regional Conference of the Girl Scouts of U.S.A. held recently at the Hotel Statler, Buffalo. Carolyn was the first Senior Scout selected from Ulster county to represent the Council, as Senior Scout delegate, at a regional conference. The selection was made upon the basis of Carolyn's record in Scouting and her accomplishment in the completion of the requirements for the Senior Five-Point Program.

"One of the highlights of the regional conference for me," Carolyn said "was participation in the Training for Citizenship discussion group because Muriel King was there!" Muriel King was the Senior Scout chosen to go to the Chalet last year, located on the slope of a mountain in Adelboden, Switzerland. At the Chalet, Guides and Scouts from all over the world come together to meet each other and to enjoy excursions, mountain climbing and winter sports. One Senior Scout is selected by the National Girl Scout organization to represent the United States at the Chalet each year.

The Citizenship Training discussion group was directed by Miss Anne Grahn, of the Girl Scout National Staff. Dr. Anne P. Burrell, professor of education of the Buffalo State Teachers College, headed the assisting panel of consultants on which Muriel King, Senior Scout, was a participant.

SENIOR SCOUTS attending the conference were interested in the Senior Round-Up for 1956, which will be the first venture of the National Girl Scout organization in an encampment for Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. on a nation-wide scale, and the largest ever held, with about four to five thousand girls and adults from every state and territory in the United States.

The Round-Up will be held from June 29 to July 11 in 1956, at the Highland State Recreation Area, 40 miles northwest of Detroit, Mich. The theme of the Round-Up will center around Americana; the folklore, folk songs and dances of the United States. In preparation for the encampment, Girl Scout troops all over the nation with either enrolled Senior Scouts or girls nearing Senior Scout age will revise their programs during 1955-56 to include research of their own regional heritage.

Each Girl Scout Council will be entitled to sponsor one Senior Scout for every nine Senior girls registered. The purpose of the Round-Up is to give the Senior Girl Scouts throughout the country and opportunity to know each other and to enjoy and use on a large scale the skills, resourcefulness and techniques of living democracy which they have learned in Girl Scouting.

"TO PREPARE OUR own senior Girl Scouts for their candidacy for the Senior Round-Up, we must have a good camping program in our county," Carolyn concluded.

Senior Girl Scouts of Pleasantville have extended an informal invitation to all Senior Scouts of Ulster county to join with them in a joint camping experience at their camp. Members of the Ulster County Girl Scout Council program committee voiced strong approval of the newly suggested plans of the Senior Scouts for exchange camping. They will endorse like activities for Senior Scouts of the local and neighboring Councils at Camp Wendy, Ulster County Girl Scout camp at Wallkill.

Immediately following, Miss Libbie Lee entertained the Senior Scout guest speakers at her home in Woodstock. Friends in Scouting joined the group informally.

During the board meeting, Mrs. Kenneth Martin, county director, and Mrs. Donovan F. Buehring, council president, sketched briefly and informally other highlights of the Hendrik Hudson Regional Conference.

Nearly 2,000 delegates, composed of adults and Senior Scouts, were in attendance during the three-day session at the Hotel Statler. Representatives from New York, New Jersey, Puerto Rico, Panama Canal Zone and the Virgin Islands, which comprise Region 2, were present.

THE PURPOSES of the conference were three-fold: for informal inspiration and fellowship; for the interpretation of the objectives, projects and planning of the region; and for the interpretation on national emphasis and the region's role in their promotion and development.

"Our children, the future of America and the world, are our greatest concern," was the underlying thought of the discussion groups, and the addresses by National Staff personnel and lay people during the three days.

The tone of the entire conference, centered around a faith in Girl Scouts of the nation, was summarized in the keynote address given by Dr. Harvey M. Roce, president of Buffalo State Teachers College, during the morning of the opening session. He said: "You believe in the perfectability of people and that the world grows better through human efforts and God's grace. You believe that honesty, courage, sympathy, and love are desirable characteristics to be taught and learned. That is why you are at this meeting, and that is why Girl Scouting is a 'Growing Force for Freedom.'"

Appreciation Group Continues Study of Greek Drama, Music

The Music Appreciation Group of the Woman's Club of the YWCA met Nov. 4 at the home of Mrs. William Petry in Hurley.

The topic was presented by Mrs. Henry Millonig and was a follow up of the topic two weeks ago, Greek Drama and Music.

According to Mrs. Millonig, the Christian Era of 500 had its Gregorian Chants and in 1500 Galileo's Son wrote Bible stories set to music, later called Oratorios. In the Christian Era, she said, the church was supreme. Other arts were discouraged, aside from music which was voice, mostly chanting style. In parts of Greece, drama was required until the age of 30 years.

Mrs. Millonig added, "Nero put suits of armor on the choralers leading his troops into battle while expecting them to fight, but they fled," she said. She continued, "30 years of war took 60 per cent of the population. Recovery took 500 years. In 1500, the Bible stories set to music were to interest the peasants in joining the church. The harpiscord and stringed instruments were introduced as was the seven-tone scale."

The topic leader said Vivaldi, the celebrated violinist and music director in the 1600s, was a priest while Virtuosi Di Romo, with Renato Fasano and Italian Baraque Music, Societa Corelli with Luisa Ribacchi, Mezza Soprano, were the recordings used.

Tea was served after the program. Mrs. Charles Brandt was co-hostess and Mrs. William Jackson poured.

Irene Jasienowski, Albert L. Pedersen Wed in Saugerties

Miss Irene Marie Jasienowski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Jasienowski Sr., of Ulster avenue, Saugerties, was united in marriage to Albert Lee Pedersen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ras. Pedersen of Menasha, Wis., Sunday, Nov. 7, at 2 p. m.

The double ring ceremony was performed at St. Mary's Church by the Rev. Matthew F. Mulloy, assistant pastor.

The sanctuary was decorated with pompons. Miss Marilyn Winnie, soloist of Saugerties, rendered Ave Maria to the accompaniment of Mrs. William Plimley, organist, who also played the traditional wedding refrains.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a full length gown of satin and lace with fitted bodice, scalloped princess collar, long pointed sleeves, full skirt and long train. Her headpiece consisted of a seed pearl tiara which supported a fingertip veil and she carried a bouquet of white roses and baby's breath.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Florence Cokinos of Hightstown, N. J., was attired in a strapless orchid gown of satin and net with fitted bodice, full length net skirt and matching stole and picture hat. Her bouquet consisted of pompons.

The bridesmaids who were similarly attired included Miss Patricia Moriarty of Holyoke, Mass., in a blue gown; Mrs. June Jasienowski, Jr., of Saugerties, in an aqua gown; Miss Sarah Ferry of Chicago, in a shrimp colored gown; and Miss Ellen Igoe of Saugerties in a pink gown.

Brother of the bride, Theodore Jasienowski served as best man. Ushers included Andrew Jasienowski Jr., Joseph Maines, both of Saugerties; Alfred Dellappinna, of Holyoke, Mass., and Rodney Williams of Kingston. All the men in the bridal party wore stroller outfits.

Andrea Jones of Kingston served as flower girl and she wore an orchid dress and carried a basket of pompons.

Rodney Williams Jr., of Kingston served as ring bearer and his attire was similar to that of the ushers.

A reception for 100 guests was held at the VFW Hall on Livingston street, Saugerties.

For the wedding journey to Wisconsin the bride chose for her traveling ensemble a green knitted suit with brown accessories and a corsage of roses.

The bride, a graduate of Hightstown High School in Highstown, N. J., is presently serving with the U. S. Marine Corps in Norfolk, Va.

The bridegroom, a graduate of Menasha High School, Menasha, Wis., was recently discharged from the U. S. Navy.

Helen A. Taylor Phi Delta Member.

Miss Helen Ann Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Taylor of 19 Emerson street, a sophomore at the New York State College for Teachers at Albany, was recently initiated into Phi Delta, a social sorority, on the campus.

Miss Taylor is registered for a BSC degree with a major in commerce and a minor in French.

Linda Sue Doyle Honored at Party

Miss Linda Sue Doyle, daughter of Pfc. and Mrs. Matthew Doyle of Port Ewen, was guest of honor at a family dinner party Sunday at the home of her parents on Schryver street, Port Ewen, in celebration of her first birthday.

Guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Hubert DuBois and son, Warren Jon; Mr. and Mrs. Angus Doyle and son, Ronnie Bruce; Mrs. B. Robert Doyle, Sr., Mrs. Matthew Fowler, Miss Gertrude Schiskey and Mrs. Matthew Doyle, all of Port Ewen.

Also Mrs. B. Robert Doyle, Jr., Mrs. Edward McGowan, Miss Mary Anne McGowan and F. Leslie Garrison of Kingston.

Appreciation Group Continues Study of Greek Drama, Music

The Music Appreciation Group of the Woman's Club of the YWCA met Nov. 4 at the home of Mrs. William Petry in Hurley.

The topic was presented by Mrs. Henry Millonig and was a follow up of the topic two weeks ago, Greek Drama and Music.

According to Mrs. Millonig, the Christian Era of 500 had its Gregorian Chants and in 1500 Galileo's Son wrote Bible stories set to music, later called Oratorios. Lanolin Plus Can Make Any Skin Softer, Smoother and Younger-Looking Overnight

If you are young, you will have a smoother, softer, easier-to-make-up skin overnight. If you are older, you will lose all skin dryness overnight—never to return again as long as you keep up this delightful treatment. Your lines and "Crow's Feet" will soften and fade. Your make-up, too, over your new, smoother skin, will then give you a more youthful look.

One of the most significant moments of any woman's life occurs the day she looks into her mirror to see a tiny network of lines beginning to etch its way into her precious complexion. Those little lines tell her, as nothing else can, that the firm, supple skin of her youth is giving way to the dry, not-so-attractive complexion of an added year.

Time was, when such knowledge brought either panic or quiet resignation. Today, it's a different story. For with the progress of science, a way has at last been found to postpone the arrival of age-lines indefinitely, or to alleviate age signs that have already begun to form.

A "Miracle" Solution Is Discovered

It all began with a modern study of skin. What makes it softly silken? What makes it lose that envied quality? Scientists discovered that in youth, certain softening substances, known as cholesterols and esters, are found in the skin in adequate abundance. But as years roll on, nature more often than not becomes sluggish. Fewer of these important youth-keeping elements are manufactured by the body. And even worse . . . a frightening amount of lubricants are stolen away from the skin every day by wind, water, weather. Little wonder the complexion becomes dry and parched . . . a regular nesting place for ugly lines and "crow's feet!"

Having discovered an important cause of dry skin and its sad results, science set about to find relief. A solution was finally discovered that not only contained pure lanolin with its abundance of youthifying cholesterols and esters . . . but which presented those substances in a way that would penetrate skin of any age. Known as LANOLIN PLUS Liquid, this solution actually improves complexions overnight because it penetrates. It smooths the surface, then penerates, to supply the skin with needed lubricants. Dryness noticeably diminishes. A fresh, moist look appears. And as the skin becomes more silky and supple with continued treatment, "crow's feet" and other lines become softer and less noticeable.

The Time Is Now...No Matter What Your Age!

If your skin is still young and soft-textured, now is the time to protect that beauty . . . to help keep that youthful glow indefinitely. Nightly applications of LANOLIN PLUS Liquid offer a new supply of the lubricants lost daily . . . postpone indefinitely the onset of dry skin with its disfiguring lines. And in the meantime, this skin-loving lubricant brings new dewy freshness to even the youngest of skins!

If You Are 30 Or Older

If tiny lines have just begun to trace themselves around your eyes, mouth . . . on your forehead, don't let them make further headway! LANOLIN PLUS Liquid, applied nightly, and used as a powder base during the day—keeps your complexion in constant contact with these valuable, lubricating cholesterols and esters.

Older skins, too, are vastly improved by conscientious daily applications of LANOLIN PLUS Liquid. This softening substance helps prevent aging lines and "crow's feet" from etching themselves deeply into the complexion. Instead, as the skin becomes smoother and more elastic looking, lines seem to blend into the general softness . . . become delicate accents instead of harsh deliniations.

How To Reap the Greatest Benefits From Amazing Lanolin Plus Liquid

Use the pleasant lemon-colored liquid tonight, to remove every speck of make-up. LANOLIN PLUS Liquid actually penerates the pores, helps flush out stale cosmetics. Then massage a few drops of Liquid into your skin just before retiring. Blot off excess. Your skin will feel dewy-smooth as a baby's.

A few drops of LANOLIN PLUS Liquid, used as a make-up base, keeps your complexion in contact with beneficial cholesterols and esters all day long. And its invisible film protects your skin from drying air and rough, wintry weather.

Warmed slightly, this penetrating solution is excellent as a facial . . . makes the skin tingle with warmth and smooth-skinned freshness.

But no matter when and how you use it, do pamper your skin with LANOLIN PLUS Liquid beginning tonight. Your complexion will be improved next morning after the very first nightly application. You'll actually SEE and FEEL this improvement. Keep it up. In almost no time at all, find your friends green with envy over your new looks. Only a dollar plus tax wherever cosmetics are sold.

Without Lacquer, Without a Shampoo See a Miracle Happen to Your Hair in Seconds

A sudden date comes up—your hair is oily, stringy, your curls sagging, loose ends unmanageable — no time for a shampoo — can't get a beauty shop appointment, but here is your life saver. Amazing new "Sudden Date" by LANOLIN PLUS! Simply spray it through your hair and you'll brush out the dirt, oiliness and stringiness.

Your curls will tighten and your hair will sparkle because "Sudden Date" contains magic silicones. $1.25 plus tax.

You'll Suddenly Seem to Have Grown An Entirely New and Flawless Skin

You will be startled when you see yourself—your friends will be startled when they see YOU—and Oh! how envious they will be!

LANOLIN PLUS Liquid Make-Up really covers the sins of skin. Those tiny lines and imperfections you so thoroughly hate, vanish from sight. So amazing is the covering power of this heavenly liquid, you could, if you wished, use a shade lighter than your own skin and still have a perfect new-skin look. And because it contains LANOLIN PLUS, it beauty-treats your skin every second you wear it. $1 plus tax.

Be a Smoothie All Over From Top to Toe and Feel Better Dressed (Your Girdle Slips on Easier, Too)

Every square inch of you will feel silky-smooth when you caress yourself with this lanolin-rich body lotion — after your bath. LANOLIN PLUS Body Lotion imparts a softness and exquisite loveliness that is entirely new. The large 12-ounce bottle is only $1.50 plus tax.

The Brightest News In Lipstick Comes From LANOLIN PLUS

The perfect lipstick for the new fashion in faces is the wonderful new LANOLIN PLUS Lipstick. It draws a clean line with ease and is as lasting as you want lipstick to be. It also contains real LANOLIN PLUS—for real lip softness. The shades are just right — as fashion-right as fashion-right can be, and extra bright. Expect your lips to be stared at . . . and envied when you wear it. $1 plus tax in a case you'll be proud to take out of your purse.

New Kind of Shampoo

Also Beauty Treatment for Hair

New Twinkling Lustre, New Softness to the Touch with LANOLIN PLUS Shampoo

It is one thing to keep your hair and scalp clean and fresh, but quite another to keep it supplied with substances that make your hair manageable and glistening. LANOLIN PLUS Shampoo does both. LANOLIN PLUS Shampoo, $1.

You Can Have Softer Hands Than He Ever Held Before

No one need ever know that you do your own work. You see LANOLIN PLUS Hand Lotion provides your hands with an extra abundance of the softening cholesterols and esters that exposure and work remove. There is no way to hide hands, you know. They are always in evidence. Therefore, by using LANOLIN PLUS Hand Lotion, you keep your hands in such condition that they don't have to be hidden. $1 plus tax.

This New Liquid Cleanser Softens As It Cleanses

The fresh, clean feel of your skin after its first cleansing with this creamy liquid will make you promise yourself that you'll never again bother with harsh cleansing methods. For LANOLIN PLUS Liquid Cleanser, with its base of esters and cholesterols, penetrates your skin and softens as it cleanses. $1 plus tax.

Dry, Unmanageable Hair No Longer Necessary

Too often the highlights and softness meant for your hair are stolen by harsh hair treatments, water and the drying effects that come from exposure. If your hair is dull, dry and unmanageable, it will surely welcome the refreshing, softening influence of LANOLIN PLUS For The Hair. Only $1 plus tax.

NEW BABY OIL

Gives Complete Comfort to Baby So You and Your Husband Get More Sleep

The first baby oil to be enriched with LANOLIN PLUS, it guards as it gently soothes. Smooth it on after every diaper change to keep baby comfortable. $1 wherever cosmetics are sold.

Good News for You Who Prefer Cleansing Cream

Now you have a cleansing cream that offers your skin a new supply of cholesterols and esters. But this wonderful softening action is not at the expense of cleansing thoroughness. LANOLIN PLUS Cleansing Cream For Dry Skin seems to dig out every tiny speck of dirt. $1 plus tax wherever cosmetics are sold.

LIBRARY POPULAR WITH PUPILS—The library at Campus School is popular with young pupils who find books there selected for their educational needs and reading entertainment.

NEW PALTZ NEWS

Good Books Goal Of Promotion for Three-Day Period

New Paltz, Nov. 10—With the celebration of Book Week this year, the Campus School Parents-Faculty Organization again is happy to add its contribution to the national event and to it's own community, the Campus School Book Fair, November 16 through 19, 8:30 a. m. to 4 p. m. daily.

The first consideration of the committee and the chairman of this year's fair is the promotion of interest and increase in numbers of people who learn both the inner satisfaction and pleasure and profit that comes with knowing and owning good books.

As chairman of the fair this year, Mrs. George Bond has selected as her committee: Mrs. Clifford Van Valkenburgh, inventory; Miss Ruth Walker, sorting and arranging; Mrs. John Jacobson, sales; Mrs. Leonard O'Hara, publicity; Mrs. John Harrison, posters; Mrs. Keith Smiley, Junior High sales; Mrs. Louis Salkever, display; Mrs. James Cooper, telephoning; Mrs. Robert Long, college library display; Mrs. John Glancy, interschool committee. Besides this basic committee there will be teachers, parents and students working together to make this a success.

SEVERAL COPIES of each book selection will be available and a book to suit every interest and satisfy every demand. Provision also will be made to order additional books of any desired on display, and if you have any specific book in mind that you would like to have ordered notify Mrs. Bond and she may be able to obtain it for you.

Parents acting as salespeople and cashiers will be on hand at all times to assist the children and to help them in selecting the book of their choice. Teachers will make available time for each classroom to visit the fair during some part of the school day during the fair so that each child will have the chance to browse through and be able to take home to their parents the list of books they desire.

THIS PROJECT is sponsored and put on by the parents of the community in cooperation with the Campus School and Miss Ruth Walker, librarian, faculty, and students of college and the Campus School, to provide the children of New Paltz and surrounding areas the opportunity to have access, to see, examine and to acquire one of the best mediums of pleasure and education.

To stimulate reading interest, to satisfy a need for your child to possess and enjoy good reading material, to make some youngster happy with a gift, be sure to visit the book fair.

Kerk League Puts Up Booths for Fair

New Paltz, Nov. 10 — The Kerk League of the Reformed Church met Tuesday evening in the Century Room of the church. The meeting, which was originally to be held at the home of Mrs. Henry Mertz, was held at the church so that all members could set up the booths for the Christmas Fair, which is November 10.

The Rev. Gerrett Wullschleger spoke to the group following a short business meeting.

Members on the refreshment committee were Mrs. Alfred Jensen, Mrs. Robert Corey, Mrs. Gus Strakels, Mrs. William George, and Mrs. Earl Harp.

Drivers Warned Of Six Safety Winter Habits

Albany, Nov. 10—Motor Vehicle Commissioner James R. Macduff today urged the State's six million licensed drivers to "winterproof" driving habits as well as motor vehicles in anticipation of approaching seasonal hazards of the highway.

He announced six basic safe driving rules for winter operation, as follows:

GET THE "FEEL" OF THE ROAD. Try brakes while driving slowly and away from traffic to test road surfaces. Adjust speed to road and weather conditions.

KEEP WINDSHIELD clear of ice, snow, fog and frost. Check windshield wiper blades, headlights and defroster for top operation.

USE TIRE CHAINS and good tires. Chains cut stopping distances in half on snow or ice. Even with chains, cut speeds sharply on slippery roads.

PUMP YOUR BRAKES to slow down or stop. Jamming brakes on can start dangerous skids.

FOLLOW OTHER VEHICLES at a safe distance. Give yourself plenty of stopping room.

ACCEPT RESPONSIBILITY. Do everything in your power to avoid accidents. Don't blame the weatherman. Be prepared for winter driving conditions.

Commissioner Macduff said the six rules were developed by the National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards following research and actual driving tests.

"Actually," he said "the rules are simply a matter of common sense. Adherence to them at all times will save many lives and injuries this coming winter."

Commissioner Macduff said that pedestrians must also recognize added responsibilities for their safety in winter because drivers can't stop their cars as quickly and can't see as clearly as in other seasons of the year.

He cited reduced visibility, inadequate traction and temperature changes as the chief seasonal hazards which motorists must anticipate and overcome by "preventive action."

One out of six fatal motor vehicle accidents occur in rainy, snowy or foggy weather. One out of four occur on roads which are wet, muddy, snow-covered or icy.

THE MARQUEE

T.V. — STAGE — RADIO — RECORDS — PEOPLE

By DICK KLEINER

Making games out of television programs is getting to be big business. There are commercially marketed games based on "Beat the Clock," "Swayze," "Down You Go" and now there's one coming called "Masquerade Party."

I'm waiting for a game based on "Stop the Music," with real money in each box.

A powerful acting foursome—Alfred Lunt, Lynn Fontaane, Brian Aherne, Edna Best—ornament Noel Coward's "Quadrille." So do delightful costumes and scenery created by Cecil Beaton. The producers got the finest actors and scenery money can buy, but when it's all done, it's like a beautifully prepared, well-seasoned mashed potato. It's still a mashed potato.

Margaret Sullivan laughingly recalls her first Broadway part. She read for it when she had a cold, and the producer hired her because she sounded like Ethel Barrymore. She wanted to preserve that sound, so she walked around until rehearsals started with her coat open during the cold winter so she wouldn't lose her cold.

Sometimes, there's such a thing as having too much talent. Or too many different talents. That's the problem confronting Ronnie Graham, actor, writer, musician, comedian, composer.

At the moment, he's making his living as Ronnie Graham, actor. He's in "The Tender Trap," on Broadway, a comedy about love and stuff. But he was a successful night-club comedian, he wrote much of "New Faces of 1952," he composed songs, he played the piano with jazz combos. And he can't quite decide which of his many talents to concentrate on.

Sheldon Reynolds, who produces "Foreign Intrigue," and "Sherlock Holmes" in Europe, is planning a full-length film. He's already shot enough of his half-hour films to make 62 feature movies, but this will be his first real one and he's excited about it.

"We're going to give ourselves the luxury of time," he says. "The luxury to shoot something over again if we want to. This will be an A-film. No television film can be called A. You can't re-shoot. I think I make as good TV films as anyone, but you'd have to call them B."

Still Fishermen

Fayetteville, N. C. (AP)—Cumberland County Sheriff L. L. Guy and a deputy went fishing and hooked a 200-gallon liquor still. One of their hooks touched a wire leading to a tree on the bank. It was attached to a submerged copper condenser, and still another wire led to other equipment. Sheriff Guy theorized that the operators would run off a quantity of moonshine in the nearby wooded area, then hide the equipment in the pond.

Checked Out

Columbia, S. C. (AP)—Policeman M. J. Walker unhesitatingly turned down a request from a prisoner that the officer cash a check so the man could post bail. The man was being held on check forgery charges.

THE MARQUEE

By DICK KLEINER

Making games out of television programs is getting to be big business. There are commercially marketed games based on "Beat the Clock," "Swayze," "Down You Go" and now there's one coming called "Masquerade Party."

I'm waiting for a game based on "Stop the Music," with real money in each box.

A powerful acting foursome—Alfred Lunt, Lynn Fontanne, Brian Aherne, Edna Best—ornament Noel Coward's "Quadrille." So do delightful costumes and scenery created by Cecil Beaton. The producers got the finest actors and scenery money can buy, but when it's all done, it's like a beautifully prepared, well-seasoned mashed potato. It's still a mashed potato.

Margaret Sullivan laughingly recalls her first Broadway part. She read for it when she had a cold, and the producer hired her because she sounded like Ethel Barrymore. She wanted to preserve that sound, so she walked around until rehearsals started with her coat open during the cold winter so she wouldn't lose her cold.

Sometimes, there's such a thing as having too much talent. Or too many different talents. That's the problem confronting Ronnie Graham, actor, writer, musician, comedian, composer.

At the moment, he's making his living as Ronnie Graham, actor. He's in "The Tender Trap," on Broadway, a comedy about love and stuff. But he was a successful night-club comedian, he wrote much of "New Faces of 1952," he composed songs, he played the piano with jazz combos. And he can't quite decide which of his many talents to concentrate on.

Sheldon Reynolds, who produces "Foreign Intrigue," and "Sherlock Holmes" in Europe, is planning a full-length film. He's already shot enough of his half-hour films to make 62 feature movies, but this will be his first real one and he's excited about it.

"We're going to give ourselves the luxury of time," he says. "The luxury to shoot something over again if we want to. This will be an A-film. No television film can be called A. You can't re-shoot. I think I make as good TV films as anyone, but you'd have to call them B."

Still Fishermen

Fayetteville, N. C. (AP)—Cumberland County Sheriff L. L. Guy and a deputy went fishing and hooked a 200-gallon liquor still. One of their hooks touched a wire leading to a tree on the bank. It was attached to a submerged copper condenser, and still another wire led to other equipment. Sheriff Guy theorized that the operators would run off a quantity of moonshine in the nearby wooded area, then hide the equipment in the pond.

Checked Out

Columbia, S. C. (AP) — Policeman M. J. Walker unhesitatingly turned down a request from a prisoner that the officer cash a check so the man could post bail. The man was being held on check forgery charges.

Safety Meeting

At a meeting of the Ulster County Safety Council Monday, Nov. 15, at 7:30 p. m. in the Ulster County Court house on Wall street, principal speaker will be J. F. Miss Nancy Myers, Glenford Genthner Nuptials Are Held

Miss Nancy Myers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Myers of Bennett avenue, Saugerties, was united in marriage to Glenford W. Genthner Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenford W. Genthner Sr., of Partition street, Saugerties, Saturday, Nov. 6, at 7:30 p. m.

The ceremony was performed in the Evangelical Lutheran Church of Atonement by the Rev. Theodore E. Hammer, pastor.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a blue taffeta dress and corsage of camellias.

Mrs. Stella Higgins served as matron of honor.

Brother of the bridegroom, Richard Genthner, served as best man.

The men in the bridal party wore business suits.

Following the wedding journey to Boston the couple will make their home at 92 Partition street.

Both the bride and bridegroom are graduates of Saugerties High School. The bridegroom, a veteran of the U. S. Army, was discharged last March and is employed with his father as proprietors of the Corner Bakery on Partition street, Saugerties.

City Has Long

Radel noted that the pay of policemen and firemen, and many other workers in the city was "not up to par," and he asked for a provision in the 1955 budget to provide a pay raise for all employes. The resolution was referred to Mayor Stang.

ALDERMAN STORMS said the mayor had already received the letter from Studt, and has considered salary increases. He had also conferred with the police and fire departments, he said, and reported that "serious consideration will be given to all concerned."

Radel, in asking for more street lighting in the Flatbush and Clifton avenue area beyond Colonial Gardens, complained that the BPW light committee has either been lax or politically discriminating. He asked that three lights be placed in the area "immediately."

Storms said that previous administrations had done little or nothing in behalf of better lighting, and referring to the Central Hudson plan, said "we now have a blue print to go by." Alderman Abram D. Relyea, indicated he still felt, much would be up to the committee and the alderman.

"WE CANNOT DECIDE unless we see a map," he said, and he felt that "a couple of places have been overlooked."

Radel said he felt action on lights was needed in the Flatbush avenue region because of a population growth there and Alderman-at-large Kelly, indicated that the city was now aware that it was in a position to not "waste time on anything."

The council voted to authorize City Treasurer Oscar A. Goodsell to borrow such money as might be needed against $96,980.69 due the city from the state. Receipt of the money, he noted, is expected to extend into 1955.

Attorney Abraham Streifer asked cancellation in behalf of Harry Fertel, of 93 West Chestnut street, of a $511.55 special sewer assessment. The request was referred to Corporation Counsel James J. Abernethy. Fertel claims he is on the opposite side of West Chestnut street from that involved in the Dietz Court and Melvin Drive, sewer project, and should not be assessed.

Alderman Radel, in a letter to the mayor, said he had been asked by the Colonial Gardens Mothers' Club for a school patrolman or woman at Farrelly and Stephan streets. A hill there, it said, incited drivers to too high a speed. It was referred to the mayor.

THE ALDERMAN approved appointment of Haskell Jump as maintenance mechanic at Colonial Gardens, after the reading of a letter from Harry Gold, counsel to the Kingston Housing Authority, presenting his qualifications and other information. The salary is $2,800 a year with provision for four annual increments of $100 each.

On recommendation of the railroad and bus committee, the aldermen granted permission to the Mountain View Coach Lines, Inc., to travel over North Front street and Washington avenue, to and from the New York State Thruway.

THE ALDERMEN, approving a report of the traffic control committee, voted to install parking meters on the uptown side of Liberty street from Broadway, on the downtown side of Downs street from Broadway to include the premises occupied by the Kubicek Shoe Repair Shop, and on the uptown side of Downs street from Broadway to include Rienzo's Market. They also favored a stop sign on Post street at West Union.

Radel asked in a resolution that reconsideration be given the establishment of bus service in the third ward. He recalled a petition with 900 signatures previously submitted, and said the population in the area has been growing.

Storms noted that a public hearing was held on the proposal about three years ago and it was then rejected. He foresaw, however, the possibility of a general extension of bus service "in the near future."

ANOTHER RESOLUTION by Radel asked that the police chief be notified of excessive speeding on East Chester street, Clifton and Foxhall avenues, and he asked in another that the New York Central railroad's attention be called to a bad condition at the East Chester street crossing at Jansen avenue. He also asked for repair of Lincoln and Tammany streets, at least temporarily until spring, and that the storm sewer on Emerick street be cleared.

Alderman Arthur Smith, 8th ward, asked for repair of holes in McEntee street, that catch basins be inspected on the street, a one-way sign be placed at Rogers and Adams street, that a no-parking zone be established at the Emery Kelder residence on Adams street, and one in front of the Mrs. Anna Kubicek residence there.

OTHER RESOLUTIONS:

Joseph Wenzel, fourth ward: that a street light be placed at Fourth avenue and Pulaski street, and that a drainage ditch between the Kingston street area and Devil's Lake be opened.

Harry R. Brandt, seventh ward: that a no-parking sign be placed on Union street at the former Kelly undertaking parlor, that bushes be removed on both sides of Hone street, and that an alley between Union and Abeel streets be repaired.

Robert C. Cullum, 12th Ward: that a light be installed at the dead-end area of Murphy street, and one on Cummings avenue.

James J. Turck, fourth ward supervisor, in a letter, asked for a survey in behalf of better street lighting in a populous area northeast of East Chester street. In another letter he asked that something be done about removal of junk at 88-98 Hasbrouck avenue. He said he understood a zoning ruling had been made, and that it was an unleased, city-owned property. Turck also recommended a sign, "Childen at Play," on East Chester street about 25 feet from Hasbrouck avenue.

Alderman Charles J. Cole, claiming that street work had not been done in his ward as promised, threatened not to vote for a forthcoming bond issue for similar work unless his resolutions requesting street work were acknowledged.

Cole said that when the council organized last January, the mayor had promised he would do his best for a harmonious administration, and when street work was discussed he had promised each ward would receive its share. He complained that nothing had been done on Abeel street from Dunn to Hudson street nor on Gilead street.

The aldermen met in the city court room so that Alderman-at-large Kelly, recovering from a recent illness, would not be required to climb the stairs to the council chamber, and before adjournment Kelly thanked them for this consideration.

Special Officer

pervisor Eckert of Esopus seconded.

TURCK REPLIED he had no intention to destroy the rule which he said had been made by the majority party with the intention of bringing matters in caucus which is held prior to each meeting.

There ensued a heated exchange of charges between the two officials as to whether Turck had been asked to present and read the resolution prior to the meeting. Turck said no one at the caucus meeting had asked him to read it.

"Who was it?" asked Martin.

"None of your business," replied Turck.

Chairman Phinney called for roll call.

On the vote the Martin amendment to table the resolution prevailed by a 21 to 9 vote. Martin said his motion was not to amend but a motion to table and the vote was so recorded.

THE RULE which prohibits vote on a resolution calling for an appropriation to be voted upon the same night offered was suspended for the annual session and resolutions calling for an appropriation may now be voted upon the same night offered.

A usual contract between the state and county which authorizes the county to remove snow and ice from the state highways was renewed.

The sum of $700 for the increased salary of the district superintendents in each of the four supervisory districts of the county was voted. In the third supervisory district an additional $350 for expenses of the district superintendent was voted by a 21 to 8 vote.

By resolution unpaid school tax in the county may be assessed together with 7 per cent interest, upon the properties on which such is due and the tax will be collected by levy on the tax roll.

CLERK SNYDER requested all towns to get their town budgets in by Wednesday night and called for a meeting of the budget committee at 10:30 a. m. on Friday and a meeting of the Equalization committee at 2 p. m. that day.

Supervisor Turck called for a report on his request that the taxing of thruway structures be investigated. At the last meeting of the board this matter was also discussed by Turck.

Turck asked why, if the lands of the thruway were not taxable, why business structures such as gas stations and restaurants would not be taxable. He also asked what would happen in case of fire on thruway structures and a local fire department was called. Who would be responsible for injury to men or damage to equipment. He asked whether this would be state, county or thruway responsibility.

THIS BROUGHT a lengthy discussion on the floor which ended only when Supervisor Jesse McHugh moved for adjournment.

Supervisors Relyea, Cook, Eckert, Williams, Bush, Martin and Gaffney entered into the discussion and various answers and explanations were offered.

Relyea said the firemen had been "covered" before and would be covered by insurance now. Cook explained the thruway authority and not the state operated the thruway and he said insurance was provided. Eckert said thruway property was not taxable and said certain fire departments near exits had been requested to cover the thruway property and he also said he believed Turck was "out of order."

Turck replied if the law did not permit taxing thruway property the law should be amended so that towns which had lost valuable assessment might recover.

"See your legislator," said Cook.

Supervisor Eckert said in many instances exempt property owners had agreed to pay the fire tax in towns because they felt the protection was worth such expense.

Supervisor Gaffney asked why the thruway then should not pay fire tax.

Eckert said he referred to churches, etc., and said the state was "different."

Supervisor Williams of Saugerties said that fire district had been asked by the thruway to protect its property in the vicinity of the interchange at Saugerties. He stated in many places there was no access to the thruway. He said the men and equipment would be protected by insurance in case of injury or damage.

Supervisor Bush of the town of Ulster said in his town much property had been taken by the thruway but he felt his town had gained because of it in added assessments. "We have gained more than we lost," said Bush.

"We can charge that to progress and good roads" said Bush referring to the assessment lost through the taking of property for the thruway. In his town the IBM is building a multi-million dollar plant which Thomas J. Watson has said was located in Kingston partly because of the good highway transportation facilities and its nearness to the Thruway.

Supervisor Martin of the 12th ward asked what would happen to city equipment which went outside the city in case of fire. "Find out for me at the next meeting," said Martin looking to Turck.

This brought out a rather personal discussion in which Turck asked if it were not proper for city supervisors to bring city problems to the floor before the county board of supervisors.

Supervisor Eckert thanked Turck for his interest and "diligence and concern" for the towns for loss of taxable properties from their rolls. He said there was no law which prohibited taxable property being put on the tax roll by the town but he said the county board of supervisors had no authority to put property on the roll, that was a town or city duty.

The discussion was brought to a close when adjournment to next Tuesday at 8 o'clock was voted.

going Gov. Thomas E. Dewey to consider fiscal problems and a new formula for the distribution of state subsidies to local school districts.

He said he has made "no commitments—either actual or mental"—on state jobs. Asked about persons now holding appointive jobs under the GOP administration, Harriman said he will "insist on men who are loyal to the fundamental philosophy of the Democratic Party and its platform."

Harriman said that this would "not necessarily" rule out Republicans. He added that—especially in the fields of health, education, social welfare, parks and mental hygiene—some Republicans might well have philosophies similar to those of the Democrats.

the state," Harriman promised: "We will not attempt to deal with problems on a political basis but with action which will be for the benefit of everyone in our state."

"All our dealings will be open to the public," Harriman continued. "All positions I take will be open to the public."

In drawing up the Democratic legislative program, he said, priority will be given to measures to reduce unemployment, meet farm problems, combat juvenile delinquency and control rents.

Harriman, who went over his aims at Albany—some new and some previously announced—said he will have representatives at the state budget hearings which start in Albany next Monday.

Harriman, who held diplomatic and cabinet posts in the New Deal and Fair Deal administrations, said that working with a Republican controlled legislative body will not be new to him.

He recalled that he was secretary of commerce under former President Truman and that Truman and other cabinet members, including himself, were able to win much support from the GOP-controlled 80th Congress.

"I'm prepared," he declared, "and I've had experience working with the Republican party and I am ready to show that I can work with them when they are ready to work together."

Asked yesterday if he would have a chip on his shoulder, Harriman replied:

"Certainlly not—as anyone would say who heard that program. It was just exactly the reverse."

Harriman said one of his first appointments will be a budget director.

Those who attended yesterday's conference with Harriman were Democratic State Chairman Richard H. Balch, State Vice Chairman Angela Parisi; Sen. Francis J. Mahoney, of Manhattan, minority leader of the Senate; Assemblyman Eugene F. Bannigan, of Brooklyn, minority leader of the Assembly; former Air Secretary Thomas K. Finletter, who was chairman of the Citizens Committee for Harriman in the campaign; Bernard Nadel, counsel to the Senate minority leader, and Saul Kaplan, counsel to the Assembly minority leader.

Harriman told newsmen that the conferees considered means of redeeming the promises that he and his running mates made in the Democratic platform and in campaign speeches.

The governor-elect, who had taken a week's post-election rest at his country home in Orange county, said he intends to remain in New York city for some time developing his program. He said there will be more conferences with Democratic leaders on the party's Albany program.

Harriman said he expects to confer, before inauguration, with the chairmen of special state commissions appointed by out-would be made today for inspection of voting books needed in an investigation of alleged vote frauds in several counties being conducted jointly by Goldstein and State Investigation Commissioner William B. Herlands.

Levey ordered that, in the meantime, Herlands must return to the New York city Board of Elections any books already examined that showed no evidence of fraud.

The proceedings before Levey were ostensibly on a motion by a voter to force return to the Board of Elections of the records subpoenaed in the Goldstein-Herlands inquiry.

Democratic lawyers implied that more voters had cast ballots in some districts upstate than there were registrants. Republican lawyers intimated that evidence of fraud had been found in Manhattan and the Bronx.

One of the Democratic arguments was that seizure of the vote records here "amounts to a hijacking in the guise of a subpoena."

Republican lawyers and Herlands argued that the subpoenas were valid and that the records were needed in the investigation.

In yesterday's recanvassing, the counties and the net gains for the candidates were:

Harriman—Broome, 532; Herkimer, 47; Wyoming, 19; Delaware, 166.

Ives—Chemung, 54; Ontario, 5; Oswego, 169; Otsego, 43; Schenectady, 234.

In the contest for state comptroller, the new unofficial figures were 2,513,726 for Arthur Levitt, Democratic-Liberal candidate and president of the New York City Board of Education, to 2,506,939 for Frank Del Vecchio, Republican candidate and Onondaga county district attorney. Levitt's lead was reduced by 368 for a plurality of 6,787.

Rep. Jacob J. Javits of Manhattan, only top Republican candidate to win, gained 208 votes for attorney general yesterday. His new unofficial total was 2,593,246 to 2,415,149 for his Democratic-Liberal opponent, Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., of Manhattan—a lead of 178,197.

In the contest for a seat on the Court of Appeals, New York City Corporation Counsel Adrian Burke, Democratic-Liberal candidate, held an unofficial margin of 221,432 over Republican Sydney F. Foster, presiding justice of the Appellate Division of the State Supreme Court, Third Department. The statewide totals were 2,446,417 for Burke and 2,224,985 for Foster.

City Has Long

Radel noted that the pay of policemen and firemen, and many other workers in the city was "not up to par," and he asked for a provision in the 1955 budget to provide a pay raise for all employes. The resolution was referred to Mayor Stang.

ALDERMAN STORMS said the mayor had already received the letter from Studt, and has considered salary increases. He had also conferred with the police and fire departments, he said, and reported that "serious consideration will be given to all concerned."

Radel, in asking for more street lighting in the Flatbush and Clifton avenue area beyond Colonial Gardens, complained that the BPW light committee has either been lax or politically discriminating. He asked that three lights be placed in the area "immediately."

Storms said that previous administrations had done little or nothing in behalf of better lighting, and referring to the Central Hudson plan, said "we now have a blue print to go by." Alderman Abram D. Relyea, indicated he still felt, much would be up to the committee and the alderman.

"WE CANNOT DECIDE unless we see a map," he said, and he felt that "a couple of places have been overlooked."

Radel said he felt action on lights was needed in the Flatbush avenue region because of a population growth there and Alderman-at-large Kelly, indicated that the city was now aware that it was in a position to not "waste time on anything."

The council voted to authorize City Treasurer Oscar A. Goodsell to borrow such money as might be needed against $96,980.69 due the city from the state. Receipt of the money, he noted, is expected to extend into 1955.

Attorney Abraham Streifer asked cancellation in behalf of Harry Fertel, of 93 West Chestnut street, of a $511.55 special sewer assessment. The request was referred to Corporation Counsel James J. Abernethy. Fertel claims he is on the opposite side of West Chestnut street from that involved in the Dietz Court and Melvin Drive, sewer project, and should not be assessed.

Alderman Radel, in a letter to the mayor, said he had been asked by the Colonial Gardens Mothers' Club for a school patrolman or woman at Farrelly and Stephan streets. A hill there, it said, incited drivers to too high a speed. It was referred to the mayor.

THE ALDERMAN approved appointment of Haskell Jump as maintenance mechanic at Colonial Gardens, after the reading of a letter from Harry Gold, counsel to the Kingston Housing Authority, presenting his qualifications and other information. The salary is $2,800 a year with provision for four annual increments of $100 each.

On recommendation of the railroad and bus committee, the aldermen granted permission to the Mountain View Coach Lines, Inc., to travel over North Front street and Washington avenue, to and from the New York State Thruway.

THE ALDERMEN, approving a report of the traffic control committee, voted to install parking meters on the uptown side of Liberty street from Broadway, on the downtown side of Downs street from Broadway to include the premises occupied by the Kubicek Shoe Repair Shop, and on the uptown side of Downs street from Broadway to include Rienzo's Market. They also favored a stop sign on Post street at West Union.

Radel asked in a resolution that reconsideration be given the establishment of bus service in the third ward. He recalled a petition with 900 signatures previously submitted, and said the population in the area has been growing.

Storms noted that a public hearing was held on the proposal about three years ago and it was then rejected. He foresaw, however, the possibility of a general extension of bus service "in the near future."

ANOTHER RESOLUTION by Radel asked that the police chief be notified of excessive speeding on East Chester street, Clifton and Foxhall avenues, and he asked in another that the New York Central railroad's attention be called to a bad condition at the East Chester street crossing at Jansen avenue. He also asked for repair of Lincoln and Tammany streets, at least temporarily until spring, and that the storm sewer on Emerick street be cleared.

Alderman Arthur Smith, 8th ward, asked for repair of holes in McEntee street, that catch basins be inspected on the street, a one-way sign be placed at Rogers and Adams street, that a no-parking zone be established at the Emery Kelder residence on Adams street, and one in front of the Mrs. Anna Kubicek residence there.

OTHER RESOLUTIONS:

Joseph Wenzel, fourth ward: that a street light be placed at Fourth avenue and Pulaski street, and that a drainage ditch between the Kingston street area and Devil's Lake be opened.

Harry R. Brandt, seventh ward: that a no-parking sign be placed on Union street at the former Kelly undertaking parlor, that bushes be removed on both sides of Hone street, and that an alley between Union and Abeel streets be repaired.

Robert C. Cullum, 12th Ward: that a light be installed at the dead-end area of Murphy street, and one on Cummings avenue.

James J. Turck, fourth ward supervisor, in a letter, asked for a survey in behalf of better street lighting in a populous area northeast of East Chester street. In another letter he asked that something be done about removal of junk at 88-98 Hasbrouck avenue. He said he understood a zoning ruling had been made, and that it was an unleased, city-owned property. Turck also recommended a sign, "Childen at Play," on East Chester street about 25 feet from Hasbrouck avenue.

Alderman Charles J. Cole, claiming that street work had not been done in his ward as promised, threatened not to vote for a forthcoming bond issue for similar work unless his resolutions requesting street work were acknowledged.

Cole said that when the council organized last January, the mayor had promised he would do his best for a harmonious administration, and when street work was discussed he had promised each ward would receive its share. He complained that nothing had been done on Abeel street from Dunn to Hudson street nor on Gilead street.

The aldermen met in the city court room so that Alderman-at-large Kelly, recovering from a recent illness, would not be required to climb the stairs to the council chamber, and before adjournment Kelly thanked them for this consideration.

Special Officer

pervisor Eckert of Esopus seconded.

TURCK REPLIED he had no intention to destroy the rule which he said had been made by the majority party with the intention of bringing matters in caucus which is held prior to each meeting.

There ensued a heated exchange of charges between the two officials as to whether Turck had been asked to present and read the resolution prior to the meeting. Turck said no one at the caucus meeting had asked him to read it.

"Who was it?" asked Martin.

"None of your business," replied Turck.

Chairman Phinney called for roll call.

On the vote the Martin amendment to table the resolution prevailed by a 21 to 9 vote. Martin said his motion was not to amend but a motion to table and the vote was so recorded.

THE RULE which prohibits vote on a resolution calling for an appropriation to be voted upon the same night offered was suspended for the annual session and resolutions calling for an appropriation may now be voted upon the same night offered.

A usual contract between the state and county which authorizes the county to remove snow and ice from the state highways was renewed.

The sum of $700 for the increased salary of the district superintendents in each of the four supervisory districts of the county was voted. In the third supervisory district an additional $350 for expenses of the district superintendent was voted by a 21 to 8 vote.

By resolution unpaid school tax in the county may be assessed together with 7 per cent interest, upon the properties on which such is due and the tax will be collected by levy on the tax roll.

CLERK SNYDER requested all towns to get their town budgets in by Wednesday night and called for a meeting of the budget committee at 10:30 a. m. on Friday and a meeting of the Equalization committee at 2 p. m. that day.

Supervisor Turck called for a report on his request that the taxing of thruway structures be investigated. At the last meeting of the board this matter was also discussed by Turck.

Turck asked why, if the lands of the thruway were not taxable, why business structures such as gas stations and restaurants would not be taxable. He also asked what would happen in case of fire on thruway structures and a local fire department was called. Who would be responsible for injury to men or damage to equipment. He asked whether this would be state, county or thruway responsibility.

THIS BROUGHT a lengthy discussion on the floor which ended only when Supervisor Jesse McHugh moved for adjournment.

Supervisors Relyea, Cook, Eckert, Williams, Bush, Martin and Gaffney entered into the discussion and various answers and explanations were offered.

Relyea said the firemen had been "covered" before and would be covered by insurance now. Cook explained the thruway authority and not the state operated the thruway and he said insurance was provided. Eckert said thruway property was not taxable and said certain fire departments near exits had been requested to cover the thruway property and he also said he believed Turck was "out of order."

Turck replied if the law did not permit taxing thruway property the law should be amended so that towns which had lost valuable assessment might recover.

"See your legislator," said Cook.

Supervisor Eckert said in many instances exempt property owners had agreed to pay the fire tax in towns because they felt the protection was worth such expense.

Supervisor Gaffney asked why the thruway then should not pay fire tax.

Eckert said he referred to churches, etc., and said the state was "different."

Supervisor Williams of Saugerties said that fire district had been asked by the thruway to protect its property in the vicinity of the interchange at Saugerties. He stated in many places there was no access to the thruway. He said the men and equipment would be protected by insurance in case of injury or damage.

Supervisor Bush of the town of Ulster said in his town much property had been taken by the thruway but he felt his town had gained because of it in added assessments. "We have gained more than we lost," said Bush.

"We can charge that to progress and good roads" said Bush referring to the assessment lost through the taking of property for the thruway. In his town the IBM is building a multi-million dollar plant which Thomas J. Watson has said was located in Kingston partly because of the good highway transportation facilities and its nearness to the Thruway.

Supervisor Martin of the 12th ward asked what would happen to city equipment which went outside the city in case of fire. "Find out for me at the next meeting," said Martin looking to Turck.

This brought out a rather personal discussion in which Turck asked if it were not proper for city supervisors to bring city problems to the floor before the county board of supervisors.

Supervisor Eckert thanked Turck for his interest and "diligence and concern" for the towns for loss of taxable properties from their rolls. He said there was no law which prohibited taxable property being put on the tax roll by the town but he said the county board of supervisors had no authority to put property on the roll, that was a town or city duty.

The discussion was brought to a close when adjournment to next Tuesday at 8 o'clock was voted.

Mahoney Charge

the state," Harriman promised: "We will not attempt to deal with problems on a political basis but with action which will be for the benefit of everyone in our state."

"All our dealings will be open to the public," Harriman continued. "All positions I take will be open to the public."

In drawing up the Democratic legislative program, he said, priority will be given to measures to reduce unemployment, meet farm problems, combat juvenile delinquency and control rents.

Harriman, who went over his aims at Albany—some new and some previously announced—said he will have representatives at the state budget hearings which start in Albany next Monday.

Harriman, who held diplomatic and cabinet posts in the New Deal and Fair Deal administrations, said that working with a Republican controlled legislative body will not be new to him.

He recalled that he was secretary of commerce under former President Truman and that Truman and other cabinet members, including himself, were able to win much support from the GOP-controlled 80th Congress.

"I'm prepared," he declared, "and I've had experience working with the Republican party and I am ready to show that I can work with them when they are ready to work together."

Asked yesterday if he would have a chip on his shoulder, Harriman replied:

"Certainlly not—as anyone would say who heard that program. It was just exactly the reverse."

Harriman said one of his first appointments will be a budget director.

Those who attended yesterday's conference with Harriman were Democratic State Chairman Richard H. Balch, State Vice Chairman Angela Parisi; Sen. Francis J. Mahoney, of Manhattan, minority leader of the Senate; Assemblyman Eugene F. Bannigan, of Brooklyn, minority leader of the Assembly; former Air Secretary Thomas K. Finletter, who was chairman of the Citizens Committee for Harriman in the campaign; Bernard Nadel, counsel to the Senate minority leader, and Saul Kaplan, counsel to the Assembly minority leader.

Harriman told newsmen that the conferees considered means of redeeming the promises that he and his running mates made in the Democratic platform and in campaign speeches.

The governor-elect, who had taken a week's post-election rest at his country home in Orange county, said he intends to remain in New York city for some time developing his program. He said there will be more conferences with Democratic leaders on the party's Albany program.

Harriman said he expects to confer, before inauguration, with the chairmen of special state commissions appointed by outgoing Gov. Thomas E. Dewey to consider fiscal problems and a new formula for the distribution of state subsidies to local school districts.

He said he has made "no commitments—either actual or mental"—on state jobs. Asked about persons now holding appointive jobs under the GOP administration, Harriman said he will "insist on men who are loyal to the fundamental philosophy of the Democratic Party and its platform."

Harriman said that this would "not necessarily" rule out Republicans. He added that—especially in the fields of health, education, social welfare, parks and mental hygiene—some Republicans might well have philosophies similar to those of the Democrats.

Recanvass Boosts

would be made today for inspection of voting books needed in an investigation of alleged vote frauds in several counties being conducted jointly by Goldstein and State Investigation Commissioner William B. Herlands.

Levey ordered that, in the meantime, Herlands must return to the New York city Board of Elections any books already examined that showed no evidence of fraud.

The proceedings before Levey were ostensibly on a motion by a voter to force return to the Board of Elections of the records subpoenaed in the Goldstein-Herlands inquiry.

Democratic lawyers implied that more voters had cast ballots in some districts upstate than there were registrants. Republican lawyers intimated that evidence of fraud had been found in Manhattan and the Bronx.

One of the Democratic arguments was that seizure of the vote records here "amounts to a hijacking in the guise of a subpoena."

Republican lawyers and Herlands argued that the subpoenas were valid and that the records were needed in the investigation.

In yesterday's recanvassing, the counties and the net gains for the candidates were:

Harriman—Broome, 532; Herkimer, 47; Wyoming, 19; Delaware, 166.

Ives—Chemung, 54; Ontario, 5; Oswego, 169; Otsego, 43; Schenectady, 234.

In the contest for state comptroller, the new unofficial figures were 2,513,726 for Arthur Levitt, Democratic-Liberal candidate and president of the New York City Board of Education, to 2,506,939 for Frank Del Vecchio, Republican candidate and Onondaga county district attorney. Levitt's lead was reduced by 368 for a plurality of 6,787.

Rep. Jacob J. Javits of Manhattan, only top Republican candidate to win, gained 208 votes for attorney general yesterday. His new unofficial total was 2,593,346 to 2,415,149 for his Democratic-Liberal opponent, Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., of Manhattan—a lead of 178,197.

In the contest for a seat on the Court of Appeals, New York City Corporation Counsel Adrian Burke, Democratic-Liberal candidate, held an unofficial margin of 221,432 over Republican Sydney F. Foster, presiding justice of the Appellate Division of the State Supreme Court, Third Department. The statewide totals were 2,446,417 for Burke and 2,224,985 for Foster.

Manhattan and Hartwick to Play Basketball Here Dec. 18

Andrew Murphy III Arranges Pairing

Manhattan College of New York and Hartwick College of Oneonta will play the first regular intercollegiate basketball game ever staged in Kingston on Saturday, Dec. 18.

Andrew Murphy III, Superintendent of Recreation, who arranged the contest, emphasized that it would be a regular game.

It was possible to bring the game to Kingston indirectly because of the curtailment of the intercollegiate basketball schedule at Madison Square Garden.

IT WAS ORIGINALLY a home date for the Jaspers, but Coach Ken Norton, a personal friend of Murphy's, agreed to switch it here to present the Jaspers in Eddie O'Connor's home area.

Manhattan had the best collegiate quintet in New York city last season and Big Ed O'Connor, former St. Patrick's Academy of Newburgh star, set an all-time team scoring record with 426 points.

Ronnie Cahill with 405 points and Jim Doran with 291 were the other Manhattan sharpshooters.

THE BEST JASPER club in years, Manhattan whipped New York University, CCNY, St. John's, St. Louis and Army in compiling a 15-11 record. It lost to Dayton in the National Invitation Tournament when lack of height told.

Hartwick College has several KHS graduates in recent years. The Wariors of Oneonta finished with a 13-7 record last year and had a two-year 15-game winning streak snapped by Scranton, then turned around to break AIC's 10-game streak.

"The Manhattan officials and I hope that we can schedule the Jaspers here once a year," Murphy said. "It will give Kingstonians a chance to see good college teams in action. If local fans support this game, we can be assured of others in the future."

SPORTS

By Charles J. Tiano
Sports Editor

The highest score achieved by a Kingston High team against Poughkeepsie High was achieved, significantly, in the first game played between the two schools back in 1915.

The fabulous KHS powerhouse of that year rolled over the Blues, 48-40. Poughkeepsie's most lopsided margin was in 1925 when they trounced the Maroon, 44-0, and followed with a 32-0 crusher the next season.

In the 34 games played between the teams since 1915, with doubleheaders in 1919, 1920 and 1922, Poughkeepsie leads 17 to 13, with four ties (three by 0-0 and one by 6-6).

Coach Sam Kalloch has been in all the way for the Blues while Kingston has had among others, Clarence Dumm, G. Warren Kias, William O'Leary and a few others. Poughkeepsie has scored 414 points to 317 for Kingston.

Poughkeepsie blanked the Maroons 14 times, including three in a row and five out of six (1938-43) while ahe Maroon administered the kalsomine brush 12 times, twice since the Bill Burke regime started in 1948. Burke holds a 4-2 margin over Kalloch.

The 1915 squad, considered by some experts the finest in KHS history, won 10 straight games and rolled up 279 points, while limiting the opposition to 25. It had a 7-6 squeaker over Albany but beat Albany in a return, 18-6. It crushed Newburgh, 21-0 and 28-0; Poughkeepsie 48-0; Troy 34-0; Port Jervis 19-6; Middletown 12-7 and 33-0; and scored a 59-0 triumph over Mechanicville to close out the season.

ON THE 1915 SQUAD was an all-time KHS backfield selection—Watts Wheeler, who is a local letter carrier. From all accounts, Wheeler was the most sensational runner ever to wear the Maroon, although a later generation casts a solid vote for Punk Vogt.

Surrounding Wheeler with that 1915 juggernaut were the late John Palisi, a bruising lineman; Ed Hallinan, Stan Gregory, Sam Bernstein, Roy Gill, Johnny Johnson, Lou Campbell, Pehleman, Terwilliger, Joyce, DuMond, Hasbrouck, Healey, Relyea and MacAuley.

The magnificent array was a blend of one-time arch enemies—six from Ulster Academy and five from Kingston Academy and operated throughout the season without a coach. These "antediluvian behemoths" averaged about 155 pounds, right nasty little fellows.

Whereas Poughkeepsie tripped a Kingston team which numbered Eddie Messenger among its personnel, 6-0, in 1923, they got their come uppance the very next season when the Maroon routed them 32-6. Then in 1936, Tom Maines and Co. rolled over the Blues, 38-0. Bill Burke's 1948 Maroons whipped the Blues, 39-0.

The 1924 KHS squad certainly rated among the three top clubs in the school's history and observers of that era claim it was the equal of the 1915, 1929, 1923 and 1948 KHS teams.

The gifted Ross "Punk" Vogt was the bellwether of the 1924 aggregation and in the line was the guy they tell you was the greatest KHS forward who ever pulled on a cleat—big Earl McLane.

Besides Vogt and McLane, two all-time KHS selections, you had Len O'Reilly, Seymour Goldberg, Jim Cassidy, Bishop, Joe "Red" Carroll, Stan Colvin, Lee Hasbrouck, Eddie Leverett, Johnson and others. Joey Hoffman, who started the 1924 season as an end for Kingston, later became a backfield star and had a full career with the Yellow Jackets.

The first game we saw between Poughkeepsie and Kingston was played at the Athletic Field in 1926 when Eddie Zimmer, one of Sam Kalloch's finest, rode over Kingston, 32-0. We expect to have more fun this time.

Army's Yards Gained Greater Than in Blanchard-Davis Era

New York, Nov. 10 (AP)—You can argue about how the 1954 Army team compares to the Cadet juggernauts of 1944-48, but not even the Blanchard-Davis teams of that era outclassed their opposition by as big a statistical margin as the present Cadets, official NCAA Service Bureau figures show today.

No. 1 in total offense and in rushing offense, Army's average gain of 453.4 yards a game is 57.8 yards a game better than runnerup Mississippi's 395.6.

Included in the present West Point average are such items as 499-yard blast against previously unbeaten Yale last Saturday, 436 against Duke and 344 against Michigan.

THE BEST EXAMPLE is what happened to Yale. The Elis went against Army with the best rushing defense mark in the country, allowing only 62.2 yards a game. Army passed that average on its first play—a 64-yard touchdown run by Tommy Bell.

That's typical of how Army has operated all year. Eleven times it has gone a third of the field or more—33 yards—for a touchdown.

Army has more total offense yardage in seven games than the No. 2 team has in eight, 3,174 to Mississippi's 3,165. The Cadets' bulge is more modest in rushing, 329.9 to 307.1 for UCLA and 306 for Colorado.

UCLA is tops in scoring, averaging 41.6 points a game. Army is second with 38.6 followed by Arizona 38.3, Wichita 37, Boston U. 33, Miami (Fla.) 31.6, Mississippi 30.4, Cincinnati 30, Denver 29.9 and Navy 29.3.

Prince Eton First

Yonkers, Nov. 10 (AP)—Prince Eton, owned by Mrs. Katherine Peters of Schuylkill Haven, Pa., and driven by John Bedell, scored a driving triumph at Yonkers Raceway last night in the $3,500 Forget Me Not Pace. The 5-year-old son of Eton paced the mile in 2:06.2 and paid $10.30, $3.10 and $3.20. Date Knight was second and Due Date third.

Bill Bowman, rookie fullback for the Detroit Lions, returned a kickoff 100 yards for a touchdown in his first league game this season against the Chicago Bears.

Bell Typical of Unheralded Stars Who Make Teams Click

By BOB HOOBING
(The Associated Press)

Football players like Army right halfback Tommy Bell, who didn't figure to gain many headlines this fall, are having a lot to say about the outcome of the 1954 college football season.

Bell's case is typical. Last year Tom was a workhorse runner with drive and spirit. But he's a different boy now with new-found speed and an ability to follow blockers.

It was Bell that started once-beaten Army to its 48-7 conquest of previously undefeated Yale last week with a 64-yard scoring sprint on the Cadets' first play from scrimmage. He wound up with three TDs for the day.

IN THE DUKE game, the blue devils were pounding at the Army goal trailing 21-14 when Bell raced 80 yards before he was caught—putting the ball on the Duke 13. And Bell knocked down a pass in his end zone as the final gun sounded to save Army's 21-20 squeaker over Virginia.

Little Primo Villanueva, tailback ringmaster of the nation's No. 1 team at UCLA, was lost behind All-America Paul Cameron in '53. Now they say he's a faster runner and better passer than Paul.

Minnesota's having a better season with Bob McNamara firing the Gophers' new split-T than under the single wing magic of All-America Paul Giel. McNamara, an end and safetyman in platoon days, has been impressive all year at right half and at tailback for Coach Murray Warmath's forces.

HOWARD (HOPALONG) CASSADY and Bobby Watkins help make Ohio State's backfield one of the most formidable in the country but quarterback Dave Leggett gets a major share of the credit. Leggett, moved from fullback to Johnny Borton's understudy last year, has the job now and is an important cog in the Buckeye machine with his passing, running and defense.

Arkansas' undefeated Razorbacks are the surprise team of the nation, thanks especially to guard Bud Brooks and fullback Henry Moore. Brooks, scarcely mentioned in pre-season hoopla, is getting more praise now than Baylor's touted tackle James Ray Smith and the Texas tackles, Herb Gray and Buck Lansford. Brooks, in fact is the Associated Press' latest lineman of the week after his performance against Rice.

INJURED LARRY Morris, 1953 All-America center from Georgia Tech, is getting crowded out of the sports pages these days by teammate Franklin Brooks, a junior guard.

Sophomore Jon Arnett and Senior Aramis Dandoy, the Southern California tailbacks, now must share the credit with Lindon Crow, a fine wingback, and quarterback Jimmy Contratto.

Box Cox has taken over the passing chores at the University of Washington for injured Sandy Lederman and ranks among the most effective in that department.

Among the others are Boston University fullback Sam Pino and Colgate's sophomore quarterback, Guy Martin, who is good enough to share the job with Dick Lalla.

Joe Perry Top Gainer

Philadelphia, Nov. 10 (AP)—Joe Perry has replaced his injured teammate, Hugh McElhenny, as the top ground gainer, and Philadelphia's Bobby Thomason is challenging Norman Van Brocklin for passing honors, the latest National Football League statistics disclosed today.

Perry, defending ground gaining champion, has gained 570 yards in 85 attempts for an average of 6.7 yards per carry. Paul Younger, Los Angeles Rams' ball carrying ace, is second with 523 yards on 87 efforts for a six-yard average. McElhenny, who suffered a shoulder separation last week and probably is out for the season, held third place with his eight yard average compiled on 515 yards gained in 64 runs.

Van Brocklin, who connected with 16 of 18 passes to help the Rams defeat San Francisco Sunday, held on to his passing lead with a 10.9 per pass average. The Rams star has thrown 163, completed 94 for 1,791 yards and 9 touchdowns. Thomason ousted Otto Graham from second place with an 8.7 average compiled on 52 completions for 97 passes, 852 yards gained and 9 TDs. Graham is third with 83 of 136 for 1,138 yards, 10 TDs and an 8.4 average.

Colorado's Glick Is Back of Week

(By The Associated Press)

It isn't unusual to praise a football player as a "one-man team," but quarterback Gary Glick of Colorado A&M, came about as close as possible to earning that designation against Utah last Saturday. As a result he was chosen over strong competition today as Associated Press Back of the Week.

Glick, rated the top all-purpose back in the Rocky Mountain area, played almost the entire game with a painful right hand, which was stepped on early in the contest. As a result, his passing was a little off, but otherwise he wasn't hampered as far as Utah could notice.

Here's what the 193-pound junior did as the Aggies upset Utah, the defending Skyline Conference champion 14-13:

SCORED ALL his team's points, making a final 11-yard run for the second touchdown with a quick cutback after being hemmed in. Kicked the winning point with 55 seconds left to play. Smashed through the Utah line to block Lou Mele's extra point kick after the second Ute touchdown—the point that made the difference in the game.

Passed for 63 yards in 15 attempts; ran for 46 yards in 13 rushes and led all the defensive players with 15 tackles.

Intercepted a Utah desperation pass on his own 15 yard line as the final gun sounded.

Esopus Legion Plans Junior Cage Circuit

Town of Esopus American Legion will sponsor a junior basketball circuit for boys in the 10-15 age bracket this season, Commander Irving Maurer said.

Practice for candidates will be held at the open court at Ross Field on Saturday at 1 p. m.

Olean Loses Class D Club

Olean, Nov. 10 (AP) — The Olean Giants were out of the Class D Pony baseball league today, leaving this city without a Pony entry for the first time since the league was formed in 1938.

In a move that was not expected, stockholders for the Giants voted last night to turn in their franchise at the annual meeting of the league's directors next week.

Olean wound up the 1954 season in seventh place with only 19,000 paying customers for the season.

Andrew Murphy III Arranges Pairing

Manhattan College of New York and Hartwick College of Oneonta will play the first regular intercollegiate basketball game ever staged in Kingston on Saturday, Dec. 18.

Andrew Murphy III, Superintendent of Recreation, who arranged the contest, emphasized that it would be a regular game.

It was possible to bring the game to Kingston indirectly because of the curtailment of the intercollegiate basketball schedule at Madison Square Garden.

IT WAS ORIGINALLY a home date for the Jaspers, but Coach Ken Norton, a personal friend of Murphy's, agreed to switch it here to present the Jaspers in Eddie O'Connor's home area.

Manhattan had the best collegiate quintet in New York city last season and Big Ed O'Connor, former St. Patrick's Academy of Newburgh star, set an all-time team scoring record with 426 points.

Ronnie Cahill with 405 points and Jim Doran with 291 were the other Manhattan sharpshooters.

THE BEST JASPER club in years, Manhattan whipped New York University, CCNY, St. John's, St. Louis and Army in compiling a 15-11 record. It lost to Dayton in the National Invitation Tournament when lack of height told.

Hartwick College has several KHS graduates in recent years. The Wariors of Oneonta finished with a 13-7 record last year and had a two-year 15-game winning streak snapped by Scranton, then turned around to break AIC's 10-game streak.

"The Manhattan officials and I hope that we can schedule the Jaspers here once a year," Murphy said. "It will give Kingstonians a chance to see good college teams in action. If local fans support this game, we can be assured of others in the future."

SPORTS

By Charles J. Tiano
Sports Editor

The highest score achieved by a Kingston High team against Poughkeepsie High was achieved, significantly, in the first game played between the two schools back in 1915.

The fabulous KHS powerhouse of that year rolled over the Blues, 48-40. Poughkeepsie's most lopsided margin was in 1925 when they trounced the Maroon, 44-0, and followed with a 32-0 crusher the next season.

In the 34 games played between the teams since 1915, with doubleheaders in 1919, 1920 and 1922, Poughkeepsie leads 17 to 13, with four ties (three by 0-0 and one by 6-6).

Coach Sam Kalloch has been in all the way for the Blues while Kingston has had among others, Clarence Dumm, G. Warren Kias, William O'Leary and a few others. Poughkeepsie has scored 414 points to 317 for Kingston.

Poughkeepsie blanked the Maroons 14 times, including three in a row and five out of six (1938-43) while ahe Maroon administered the kalsomine brush 12 times, twice since the Bill Burke regime started in 1948. Burke holds a 4-2 margin over Kalloch.

The 1915 squad, considered by some experts the finest in KHS history, won 10 straight games and rolled up 279 points, while limiting the opposition to 25. It had a 7-6 squeaker over Albany but beat Albany in a return, 18-6. It crushed Newburgh, 21-0 and 28-0; Poughkeepsie 48-0; Troy 34-0; Port Jervis 19-6; Middletown 12-7 and 33-0; and scored a 59-0 triumph over Mechanicville to close out the season.

ON THE 1915 SQUAD was an all-time KHS backfield selection—Watts Wheeler, who is a local letter carrier. From all accounts, Wheeler was the most sensational runner ever to wear the Maroon, although a later generation casts a solid vote for Punk Vogt.

Surrounding Wheeler with that 1915 juggernaut were the late John Palisi, a bruising lineman; Ed Hallinan, Stan Gregory, Sam Bernstein, Roy Gill, Johnny Johnson, Lou Campbell, Pehleman, Terwilliger, Joyce, DuMond, Hasbrouck, Healey, Relyea and MacAuley.

The magnificent array was a blend of one-time arch enemies—six from Ulster Academy and five from Kingston Academy and operated throughout the season without a coach. These "antediluvian behemoths" averaged about 155 pounds, right nasty little fellows.

Whereas Poughkeepsie tripped a Kingston team which numbered Eddie Messenger among its personnel, 6-0, in 1923, they got their come uppance the very next season when the Maroon routed them 32-6. Then in 1936, Tom Maines and Co. rolled over the Blues, 38-0. Bill Burke's 1948 Maroons whipped the Blues, 39-0.

The 1924 KHS squad certainly rated among the three top clubs in the school's history and observers of that era claim it was the equal of the 1915, 1929, 1923 and 1948 KHS teams.

The gifted Ross "Punk" Vogt was the bellwether of the 1924 aggregation and in the line was the guy they tell you was the greatest KHS forward who ever pulled on a cleat—big Earl McLane.

Besides Vogt and McLane, two all-time KHS selections, you had Len O'Reilly, Seymour Goldberg, Jim Cassidy, Bishop, Joe "Red" Carroll, Stan Colvin, Lee Hasbrouck, Eddie Leverett, Johnson and others. Joey Hoffman, who started the 1924 season as an end for Kingston, later became a backfield star and had a full career with the Yellow Jackets.

The first game we saw between Poughkeepsie and Kingston was played at the Athletic Field in 1926 when Eddie Zimmer, one of Sam Kalloch's finest, rode over Kingston, 32-0. We expect to have more fun this time.

Army's Yards Gained Greater Than in Blanchard-Davis Era

New York, Nov. 10 (AP)—You can argue about how the 1954 Army team compares to the Cadet juggernauts of 1944-48, but not even the Blanchard-Davis teams of that era outclassed their opposition by as big a statistical margin as the present Cadets, official NCAA Service Bureau figures show today.

No. 1 in total offense and in rushing offense, Army's average gain of 453.4 yards a game is 57.8 yards a game better than runnerup Mississippi's 395.6.

Included in the present West Point average are such items as 499-yard blast against previously unbeaten Yale last Saturday, 436 against Duke and 344 against Michigan.

THE BEST EXAMPLE is what happened to Yale. The Elis went against Army with the best rushing defense mark in the country, allowing only 62.2 yards a game. Army passed that average on its first play—a 64-yard touchdown run by Tommy Bell.

That's typical of how Army has operated all year. Eleven times it has gone a third of the field or more—33 yards—for a touchdown.

Army has more total offense yardage in seven games than the No. 2 team has in eight, 3,174 to Mississippi's 3,165. The Cadets' bulge is more modest in rushing, 329.9 to 307.1 for UCLA and 306 for Colorado.

UCLA is tops in scoring, averaging 41.6 points a game. Army is second with 38.6 followed by Arizona 38.3, Wichita 37, Boston U. 33, Miami (Fla.) 31.6, Mississippi 30.4, Cincinnati 30, Denver 29.9 and Navy 29.3.

Prince Eton First

Yonkers, Nov. 10 (AP)—Prince Eton, owned by Mrs. Katherine Peters of Schuylkill Haven, Pa., and driven by John Bedell, scored a driving triumph at Yonkers Raceway last night in the $3,500 Forget Me Not Pace. The 5-year-old son of Eton paced the mile in 2:06.2 and paid $10.30, $3.10 and $3.20. Date Knight was second and Due Date third.

Bill Bowman, rookie fullback for the Detroit Lions, returned a kickoff 100 yards for a touchdown in his first league game this season against the Chicago Bears.

Bell Typical of Unheralded Stars Who Make Teams Click

By BOB HOOBING
(The Associated Press)

Football players like Army right halfback Tommy Bell, who didn't figure to gain many headlines this fall, are having a lot to say about the outcome of the 1954 college football season.

Bell's case is typical. Last year Tom was a workhorse runner with drive and spirit. But he's a different boy now with new-found speed and an ability to follow blockers.

It was Bell that started once-beaten Army to its 48-7 conquest of previously undefeated Yale last week with a 64-yard scoring sprint on the Cadets' first play from scrimmage. He wound up with three TDs for the day.

IN THE DUKE game, the blue devils were pounding at the Army goal trailing 21-14 when Bell raced 80 yards before he was caught—putting the ball on the Duke 13. And Bell knocked down a pass in his end zone as the final gun sounded to save Army's 21-20 squeaker over Virginia.

Little Primo Villanueva, tailback ringmaster of the nation's No. 1 team at UCLA, was lost behind All-America Paul Cameron in '53. Now they say he's a faster runner and better passer than Paul.

Minnesota's having a better season with Bob McNamara firing the Gophers' new split-T than under the single wing magic of All-America Paul Giel. McNamara, an end and safetyman in platoon days, has been impressive all year at right half and at tailback for Coach Murray Warmath's forces.

HOWARD (HOPALONG) CASSADY and Bobby Watkins help make Ohio State's backfield one of the most formidable in the country but quarterback Dave Leggett gets a major share of the credit. Leggett, moved from fullback to Johnny Borton's understudy last year, has the job now and is an important cog in the Buckeye machine with his passing, running and defense.

Arkansas' undefeated Razorbacks are the surprise team of the nation, thanks especially to guard Bud Brooks and fullback Henry Moore. Brooks, scarcely mentioned in pre-season hoopla, is getting more praise now than Baylor's touted tackle James Ray Smith and the Texas tackles, Herb Gray and Buck Lansford. Brooks, in fact is the Associated Press' latest lineman of the week after his performance against Rice.

Tommy Bell

Moore gained 85 yards in 25 tries against the Owls in the Porkers' 28-15 triumph and looked good against Rice's heralded runner, Dickey Moegle.

INJURED LARRY Morris, 1953 All-America center from Georgia Tech, is getting crowded out of the sports pages these days by teammate Franklin Brooks, a junior guard.

Sophomore Jon Arnett and Senior Aramis Dandoy, the Southern California tailbacks, now must share the credit with Lindon Crow, a fine wingback, and quarterback Jimmy Contratto.

Box Cox has taken over the passing chores at the University of Washington for injured Sandy Lederman and ranks among the most effective in that department.

Among the others are Boston University fullback Sam Pino and Colgate's sophomore quarterback, Guy Martin, who is good enough to share the job with Dick Lalla.

Joe Perry Top Gainer

Philadelphia, Nov. 10 (AP)—Joe Perry has replaced his injured teammate, Hugh McElhenny, as the top ground gainer, and Philadelphia's Bobby Thomason is challenging Norman Van Brocklin for passing honors, the latest National Football League statistics disclosed today.

Perry, defending ground gaining champion, has gained 570 yards in 85 attempts for an average of 6.7 yards per carry. Paul Younger, Los Angeles Rams' ball carrying ace, is second with 523 yards on 87 efforts for a six-yard average. McElhenny, who suffered a shoulder separation last week and probably is out for the season, held third place with his eight yard average compiled on 515 yards gained in 64 runs.

Van Brocklin, who connected with 16 of 18 passes to help the Rams defeat San Francisco Sunday, held on to his passing lead with a 10.9 per pass average. The Rams star has thrown 163, completed 94 for 1,791 yards and 9 touchdowns. Thomason ousted Otto Graham from second place with an 8.7 average compiled on 52 completions for 97 passes, 852 yards gained and 9 TDs. Graham is third with 83 of 136 for 1,138 yards, 10 TDs and an 8.4 average.

Colorado's Glick Is Back of Week

(By The Associated Press)

It isn't unusual to praise a football player as a "one-man team," but quarterback Gary Glick of Colorado A&M, came about as close as possible to earning that designation against Utah last Saturday. As a result he was chosen over strong competition today as Associated Press Back of the Week.

Glick, rated the top all-purpose back in the Rocky Mountain area, played almost the entire game with a painful right hand, which was stepped on early in the contest. As a result, his passing was a little off, but otherwise he wasn't hampered as far as Utah could notice.

Here's what the 193-pound junior did as the Aggies upset Utah, the defending Skyline Conference champion 14-13:

SCORED ALL his team's points, making a final 11-yard run for the second touchdown with a quick cutback after being hemmed in. Kicked the winning point with 55 seconds left to play. Smashed through the Utah line to block Lou Mele's extra point kick after the second Ute touchdown—the point that made the difference in the game.

Passed for 63 yards in 15 attempts; ran for 46 yards in 13 rushes and led all the defensive players with 15 tackles.

Intercepted a Utah desperation pass on his own 15 yard line as the final gun sounded.

Teams Planned For Intermediates, Juniors, Seniors

The organizational meeting for three basketball leagues sponsored by the city Department of Recreation will be held Friday, Nov. 12, at 8:30 p. m. at the American Legion building.

Superintendent of Recreation Andrew Murphy III said that all organized teams within the city are eligible within the age limitations.

Leagues planned are in the Junior, Intermediate and Senior brackets.

A nine-team girls basketball league has been organized and will start its schedule on Thursday, Dec. 2.

All Recreation Department league games will use the facilities of the MJM and George Washington school gyms.

The breakdown on age limits for the three proposed leagues follow:

JUNIOR—Any boy who has not reached his 14th birthday before Dec. 1 of this year may participate.

INTERMEDIATE — Any boy who has reached his 15th birthday before Dec. 1 and who does not reach his 17th birthday until after this date may participate.

SENIOR—Any boy who has reached his 17th birthday before Dec. 1 and has not reached his 19th birthday after Dec. 1 may play.

Players not affiliated with organized teams who wish to compete in the league are requested to send their names to the Recreation Department.

SURPRISE PORKAGE

National LL Banquet Fetes Champion Pirates

The National Little League's second annual banquet will honor the championship Hiltebrant Dry Dock Pirates this evening at 6:30 p. m. at the Trinity Lutheran Church hall.

Coach G. Warren Kias, athletic director at Kingston High, will be the principal speaker.

The program announced by Edwin J. Baker, banquet chairman, also lists Mayor Fred Stang as a speaker. William R. Scully, president of the Little League Association will give the welcome.

THE REV. FRANK L. Gollnick will give the invocation and Father Edwin Kelsch will give the benediction.

Individual champions to be cited include Terry Corkery, batting champion who hit .479 for the Adirondack Trailway Braves; Charlie Blanschan, Island Dock Tigers, home run champion with 5; Michael Spada, Hiltebrants, most pitching victories, 9; and Don Kruszenski, Island Dock, most strikeouts, 98.

Awards will be made to members of the championship Hiltebrant Dry Dock team and the National League All Stars.

Trades Bolster Cellar Teams In Hockey Loop

New York, Nov. 10 (AP)—In a move to rectify what president Clarence Campbell calls the "unenlightened self-interest" that has made perennial losers of certain clubs, National Hockey League owners yesterday approved three player trades designed to bolster weaker clubs.

One of the deals sent center Metro Prystai, 27-year-old Yorkton, Sask., native who once scored 51 points in an NHL season, from the Detroit Red Wings to the Chicago Black Hawks, with whom he played before being traded to Detroit four years ago.

The Black Hawks, who finished in the cellar last season and now are in fifth place, also acquired center Paul Masnick from the Montreal Canadiens for a player to be named later.

The other trade sent defenseman Leo Boivin from the Toronto Maple Leafs to the last-place Boston Bruins for veteran Joe Klukay, who was with the Leafs for six seasons before being sent to Boston in 1952.

In return for Prystai, the Stanley Cup champion Red Wings will get forward Lorne Davis, 23-year-old native of Regina, who was traded to Chicago earlier this year by the Canadiens.

Teams Planned For Intermediates, Juniors, Seniors

The organizational meeting for three basketball leagues sponsored by the city Department of Recreation will be held Friday, Nov. 12, at 3:30 p. m. at the American Legion building.

Superintendent of Recreation Andrew Murphy III said that all organized teams within the city are eligible within the age limitations.

Leagues planned are in the Junior, Intermediate and Senior brackets.

A nine-team girls basketball league has been organized and will start its schedule on Thursday, Dec. 2.

All Recreation Department league games will use the facilities of the MJM and George Washington school gyms.

The breakdown on age limits for the three proposed leagues follow:

JUNIOR—Any boy who has not reached his 14th birthday before Dec. 1 of this year may participate.

INTERMEDIATE — Any boy who has reached his 15th birthday before Dec. 1 and who does not reach his 17th birthday until after this date may participate.

SENIOR—Any boy who has reached his 17th birthday before Dec. 1 and has not reached his 19th birthday after Dec. 1 may play.

Players not affiliated with organized teams who wish to compete in the league are requested to send their names to the Recreation Department.

National LL Banquet Fetes Champion Pirates

The National Little League's second annual banquet will honor the championship Hiltebrant Dry Dock Pirates this evening at 6:30 p. m. at the Trinity Lutheran Church hall.

Coach G. Warren Kias, athletic director at Kingston High, will be the principal speaker.

The program announced by Edwin J. Baker, banquet chairman, also lists Mayor Fred Stang as a speaker. William R. Scully, president of the Little League Association will give the welcome.

THE REV. FRANK L. Gollnick will give the invocation and Father Edwin Kelsch will give the benediction.

Individual champions to be cited include Terry Corkery, batting champion who hit .479 for the Adirondack Trailway Braves; Charlie Blanschan, Island Dock Tigers, home run champion with 5; Michael Spada, Hiltebrants, most pitching victories, 9; and Don Kruszenski, Island Dock, most strikeouts, 98.

Awards will be made to members of the championship Hiltebrant Dry Dock team and the National League All Stars.

Trades Bolster Cellar Teams In Hockey Loop

New York, Nov. 10 (AP)—In a move to rectify what president Clarence Campbell calls the "unenlightened self-interest" that has made perennial losers of certain clubs, National Hockey League owners yesterday approved three player trades designed to bolster weaker clubs.

One of the deals sent center Metro Prystai, 27-year-old Yorkton, Sask., native who once scored 51 points in an NHL season, from the Detroit Red Wings to the Chicago Black Hawks, with whom he played before being traded to Detroit four years ago.

The Black Hawks, who finished in the cellar last season and now are in fifth place, also acquired center Paul Masnick from the Montreal Canadiens for a player to be named later.

The other trade sent defenseman Leo Boivin from the Toronto Maple Leafs to the last-place Boston Bruins for veteran Joe Klukay, who was with the Leafs for six seasons before being sent to Boston in 1952.

In return for Prystai, the Stanley Cup champion Red Wings will get forward Lorne Davis, 23-year-old native of Regina, who was traded to Chicago earlier this year by the Canadiens.

Newkirk Aces Stave Off Late Rally to Trip Skyline, 59-57

Newkirk Aces were outscored 17-3 by Skyline in the last period of their game but managed to squeeze through to a 59-57 triumph last night in the Y League.

In the companion piece, Accord tripped the Destroyers Jrs., 54-31 after leading 24-16 at the half.

BONNIE DIAMOND rimmed 20 points for the Aces, who led 56-40 going into the stretch. Beaky Smith hit 17 and Jake Smith 10. Ronnie Brandt's 27 markers for Skyline represented the best individual performance of the night.

Bob Pomeroy's 18 points sparked Accord which led the Destroyers all the way. Milford Ebert bucketed 16 and Andy Anderson 11 for the winners. Jim Medley's 12 paced the losers.

Mexican Army Jumpers Take Major Trophy

New York, Nov. 10 (AP)—The Mexican Army jumping team, armed with the International Perpetual Challenge trophy and the newly-purchased Open jumping champion of the National Horse Show, head for Canada today to try to wrest top honors from the Germans at the Toronto show.

After cleaning up at Harrisburg, the Mexicans had to take a back seat to the Germans in the eight-day show at Madison Square Garden. Germany won nine of the 14 international events at the Garden with Hans Winkler, the world champion, sweeping four individual titles.

Spain managed to make a fight of it with three championships, tying the Mexicans, but Canada failed to crack the winner's circle. The United States won only once, an individual trophy captured by Arthur McCashin, a gentleman farmer from Pluckemin, N. J.

THE POOR performance of the U. S. trio was bad news for those who had hopes for an improved showing in the equestrian events of the 1956 Olympics.

Winkler's fine riding was the feature of the show although he failed in his bid to tie the all-time record of five individual titles won by Gen. Humberto Mariles of Mexico, in 1951.

Gen. Mariles didn't win any of the individual events this year, but he salvaged the important challenge trophy, final event of the show, by completing an all-perfect showing by his team. Both Captain Joaquin D'Harcourt and Lt. Roberto Vinals had "gone clean" over the 10-jump course before Gen. Mariles guided Chihuahua 2nd, over the hurdles to put over the clincher.

Bus Line Gets Thruway Use

Albany, Nov. 10 (AP)—The Public Service Commission authorized Adirondack Transit Lines Inc. today to operate buses on the thruway between New Paltz and Kingston.

The carrier also was granted permission to use access routes between New Paltz and the thruway. Adirondack Transit previously was authorized to use the express highway between Kingston and Catskill.

In other actions, the PSC:

Approved requests by the Rockland Transit Corp. to extend four bus routes in the vicinity of Palisades, Tappan, Orangeburg and Rampo but denied the company permission to run a service between the Rockland State Hospital and the New Jersey border. The PSC found there was no need for the service.

President Says

Some of the newsmen could not escape the conclusion that the President, in line with his recent emphasis on peace in the world, was deliberately soft-pedaling his comments.

He did say that if fighter escorts are necessary in risky areas where U. S. authorities known American planes have a right to be, he thinks escorts should be used.

Earlier at the Pentagon officials had professed puzzlement as to why fighters were not with the downed RB29.

LEGAL NOTICE

SUPREME COURT: COUNTY OF ULSTER — JULIUS TESLER, Plaintiff, against BEATRICE TESLER, PATRICIA E. GOBLE and FLORA M. CONIKER, Defendants.

Plaintiff designates Ulster County as the place of trial.

SUMMONS WITH NOTICE

Plaintiff resides in Ulster County.

To the above named Defendants:

YOU ARE HEREBY SUMMONED to answer the complaint in this action, and to serve a copy of your answer, or, if the complaint is not served with this summons, to serve a notice of appearance, on the Plaintiff's Attorneys within 20 days after the service of this summons, exclusive of the day of service; and in case of your failure to appear, or answer, judgment will be taken against you by default, for the relief demanded in the complaint.

Dated, September 15, 1954.

TO BEATRICE TESLER and PATRICIA E. GOBLE:

The foregoing summons is served upon you by publication pursuant to an order of Hon. Roscoe V. Elsworth, Justice of the Supreme Court, dated the 5th day of November, 1954, and filed with the complaint in the office of the Clerk of the County of Ulster at Kingston, New York.

The object of the action is to set aside a conveyance from the defendant, BEATRICE TESLER, to herself and the defendants PATRICIA E. GOBLE and FLORA M. CONIKER, as joint tenants, by deed dated November 12, 1953 and recorded November 13, 1953 in the Ulster County Clerk's Office in Book 875 of Deeds at page 182; to impose a trust upon said property; to direct the defendant, BEATRICE TESLER, to convey an undivided one-half interest therein to the plaintiff; and for other and further relief. The property in question is the same as described in the deed aforesaid and is commonly known as 12 Tuthill Avenue, Ellenville, New York.

HOWARD SHURTER, director of Ulster County Veterans Service Agency dictates to his secretary, Miss Kathryn Weeks at the office, 32 Main street.

services for the county's 17,000 or more veterans, their families and dependents.

Working as local representatives to help local residents obtain those benefits which the American public provided through legislation, a handful of advisers has obtained jobs for returning servicemen, helped them further their education not only by the GI Bill but through various state scholarships; they have advised on obtaining home and business loans through VA precedures.

The advisers have helped the disabled obtain medical treatment and pensions to which they were entitled; they have gone to bat for children of deceased veterans.

Today, in the nation as a whole, 21 million living veterans are devoting their brains, their muscle and their moral strength to the nation that is free today because of their gallantry in battle.

WHAT POST WAR training has accomplished is shown by Veterans Administration figures: There are in America 450,000 engineers at work who were trained under the GI Bill, 180,000 doctors and nurses, 113,000 scientists, 107,000 lawyers, 36,000 ministers of the Gospel.

Nearly 8,000,000 veterans of the second World War have made scholastic use of their benefits. So far, nearly 600,000 veterans of Korea have joined them in the study-hall and at the training-bench.

In the 10 years since the passage of the GI Bill, over three and one-half million GI Loans have been guaranteed or insured by the VA. Close to 6,000,000 World War 2 government insurance policies are now in force, with a face value totaling almost 40 billion dollars.

In the five-county area served by the U. S. VA contact office at Kingston, $10 million in loans have been guaranteed. Of that total, less than one-twentieth of one per cent have been defaulted.

Just as Veterans Day honors veterans of all wars, the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency and the VA contact office serves veterans of all wars. The oldest living veteran in the five-county area on the Veterans Administration file is 94-year-old Frank S. Wheeler of Denver, N. Y., a Spanish-American War vet who also served in the Indian Wars.

Howard C. Shurter, director of the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency, estimates there are approximately 13,000 veterans of World War 2 residing in the county, between 4,000 and 5,000 veterans of World War 1, and perhaps 1,000 Korea veterans already discharged. There is also a small number of Spanish-American War veterans.

THE ULSTER County Veterans Service Agency was created by the Board of Supervisors in accordance with Chapter 763 of the Laws of 1945, New York state, which became effective April 1, 1945.

Prior to creation of the agency, Ulster county had since the post-World War 1 years employed a Veterans Service Officer. That post actually was first created by the American Legion, later passing over to the county.

Since the Veterans Service Agency opened, an estimated 100,000 separate services were performed for individual veterans and members of their families.

THE AGENCY operates under the State Division of Veterans Affairs. At the present time it is staffed by a director, three veterans advisors, a stenographer, and has the services of a state counselor two days a week. In addition to the full time office in Kingston, there is a full time branch at Ellenville and one-day-a-week offices at Saugerties and Highland.

One service the agency performs which every veteran is urged to make use of, regardless of whether he needs help with obtaining benefits, is that of recording discharges. This service, like all others performed at the agency, is without cost to the veteran.

The Veterans Administration, a federal agency, was created in 1921, succeeding the former Veterans Bureau. F. William Sheehan is in charge of the local office, which covers the five counties of Ulster, Delaware, Sullivan, Otsego and Greene.

THE LOCAL contact office was established in 1945 in a small committee room off the Common Council chambers in the city hall. It moved twice, both times to different Fair street addresses, and has been at its present location, 286 Fair street, for the past five years.

The full list of services performed at both offices for veterans reads: agriculture, apprenticeship, armed forces, bonus, burial benefits, civil defense, civil service, education, employment inquiries, employment placements, housing, insurance, legal, licenses, medical, Mt. McGregor (the state operated veterans' camp), on-job training, pensions appeals, social services, taxes, unemployment benefits and others.

Democrats See

Opposed by the Eisenhower administration, the Democratic move was beaten in the House, 210-204. A similar proposal was defeated narrowly in the Senate.

President Eisenhower's revised budget forecast a deficit of almost five billion dollars for the fiscal year ending next June 30. The President has said this situation, along with continued heavy defense spending, seems almost certain to bar any big tax cut at this time.

Democrats used the tax issue in the recent political campaign, declaring a tax revision program sponsored by Republicans provided hefty tax cuts for corporations and wealthy persons, but did not give enough help to the average taxpayers. Dingell's bill would repeal a section of the new tax law providing relief to stockholders on their dividend income.

Police Seize Man

fied local police at 3 a. m., that the car of Francis O'Donnell, of Port Ewen, had been stolen from that place.

AT 3:07 a. m., police headquarters was notified that the car was parked on Downs street. Officers Harold Bowers, Everett Emmick, Francis Buchanan and Hydrect Armstrong were dispatched there in two patrol cars.

The report said a young man was observed leaving a restaurant and getting into the car, and the patrol cars pursued it out Downs street. Several shots were fired during the chase. They drilled holes in trunk, license plate and top. The report also said the fleeing car had also struck and slightly damaged a fence at 176 Foxhall avenue.

Local police turned Raible over to the sheriff's department after the arrest.

The real economy pavement is CONCRETE

Hundreds of towns and cities throughout America have invested street funds with foresight by building fine-looking, comfortable-riding, long-lasting concrete streets.

Concrete is safer to drive on. It is skid-resistant, wet or dry. It makes the whole neighborhood more attractive. Concrete is durable; that relieves taxpayers of future burdens resulting from excessive maintenance and frequent replacement costs.

Urge your city officials to build your streets with safe, economical, durable concrete—the pavement of true low-annual-cost service.

Newkirk Aces Stave Off Late Rally to Trip Skyline, 59-57

Newkirk Aces were outscored 17-3 by Skyline in the last period of their game but managed to squeeze through to a 59-57 triumph last night in the Y League.

In the companion piece, Accord tripped the Destroyers Jrs., 54-31 after leading 24-16 at the half.

RONNIE DIAMOND rimmed 20 points for the Aces, who led 56-40 going into the stretch. Beaky Smith hit 17 and Jake Smith 10. Ronnie Brandt's 27 markers for Skyline represented the best individual performance of the night.

Bob Pomeroy's 18 points sparked Accord which led the Destroyers all the way. Milford Ebert bucketed 16 and Andy Anderson 11 for the winners. Jim Medley's 12 paced the losers.

Mexican Army Jumpers Take Major Trophy

New York, Nov. 10 (AP)—The Mexican Army jumping team, armed with the International Perpetual Challenge trophy and the newly-purchased Open jumping champion of the National Horse Show, head for Canada today to try to wrest top honors from the Germans at the Toronto show.

After cleaning up at Harrisburg, the Mexicans had to take a back seat to the Germans in the eight-day show at Madison Square Garden. Germany won nine of the 14 international events at the Garden with Hans Winkler, the world champion, sweeping four individual titles.

Spain managed to make a fight of it with three championships, tying the Mexicans, but Canada failed to crack the winner's circle. The United States won only once, an individual trophy captured by Arthur McCashin, a gentleman farmer from Pluckemin, N. J.

THE POOR performance of the U. S. trio was bad news for those who had hopes for an improved showing in the equestrian events of the 1956 Olympics.

Winkler's fine riding was the feature of the show although he failed in his bid to tie the all-time record of five individual titles won by Gen. Humberto Mariles of Mexico, in 1951.

Gen. Mariles didn't win any of the individual events this year, but he salvaged the important challenge trophy, final event of the show, by completing an all-perfect showing by his team. Both Captain Joaquin D'Harcourt and Lt. Roberto Vinals had "gone clean" over the 10-jump course before Gen. Mariles guided Chihuahua 2nd, over the hurdles to put over the clincher.

Bus Line Gets Thruway Use

Albany, Nov. 10 (AP)—The Public Service Commission authorized Adirondack Transit Lines Inc. today to operate buses on the thruway between New Paltz and Kingston.

The carrier also was granted permission to use access routes between New Paltz and the thruway. Adirondack Transit previously was authorized to use the express highway between Kingston and Catskill.

In other actions, the PSC:

Approved requests by the Rockland Transit Corp. to extend four bus routes in the vicinity of Palisades, Tappan, Orangeburg and Ramapo but denied the company permission to run a service between the Rockland State Hospital and the New Jersey border. The PSC found there was no need for the service.

President Says

that possession is nine points of the law.

Some of the newsmen could not escape the conclusion that the President, in line with his recent emphasis on peace in the world, was deliberately soft-pedaling his comments.

He did say that if fighter escorts are necessary in risky areas where U. S. authorities known American planes have a right to be, he thinks escorts should be used.

Earlier at the Pentagon officials had professed puzzlement as to why fighters were not with the downed RB29.

GREETING:

YOU AND EACH OF YOU ARE HEREBY CITED TO SHOW CAUSE at a Surrogate's Court to be held in and for the County of Ulster at the Surrogate's Office in the City of Kingston, N. Y., on the 23rd day of November, 1954, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, why a certain instrument in writing, dated June 24, 1952, relating to both real and personal estate, presented to said Surrogate's Court, should not be proved, admitted to probate and recorded as the last Will and Testament of Carrie Hatinger, late of the City of Kingston, Ulster County, deceased, upon the petition of Lillian DeGraff, of the City of Kingston, New York, the Executrix named therein.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused the seal of said Surrogate's Court to be hereunto affixed. WITNESS, [L. S.] HON. JOHN B. STERLEY, Surrogate of our said County of Ulster, at Kingston, N. Y., this 18th day of October, 1954.

HOWARD SHURTER, director of Ulster County Veterans Service Agency dictates to his secretary, Miss Kathryn Weeks at the office, 32 Main street.

services for the county's 17,000 or more veterans, their families and dependents.

Working as local representatives to help local residents obtain those benefits which the American public provided through legislation, a handful of advisers has obtained jobs for returning servicemen, helped them further their education not only by the GI Bill but through various state scholarships; they have advised on obtaining home and business loans through VA precedures.

The advisers have helped the disabled obtain medical treatment and pensions to which they were entitled; they have gone to bat for children of deceased veterans.

Today, in the nation as a whole, 21 million living veterans are devoting their brains, their muscle and their moral strength to the nation that is free today because of their gallantry in battle.

WHAT POST WAR training has accomplished is shown by Veterans Administration figures: There are in America 450,000 engineers at work who were trained under the GI Bill, 180,000 doctors and nurses, 113,000 scientists, 107,000 lawyers, 36,000 ministers of the Gospel.

Nearly 8,000,000 veterans of the second World War have made scholastic use of their benefits. So far, nearly 600,000 veterans of Korea have joined them in the study-hall and at the training-bench.

In the 10 years since the passage of the GI Bill, over three and one-half million GI Loans have been guaranteed or insured by the VA. Close to 6,000,000 World War 2 government insurance policies are now in force, with a face value totaling almost 40 billion dollars.

In the five-county area served by the U. S. VA contact office at Kingston, $10 million in loans have been guaranteed. Of that total, less than one-twentieth of one per cent have been defaulted.

Just as Veterans Day honors veterans of all wars, the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency and the VA contact office serves veterans of all wars. The oldest living veteran in the five-county area on the Veterans Administration file is 94-year-old Frank S. Wheeler of Denver, N. Y., a Spanish-American War vet who also served in the Indian Wars.

Howard C. Shurter, director of the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency, estimates there are approximately 13,000 veterans of World War 2 residing in the county, between 4,000 and 5,000 veterans of World War 1, and perhaps 1,000 Korea veterans already discharged. There is also a small number of Spanish-American War veterans.

THE ULSTER County Veterans Service Agency was created by the Board of Supervisors in accordance with Chapter 763 of the Laws of 1945, New York state, which became effective April 1, 1945.

Prior to creation of the agency, Ulster county had since the post-World War 1 years employed a Veterans Service Officer. That post actually was first created by the American Legion, later passing over to the county.

Since the Veterans Service Agency opened, an estimated 100,000 separate services were performed for individual veterans and members of their families.

THE AGENCY operates under the State Division of Veterans Affairs. At the present time it is staffed by a director, three veterans advisors, a stenographer, and has the services of a state counselor two days a week. In addition to the full time office in Kingston, there is a full time branch at Ellenville and one-day-a-week offices at Saugerties and Highland.

One service the agency performs which every veteran is urged to make use of, regardless of whether he needs help with obtaining benefits, is that of recording discharges. This service, like all others performed at the agency, is without cost to the veteran.

The Veterans Administration, a federal agency, was created in 1921, succeeding the former Veterans Bureau. F. William Sheehan is in charge of the local office, which covers the five counties of Ulster, Delaware, Sullivan, Otsego and Greene.

THE LOCAL contact office was established in 1945 in a small committee room off the Common Council chambers in the city hall. It moved twice, both times to different Fair street addresses, and has been at its present location, 286 Fair street, for the past five years.

The full list of services performed at both offices for veterans reads: agriculture, apprenticeship, armed forces, bonus, burial benefits, civil defense, civil service, education, employment inquiries, employment placements, housing, insurance, legal, licenses, medical, Mt. McGregor (the state operated veterans' camp), on-job training, pensions appeals, social services, taxes, unemployment benefits and others.

Opposed by the Eisenhower administration, the Democratic move was beaten in the House, 210-204. A similar proposal was defeated narrowly in the Senate.

President Eisenhower's revised budget forecast a deficit of almost five billion dollars for the fiscal year ending next June 30. The President has said this situation, along with continued heavy defense spending, seems almost certain to bar any big tax cut at this time.

Democrats used the tax issue in the recent political campaign, declaring a tax revision program sponsored by Republicans provided hefty tax cuts for corporations and wealthy persons, but did not give enough help to the average taxpayers. Dingell's bill would repeal a section of the new tax law providing relief to stockholders on their dividend income.

Police Seize Man

fied local police at 3 a. m., that the car of Francis O'Donnell, of Port Ewen, had been stolen from that place.

AT 3:07 a. m., police headquarters was notified that the car was parked on Downs street. Officers Harold Bowers, Everett Emmick, Francis Buchanan and Hydrect Armstrong were dispatched there in two patrol cars.

The report said a young man was observed leaving a restaurant and getting into the car, and the patrol cars pursued it out Downs street. Several shots were fired during the chase. They drilled holes in trunk, license plate and top. The report also said the fleeing car had also struck and slightly damaged a fence at 176 Foxhall avenue.

Local police turned Raible over to the sheriff's department after the arrest.

The real economy pavement is CONCRETE

Hundreds of towns and cities throughout America have invested street funds with foresight by building fine-looking, comfortable-riding, long-lasting concrete streets.

Concrete is safer to drive on. It is skid-resistant, wet or dry. It makes the whole neighborhood more attractive. Concrete is durable; that relieves taxpayers of future burdens resulting from excessive maintenance and frequent replacement costs.

Urge your city officials to build your streets with safe, economical, durable concrete—the pavement of true low-annual-cost service.

Youths Are Fined, Must Make Good $400 in Damages

Six youths between the ages of 16 and 19 who were involved in Halloween pranks at Phoenicia have been arrested and charged with disorderly conduct. They were brought before Justice of the Peace William P. Malloy of Phoenicia by Corporal Ray Dunn of the state police.

In addition to the charge of disorderly conduct they were charged with breach of the peace and destruction of private property. It was charged they had damaged property in the sum of about $400 when they damaged a "doodle-bug", tipped over toilets and damaged a woodshed on the Simpson property in Phoenicia, according to Corporal Dunn.

AFTER PROMISES of restitution for the damage had been made, Justice Malloy accepted pleas of guilty and fined the youths $10 each and sentenced each to ten days in the county jail. The sentence was suspended and the lads were placed on probation for six months to John H. Moehle, supervising principal of the Onteora Central School, who was approved and designated as probation officer by the Ulster County Probation Officer Edmund U. Burhans. Each youth was warned against loitering on public streets and told the 10 day jail sentence could be invoked in the event any one of them violated the terms of their probation.

Those who were brought before the court were Louis Bolter, 19, Woodstock; Leslie Foster, 17, Phoenicia; John Pazzia, 16, Brooklyn; Anthony Kirk, 17, Chichester; Richard Sorensen, 16, Brooklyn and Vladmir Spassenko, 16, Glenford.

JUDGE MALLOY said, "In sentencing these young men I took into consideration they were all first offenders, they voluntarily agreed to make restitution of the damage to the property owners prior to trial and took a plea of guilty."

Will Observe Holiday

The local post office and branches will observe a holiday schedule tomorrow. No deliveries will be made by carriers and all windows will remain closed in the main post office and the uptown and downtown branches. Regular holiday collections will be made from the street boxes.

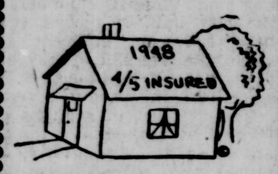
The answers to everyday insurance problems*
By HERMAN J. EATON



QUESTION: Somebody told my husband we should change the amount of fire insurance on our home. It is only five years old so it couldn't have lost much value could it?
ANSWER: Your adviser no doubt meant you should increase your insurance coverage. The average home built five years ago would cost ¼ more to build today so if insured at its original cost would be insured for only 4/5 of its replacement value.
* If you'll address your own insurance questions to this office we'll try to give you the correct answers and there will be NO CHARGE or OBLIGATION OF ANY KIND.

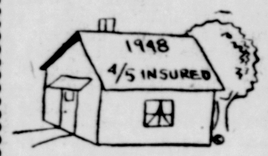
Now you Know!
The answers to everyday insurance problems*
By HERMAN J. EATON



QUESTION: Somebody told my husband we should change the amount of fire insurance on our home. It is only five years old so it couldn't have lost much value could it?
ANSWER: Your adviser no doubt meant you should increase your insurance coverage. The average home built five years ago would cost ¼ more to build today so if insured at its original cost would be insured for only 4/5 of its replacement value.
* If you'll address your own insurance questions to this office we'll try to give you the correct answers and there will be NO CHARGE or OBLIGATION OF ANY KIND.

FOR HEALTHY HOMES
Insulate

DRAFTS AND COLD FLOORS are DANGEROUS to CHILDREN
Children are very susceptible to colds in a drafty, uninsulated house. Protect their health—guard them from possible sickness by insulating with Barrett Rock Wool.
Quickly and easily installed, Barrett Rock Wool will assure you of protection against the drafts and heat-loss which make many uninsulated homes unhealthy.
In summer, too, you will be grateful for Barrett Rock Wool insulation which keeps your bedrooms cool and pleasant for restful sleeping. For the health of your family—INSULATE NOW. Call us for estimates.

Now! A FUEL OIL THAT CLEANS AS IT BURNS
"Twin-Action" Mobilheat!
Remarkable New Additive — result of years of research — gives Mobilheat a new cleaning action. Now, it not only burns hot as ever, but cleans as it burns!
Helps Prevent Main Cause of Burner Troubles — Sediment, long a major source of trouble in burner systems, is reduced to a minor cause so long as you use twin-action Mobilheat.
Helps Clean Out Accumulated Sediment — Mobilheat's twin action gradually cleans out sediment already present.
Fewer Service Calls — Now, burner shutdowns due to screen, filter and nozzle plugging are greatly minimized. Result — fewer service calls.

FREE FERTILIZER!!!
Your soil has tons of fertilizer elements in it BUT it is not as available as it should be for your crops, because your soil is too acid. Acid soil also ties up the fertilizer elements that you apply in the form of commercial fertilizer.
Stop donating to this UNWORTHY CAUSE. Use our Agricultural Limestone and make your fertilizer do a better job and collect some of that FREE FERTILIZER. Our Agricultural Limestone contains magnesium.
Our prices are as follows:
Bag Delivered . . . per net ton $8.40
Bulk Spread . . . per net ton $8.80
